legislation indicates to some extent the effectiveness of his presentation, the congressman said.

Battles Speaks

Rep. Everett Battles of Warroad spoke Monday afternoon to a small assembly of interested persons. A candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives from District 67-B, Rep. Battles outlined his committees and his opinions on several questions.

To date the sub-committee on buildings on which he serves has received requests for $205,253,617, he said. Included in this total is $14,271,374 for welfare, $77,030,993 for state colleges, $70,495,267 for the University of Minnesota, $13,446,848 for junior colleges (including $600,000 for Thief River Falls), and $22,205,017 for other capital improvements.

Questioned on taxes, Rep. Battles stated, "I have never said I would vote against a sales tax. We have never had one presented so I never had the opportunity to vote either way. I believe the most fair tax to relieve personal, property and real estate taxes would be a one per cent tax on income above $4,000."

SBA Specialist To Assist Area Business Firms

Richard D. Jenkins, a representative of the Small Business administration, will be in Grand Forks on Tuesday, November 8, to meet with anyone interested in assistance through SBA's lending, management assistance and procurement programs. He will be located in the Chamber of Commerce office, 105 North Third street, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. No appointment will be necessary.

Through the SBA loan programs, financial assistance can be provided to most types of businesses to either expand an existing business, or to establish a new business. During the past month the Fargo regional office participated with a number of home-town banks providing long-term financial assistance for small businesses.

One of these loans will provide funds to a farm machinery dealer to construct a new building. Another of the loans will provide financing to a restaurant for remodeling and for the purchase of new equipment.

In addition to the loan program, SBA offers management assistance to small business owners through individual counseling, management publications and SCORE. SCORE, which means Service Corps of Retired Executives is a new concept in management assistance whereby the SBA utilizes successful retired and semi-retired businessmen to provide counseling and management assistance to those seeking this type of help.

Chairman Tells How To Qualify In Wheat Program

In the 1967 wheat program, without acreage diversion provisions or diversion payments, how will a farmer qualify for loans and certificates? Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, summarizes as follows: A participating farmer will:

1. Sign up with the ASCS county office during the signup period to be announced later;

2. Have an acreage of wheat no larger than the farm allotment (or no larger than the acreage available for production under the program is he plans to use and signs up for the substitution or the excess-acreage option);

3. Maintain the farm's conserving base. (Conserving bases will be reduced for 1967 so that the farm's increased wheat allotment acreage may be utilized.);

4. Keep within all other program allotments established for the participating farm; and

5. Keep within the wheat allotment or "permitted" acreage on any other farm in which such producer has an interest. If there is substitution between wheat and feed grains on the farm, keep within the feed grain (corn and grain sorghum) base permitted acreage as well as the wheat allotment on any other farm in which the participating producer has an interest.

Farm wheat allotments under the 1967 program have been increased to reflect the increase in the national wheat allotment, which boosted the total to 68.2 million acres. This is 32 per cent larger than the 1966-crop effective allotment. The increased allotment will enable farmers who believe increased production will be profitable to plant more land to wheat and still be eligible for full program benefits.

Benefits under the 1967 wheat program will include price-support loans of $1.25 per bushel; national average, on the participating farm's entire wheat production (except any stored excess wheat); and domestic marketing certificates on 35 per cent of the farm allotment's projected production, valued at the difference between $1.25 and parity on July 1, 1967. (The certificates for the 1967 program are valued at $1.32 per bushel.)

Peace Corps Test Offered Nov. 12 At Crookston

Thief River Falls area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. on Saturday, November 12, at the Crookston post office.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicate a limited language-larning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.). The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive—an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The soil sample round-up completed last week resulted in more than 450 samples being brought to the various collection points arranged by the county agent. "By taking samples in the fall," Courneya said, "farmers will be assured of receiving their soil analysis and fertilizer recommendations in plenty of time to allow proper planning before spring field work and planting begins. Testing soil before investing in fertilizer is a sound management practice." The samples will be trucked to St. Paul for analysis by Land O'Lakes truck today.

been placed on the shelves or are in the processing stage. Many of these are in the reference and nonfiction sections.

She also noted that library usage has grown measurably, especially of the periodicals section, and that the film service has received wide acceptance. There is still some furniture that has not arrived, but is expected shortly.

A brochure on the history of the library, with pictures of the early scenes in Thief River Falls when the former Carnegie library had its beginnings and of early librarians, as well as pictures of the present library, staff and board members, is ready for purchase by the public. These booklets may be obtained at the open house or at any time thereafter, at a cost of one dollar each.

No local invitations are being sent out for the event. Everyone in the surrounding area and all Pennington residents are invited and urged to be present.

The new library was built at a cost of approximately $233,000 in addition to $20,000 for acquisition of the site. The 96x112 building is located on a 100x140 foot lot at the corner of Main avenue and First street.

Library service had its beginning in Thief River Falls in April of 1901 when residents decided a book collection was needed for everyone to use in the city which was incorporated only five years previous. Many changes in location were made over the years until the former Carnegie Public library was built in 1915.

Speech Therapy Program Helps District Pupils

grade. She uses an "intermittent" system in which she meets each student for a short period once a week until the end of the school year, or until the student is dismissed from the program.

Students come to the speech class for 15-minute sessions during the school day either individually or in groups. Where group sessions are held children are grouped according to similarities of speech problems, age and grade.

"The majority of speech problems here are concerned with articulation," Mrs. McPhail said. "This includes substitution, omissions, addition and distortion of sounds. Voice (pitch intensity and quality) and rhythm (stuttering) are the other two most common speech problems found among the local students."

Mrs. McPhail is convinced that the schools provide an excellent vantage point for speech therapy. Students with speech and hearing problems are readily available for rehabilitation and are emotionally prepared to improve themselves, the therapist said. She uses a number of special aids in assisting students to improve their speech.

"Since speech is the most important tool an individual has for making his way in the world today," the therapist concluded, "whatever improvement is made in a student's speech assists his or her adjustment in our society."

And school is, after all, a guided preparation for finding a proper place in life.

A resolution was also adopted at the request of the city of Melrose to permit the passage of an ordinance with only one reading and publication rather than the three readings and publication now required.

Mission Emphasis Week Planned at Trinity Church

Thief River Falls conference of the American Lutheran church, consisting of 24 parishes from Oslo and St. Hilaire to the south and Baudette, Ross and Pembina to the north, will host a Mission Emphasis Week November 6 to 13.

Eight missionaries, representing six of the 12 mission fields of the synod, will be here to present the work being done in their own respective fields. Three of them are from the various fields in Madagascar and one each from Brazil, Colombia, New Guinea, Hong Kong and Japan.

The conference has been divided into eight groups with three parishes in each group. Every day of this week, each group will host a different missionary so that each community will be able to hear the eight missionaries and thus get a good insight into the work the missions are performing.

The churches that form a group in Thief River Falls are Trinity and Zion Lutheran and two congregations of St. Hilaire.

On Sunday evening there will be a mission rally at Trinity Lutheran church beginning at 8 p. m., where Missionaries from Madagascar, Brazil and Japan will be heard. The week will close on Sunday, November 13, with a youth rally at Zion Lutheran church, beginning at 4 p. m. Here there will be a native student from Nigeria who is attending Lutheran seminary in St. Paul.

The churches invite the public to come and hear these men and women bring their messages on missions.

Successful Deer Season Prospects Are Still Good

Prospects for a successful deer hunting season are still good, but there may be a decrease in the kill from last year in some northern counties, the Conservation Department reported today.

State game wardens and game managers in these counties report fewer sightings of deer along roads and fields in some areas this year than were observed last year at this time.

Game officials said this situation has occurred before following summers with good rainfall a good growing season, and no early killing frost.

While it may mean that deer are staying back in the woods to feed, it may also reflect the results of two hard winters in these areas.

Some direct losses of deer, mostly fawns occurred during the past two winters in areas where deer were unable to fight their way through deep snows to reach food. Also, the weakened condition of does that survived may have resulted in a reduced production of fawns in these localities.

Since fawns and yearlings make up about one-half the total kill during the hunting season, a decline in the number of these deer would adversely affect hunting success.

In most of the main deer range, however, game officials are satisfied that the population remains at a high level and expect hunters to enjoy good success again this year.

Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset. Hunters may take one deer of any age or either sex during the season. Hunters should consult their hunting synopsis for information on zones, length of season and type of firearm permitted in each zone. A portion of southern Minnesota is closed to deer hunting this year.

Minnesota Ranks 2nd in Whitetail Deer Hunting

Minnesota ranked second last year among all states in the number of white-tailed deer taken, the conservation department reported this week.

Only Texas, with a deer take of over 200,000 exceeded Minnesota's whitetail harvest last year. Minnesota hunters took 128,000 deer, highest of any state in the Great Lakes area. Michigan hunters took 115,340 deer for third place and Wisconsin was fourth with 103,739.

In the combined harvest of all deer — white - tailed, black - tailed, and mule deer—Minnesota ranked third behind Texas and Oregon. Oregon's deer kill is comprised entirely of mule deer and black-tailed deer.

Ranked in the combined harvest of all species behind Minnesota were Michigan, Wisconsin and Colorado.

NYC Crews Help Improve Several Wildlife Areas

Crews of Neighborhood Youth corps workers under the direction of Minnesota conservation department supervisors have made some major improvements in two popular hunting areas, it was announced this week.

At the Mille Lacs wildlife management area, NYC crews improved roads and trails for hunter access, cleared away floating bog from dam outlets and assisted in construction of a water impoundment project to create waterfowl habitat.

NYC workers at the Camp Ripley military reservation cleared hunter camp sites, built latrines, constructed holding pens for geese, burned and hauled brush, installed culverts, planted trees, built picnic tables, salvaged timber and improved browse conditions for deer.

Game officials said the NYC crews gave a valuable assist to the efforts of state wildlife managers in improving habitat and hunting areas. Work was accomplished under the direction of the conservation department's game and fish division.

COACH Jim Sims presents quarterback Bob Brodin with a special trophy as the Prowlers' leader on offense during the 1966 season.

BILL DICKEN of the Prowlers' defensive platoon receives a trophy from coach Jim Sims for his defensive efforts this past season.

TROPHY of a Sunday afternoon hunt for ruffed grouse was this 101-pound timber wolf shot by 15-year-old Dave Shetler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shetler of Thief River Falls. Hunting on Birch Ridge about 15 miles north of Fourtown, the family had just filled a limit of ruffed grouse when two wolves raced past them. Dave killed this one with one charge of 7½ shot from his 12 gauge at a distance of 15 to 20 yards. The second wolf was badly wounded but managed to crawl away into a nearby swamp. The Shetlers had heard the wolves howling earlier in the day and believe they were running a deer at the time Dave collected his trophy.

Missionary To Indonesia Will Speak in City

Rev. Harold Lovestrand

Rev. Harold Lovestrand, missionary to West Irian, Indonesia, will speak at the evening service at the Mission Covenant church on Sunday at 7:45 p.m.

Rev. Lovestrand was arrested by Indonesian government officials on August 7, 1965, taken to the capital at Djakarta, and held a prisoner for more than seven months. Although he was subjected to intensive questioning concerning the native uprisings in West Irian, no formal charges were made against him. He was released in March.

Rev. and Mrs. Lovestrand have served in West Irian since 1952 as missionaries of the Evangelical Alliance mission. They worked in and around Manokwari, on the northwest coast of the "Bird's Head" area.

Because of a severe case of malaria, Rev. Lovestrand was placed in a military hospital where his wife was permitted to bring food to supplement the meager diet.

Asked what it was that sustained him during the long imprisonment, Lovestrand said, "I knew the thick walls of my cell could not shut out the love of God. I knew He was there with me in the darkest and loneliest hours.

"I was permitted to keep my Bible and my banjo-ukelele. I read and prayed and sang my way through the long days and nights".

Lovestrand is currently writing a book concerning work among the primitive tribespeople of West Irian and his imprisonment and release. The book is scheduled for publication this spring.

Paul Ihle Elected Football Caption

Fourth annual fathers-and-sons Prowler football banquet was held Monday evening in the parlors of the St. Bernard's church. The 1966 Prowler football squad and the coaching staff were honored, football letters and awards were presented, and a captain for the 1967 season was announced.

The 1966 Prowler co-captains, Ross Hanson and Dave Halvorson, announced that Paul Ihle had been elected captain for the 1967 season, and the popular Prowler guard, who missed several weeks of the early practice sessions because of an infection, was presented with the captain's plaque.

Athletic director Ralph Skay, upon the recommendation of varsity coach Jim Sims, awarded letters or service bars to the following: seniors—co-captains Ross Hanson and Dave Halvorson, Bob Brodin, Earl Molstad, Rod Collver, Duane Morben, Arnold Boman, Bob Swedenburg, John Fernigen, Bill Dicken, Jim Olson and Karl Poppenhagen; juniors—John Womack, Nickie Dreen, Woody Almquist, Pete Solem, Kent LeMoine, Al Swenson, Paul Ihle, Ron Sorvig, Jerry Droppo, Tommy Tunberg and Jon Furuseth; and sophomores—Tom Johnson and Sheldon Joppru.

Coach Sims presented special awards to two players who, according to the games statistics that had been compiled, were the most valuable on defense and offense. Bill Dicken was presented with a trophy in recognition of his defensive efforts, and quarterback Bob Brodin was awarded the trophy for leading the Prowlers on offense.

Speaking for the fathers in attendance at the banquet was Rodney Brodin, and making a response, in behalf of the sons, was Bob Brodin.

Rev. Merrill Harris, taking as his theme the worth-while efforts and inspiration provided by the nation-wide "Fellowship of Christian Athletes", was the speaker for the evening.

The conference champion Bemidji Lumberjacks traveled to Brainerd for a traditional schedule-ending game against coach Dick Lagergren's squad and were beaten by a 21-7 score. The Lumberjacks, in winning their fifth successive conference title, posted a league mark of four wins and no losses.

The East Grand Forks Green Wave gained runnerup honors with a three wins and one loss mark. And coach Jim Sims' Prowlers earned third place in the conference standings with two wins and two losses.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Some Fine Figures

In the four short years that the fathers-and-sons Prowler football banquet has been an annual event the affair has continued to win friends and be an influence for good relations. And Monday night's fourth annual banquet was well-attended and enjoyed. And credits must be given to Bob Carlson, Dick LeMoine, Vern Nelson and Evonne Olson, the fathers who were instrumental in getting the first banquet started four years ago. I hope that they are around to promote and enjoy many more of these get togethers.

A couple of special awards were made at Monday's banquet and they are worthy of mention. Coach Jim Sims awarded a trophy to senior Billy Dicken for his defensive efforts this past season. Billy, a burly 195-pound tackle, was, according to stats kept by the team managers, on 94 tackles, and he recovered one fumble.

The offensive award was presented to quarterback Bob Brodin. Bobby threw 185 passes during the season, completed 95 of these aerials for 51 per cent average. He gained 947 yards via the aerial route, getting nine touchdowns and six conversion points. In addition Bob ran for two touchdowns and three conversion points.

The two boys, Bill Dicken and Bob Brodin merited their awards.

A Bandwagon

Russ Embury, who is usually the strong-and-silent type and reticent about expressing his opinion on sports or politics or you-name-it, returned from Minneapolis filled with enthusiasm about the Minnesota Gophers.

Russ, along with a number of Thief River Falls fans, witnessed the Ohio State vs. Minnesota football game on Saturday afternoon. And he was lavish in his praise of the Gophers, and he was particularly impressed by the play of quarterback Curt Wilson. The Gophers will be Big Ten champions next season.

The bandwagon is already being organized, and Russ will be the drum major!

Annual Meeting

Robert J. (Bob) Carlson, the executive officer of the local chapter of the New York Yankees fan club, announces that the club will hold its annual meeting next week. On the agenda will be a discussion of how the Yankees are to distribute their share of the World Series money. Thirty-three goes into thirty-five cents how many times? And negative action is expected to be taken on Al Holzknecht's application for membership.

The meeting will be held in the phone booth on the Tunberg Motors corner.

The Upset of the Year

As far as the local touch football program is concerned, the "upset of the year" was recorded on Monday evening when, in a first-round playoff game at the fairgrounds, Rod Carlson's Junior College team defeated the Bridgeman's, 25-6.

The Bridgeman's with Rick Jensen and Elton Hornseth playing strong roles on offense and defense, had moved through the regular season unbeaten. But on Monday evening, after giving up a touchdown in the first half to trail, 6-0, the Bridgeman's gave up three more touchdowns in the second half, including a long run by Carlson, to lose 25-6.

The game was played in bitter cold weather with intermittent snow flurries. But the rivalry in the middle of the line, between the Bridgeman's Hornseth and the Junior College Monte LeMoine, gave off considerable heat.

James Hageman In College Play

James Hageman, sophomore from Thief River Falls, was chosen as Dr. Lyman Sanderson in the three act comedy "Harvey" by Mary Chase to be presented at the Bemidji state college theatre starting Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and continuing through November 6, 8, 9, 11 and 12.

The Middle River Skippers, scoring a touchdown in the final minute of play, edged out the Plummer Cardinals, 19-13, in a game played at Plummer on Friday evening. The win boosted the high-scoring Middle River team into second place in the conference standings.

The Oklee Bobcats of Coach Roy Hokkanen won the conference title with a mark of seven wins and no losses, and in Oklee's final game, against the Plummer Cardinals a week ago, the Bobcats tallied a hard-earned 12-7 win.

In the other windup game on the conference schedule, the Erskine Comets defeated McIntosh, 20-0. The victory moved the Erskine squad into a three-way tie for fourth place in the conference ratings.

Population Shift Is Reviewed by "U" Economist

Trend for increasing urban growth and decreasing rural growth is continuing in Minnesota, reports John S. Hoyt Jr., extension agricultural economist of the University of Minnesota.

Significant shifts in the Minnesota population from 1940 to 1960 were cited by Hoyt recently in the first of a series of studies of Minnesota county and regional changes.

The rural population of 58 of the 87 Minnesota counties has decreased between 1940 and 1960. The rural exodus becomes even more significant in a breakdown between rural farm and nonfarm population. Every Minnesota county lost some of its rural farm population, with the state as a whole decreasing from 905,000 in 1940 to 588,000 in 1960—a net loss of 35 per cent.

At the same time, Minnesota rural nonfarm population was increasing from 497,000 to 705,000—a net gain of 42 per cent. Only eight counties (Mahnomen, Big Stone, Faribault, LeSueur, Fillmore, Houston, Wabasha and Hennepin) did not gain in rural nonfarm population.

Minnesota urban population increased almost 50 per cent from 1,309,000 in 1940 to 2,081,100 in 1960. Ramsey and Hennepin counties alone accounted for a combined gain of 153,000. Todd county in north central Minnesota was the only county with decreasing urban population.

Population density increased from 34.9 persons per square mile in 1940 to 42.7 persons per square mile in 1960. Ramsey county alone accounted for much of the state change, increasing from 1,937 persons per square mile in 1940 to 2,641 in 1960, for a net gain of 36 per cent.

The state population increase from 2,792,200 in 1940 to 3,414,864 in 1960 for a 22 per cent gain was considerably behind the 35 per cent gain for the United States as a whole for this period. However, two-thirds of the state increase occurred between 1950 and 1960, just below par for the U. S. for that decade.

Mass. Sales Tax Stops Spiral in Property Taxes

Revenue from a retail sales tax, distributed as state aid to cities and towns, has snapped a 22-year-long upward spiral of property taxes in Massachusetts, according to the lead article in the October issue of "Affairs of State," the official publication of the Massachusetts Taxpayers foundation.

"Back through the years the cities and towns of Massachusetts have been almost wholly dependent on property taxation to meet the essential needs of local government, just as are the cities, villages and towns of Minnesota," said Charles P. Stone, executive director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association, in commenting on the article.

"In March of this year the Massachusetts legislature enacted a three per cent sales tax, with revenues assigned wholly to state aid to cities and towns. The sales tax became effective in April. Its benefits are reflected in the property tax levies reported this year by the states 39 cities and 312 towns.

"In contrast with an increase in property tax levies of $87 million last year, the 1966 increase was slashed to $3 million—an increase of only three-tenths of one per cent this year compared to 10 per cent a year ago.

"This is all the more remarkable considering that the sales tax has been in effect for only a few months and that it is far less broad in application than the sales tax proposals introduced as bills in the 1965 session of the Minnesota legislature.

"The Massachusetts tax is a three per cent levy exempting food, clothing, prescription medicine, utility services, machinery and materials used in farming, fishing and manufacturing, and items already subject to excise taxes such as gasoline, cigarets, alcoholic beverages and meals."

Stone noted that the Massachusetts sales tax will be on the November election ballot in that state in two forms: one an "expression of voter opinion" asked by the legislature to guide its consideration of extending the tax beyond 1967, and the other repeal a referendum initiated by the Massachusetts state Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

Unemployment In State Third Lowest in Nation

Only two states have a lower employment rate than Minnesota among workers covered by job insurance, according to the most recent report of the U. S. department of labor.

The Minnesota rate of .5 per cent was lower than that of all states except Iowa .3 per cent and Virginia .4 per cent. Minnesota's rate was only one-third of the national average rate 1.5 per cent of employment in jobs covered by unemployment insurance programs.

Robert J. Brown, commissioner of the Minnesot Department of Employment security, said that both Minnesota's actual rate and its comparative national position have been improving steadily.

Brown also noted that overall unemployment in the state in 1966 will be at the lowest average since 1952.

Better Accident Reporting Needed Says State AAA

Steep upgrading of the quality of traffic-accident reporting could be one of the major benefits flowing from the recently-enacted highway safety act of 1966, according to C. L. Browar, traffic safety director of the Minnesota State Automobile association (AAA).

"Reducing the traffic toll must begin with a clear understanding of the basic causes of accidents," the AAA official said, "but accurate analysis is impossible without reliable sources of factual data—and this is not being supplied by the majority of today's accident reports."

The gross inadequacy of accident reporting methods was underscored by Bowar who claimed that:

Half of our traffic accidents are never reported.

A great weakness in accident reporting is failure to record accurate locations of accidents on the highways.

Too many accident reports are incomplete and inaccurate because the investigating officer is pressed for time.

It is not enough to note on the accident report that "speed" or "drinking" was the cause of the accident. We need the kind of investigation-in-depth which will tell us what precipitated the "speed" or "drinking"...the real cause-behind-the-cause.

"Unfortunately," the AAA spokesman said, "thorough accident investigation and reporting will require a lot more manpower and money than we have thus far given it in our accident prevention efforts."

"Everything has another side to it, like the moon, the patroness of nonsense. Viewed from that other side, a bird is a blossom broken loose from its chain of stalk, a man a quadruped begging on its hind legs, a house a gigantesque hat to cover a man from the sun, a chair an apparatus of four wooden legs for a cripple with only two. This is the side of things which tends most truly to spiritual wonder."

The Local Races

Less than a week now remains until the November 8 general election, and the final flurry of campaign activity is underway. This is the time when candidates and their supporters distribute the last of their printed material, step up their advertising campaigns in the news media and begin to really feel the strain of smiling, shaking hands and being put on the spot during a period of long days and short nights.

This week the Chamber of Commerce "Meet the Candidates" series features coffee sessions with candidates for state Senate and state House of Representatives from the 67th district. We mentioned in an earlier editorial that we would comment on these candidates. In order that they may have opportunity to reply through our public opinion column before election if they so desire, the comments are made in this issue. We expect to make a few predictions in the Monday edition.

Let us look first at House District 67-B. This is a new district formed by reapportionment and includes Pennington, east Marshall and Roseau. The candidates for Representative from the new district are both incumbents—Rep. Evtrett Battles of Warroad and Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls. Only one will be elected to return to the Legislature.

Rep. Battles has served in the House of Representatives for about 10 years. He is a long-time resident of the Warroad area. We had occasion to hear him speak Monday afternoon at the "Meet the Candidate" session. He is not an accomplished speaker, and the fact that there were only 14 people in a room arranged for six times that number didn't create any enthusiasm.

Speaking ability is more often a talent needed to get elected than it is to serve a district in the Legislature, but speech is generally an indicator of an individual's background, education, general knowledge and thought content. Rep. Battles is not a good speaker and, quite frankly, his talk impressed us as coming from someone who didn't really expect ot win. Maybe at 66 years of age he has learned to temper his optimism.

His opponent, Rep. Andrew Skaar, has served two terms in the House of Representatives. A member of the majority group in the legislature, he has been named to some key committees which have placed him in an area of ability to better serve his district. We have found him to be a vigorous, intelligent and dedicated young man who has a quiet, thoughtful and unassuming manner and who gets things done.

Skaar has compiled an excellent record in his first two terms, primarily in the fields of education and agriculture—both extremely important in this district. He is highly regarded by his colleagues in the legislature and he has a bright future as a state leader.

And while we choose to support youth and potential in the race for the House of Representatives, we support seniority and experience in the Senate contest. Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls, probate court judge for a number of years, is opposing incumbent Senator Donald Sinclair of Stephen, a 20-year veteran of the legislature who is one of the most influential political leaders in the state today.

As rural Minnesota has lost representation by numbers in the state legislature, it must have the best possible legislators in the posts which do remain. From a selfish standpoint—and voters must be selfish regarding their concern for their areas—Rep. Skaar and Sen. Sinclair must be returned to state office.

Sen. Sinclair is a ranking member of the majority. Since virtually all things in the senate are based on seniority, his 20 years of service place him in a commanding position. For any new candidate to reach the same heights would take many years—years in which the rural areas can not afford to be without powerful representation.

Herman Kjos is not a young man on the rise. He is not a good speaker. His experience as a probate court judge offers nothing of importance in—qualifications for legislative duty. His announced intention to caucus with the minority group would guarantee even more insignificance in the senate. The 67th District can not afford a loss of strong representation which Sen. Sinclair can provide.

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, recognized as one of the best legislators in the House of Representatives, should also be reelected from District 67-A. His opponent is Rep. Victor Johnson of Lake Bronson, also a minority member of the legislative body.

Reelection of Sen. Sinclair, Rep. Skaar and Rep. Fitzsimons will give this area of northwestern Minnesota an unusually strong bargaining position in the legislature. As we have noted, quality of representation from our area must be maintained to counter the loss in number of legislators to the suburban areas. Your vote will be important next Tuesday; use it wisely.

Politics of Inflation

The following are excerpts from an editorial in the September issue of Fortune magazine:

"The specter of inflation that is visibly haunting the U. S. can now be identified as more of a political than an economic problem. In the highest sense, it is bound to be political, because it is fed by the demands of the Vietnam war and, if it spreads, it will do grave damage to the position of the U. S. in the world.

"But as we have seen in congressional irresponsibility about increasing domestic spending, and in the administration's palpable fear of labor and other special - interest groups in an election year, inflation is today being fed by politics at a far less lofty level. Our contention here, however, is not to look for villains: it is to demonstrate that a change in politics can do much to stop inflation, and that there is still time.

"Hopeless? Not if Washington is willing to translate into actions these words in the President's 1966 economic report: 'Perhaps our most serious economic challenge in 1966 will be to preserve. . .stability of costs and prices.' And here the starting point of wisdom is to see the whole span of government activity in the arena for counteraction.

"Take food costs, for example. Food costs have irritated labor—and labor's wife —more than anything else. And rising costs of meat, bread and milk trace right back to government agricultural policy. The spate of investigations into the profits of food processors and distributors is pure farce.

"One can sympathize with the cry of Irving R. Wisch, president of the Milk Handlers and Processors association in New York City, on being badgered by New York's attorney general for recent milk price rises: 'We're tired of being the whipping boy in an election year. . .You take this business if you think we're getting so rich.'

"The politics of inflation is really the old game of robbing Peter to pay Paul, and then Paul to pay Peter, all the while claiming that Paul and Peter never had it so good".

Thought For Food

From a recent publication of the National Farmers organization comes this food for thought on food for people:

According to the USDA Economic Research Department figures released in August 1966, 60c of every food dollar goes to process and market food products. The farmer's share for producing the food is 40c.

In relation to wages received by American wage earners, food is cheaper today than at any previous time in the history of our country, or any country. Our food expenditures consume only 18.2 per cent of our disposable personal income leaving 81.8 per cent to spend for other goods and services. Consumers spent 25.7 per cent of their disposable income for food in 1947 with the farm value of that disposable income at 11 per cent. In 1965 consumers spent 18.2 per cent and the farmers share had declined to 5.3 per cent, thus farm level prices averaged only 77 per cent of parity. In other words, they received 77 per cent of what the farm production was worth. Had farmers received full parity, the farm value of the food purchased by consumers would have been 6.8 per cent instead of 5.3 per cent (or just 1.5 per cent more).

One and a half per cent isn't much considering what the American consumer has at stake in this "farm problem". It is a national problem with the food and fiber industry at stake. Because America's supply of food has been second only to the Garden of Eden, people are prone to forget what made this array of nutrition possible. The family farm with its inherent drive of personal incentive has produced this abundance. It allows the entire nation to enjoy the affluence which comes only when a nation has plenty to eat. The nations of today (as in the past) who lag in production of food for its people are those countries who have allowed their farm land to be controlled by government or a few large landowners. No nation permitting these agricultural structures to exist have been able to feed their people adequately.

On the other hand, the western European countries who have protected their small farmers are thriving. There is a lesson to be learned in this analogy. When we care enough to protect our food supply for the future, we will be concerned about the plight of the family-type farm. Low farm prices do not benefit the consumer!

Examine the present dairy crisis in the U. S. today and you will readily see what we mean. Since the dairy farmer has been perennially the lowest paid even among farmers, his commodity is the first to show sign of breaking. Dairy farmers are quitting by the thousands because they can no longer bear the burden of inequity. Dairy supplies are critically low and will continue to decline until a realistic appraisal remedial action is taken to bestow fair prices for that production. If you doubt this, watch for developments that will inevitably appear.

Huge farms are not the answer either. Whether huge or small, a cost of production plus a reasonable profit is necessary to stay in business. Any business! Corporations are now buying land in vast tracts. And these businesses know how to price a product.

Will your family food dollar continue to buy reasonably priced food from ample supplies in the future or will it be competing with the dollars of other consumers for a chance at short supplies of food?

It is certainly something to think about.

RE-ELECT
RICHARD W. FITZSIMONS
State Representative-Dist. 67A

In previous articles we have outlined some of the things Rep. Fitzsimons has accomplished for Northwestern Minnesota in his 14 years of Legislative service, Rep. Fitzsimons pledges to devote his energies toward continued improvement in these areas:

- AGRICULTURE
- EDUCATION
- WELFARE
- HIGHWAYS
- BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT
- NATURAL RESOURCES
- MEDICAL SERVICES
- DRAINAGE & FLOOD CONTROL

We are proud of the outstanding record that Rep. Fitzsimons has made in the Legislature. He has served Northwestern Minnesota well. These quotes from the Minneapolis Tribune, Grand Forks Herald and Minneapolis Star state very clearly why we feel Rep. Fitzsimons is so important to Northwestern Minnesota.

Bob Weber, Minneapolis Star, March 29, 1965:

"Fitzsimons, a cool head who is on good terms with both Liberals and Conservatives, shapes the money bills and spending program, making him an essential insider for the leadership."

Grand Forks Herald, May 2, 1963:

'One of the most powerful and able men in the Legislature."—"The Legislature could use more men like Argyle farmer Fitzsimons. He knows his job and he has performed an excellent service for all of the people of Minnesota."

Frank Wright and Frank Premack, Minneapolis Tribune, Sunday, May 2, 1965:

"In the House the committee chairman is Rep. Fitzsimons, a farmer who is serving his seventh term and is recognized as one of the legislature's hardest working and most knowledgeable money men."

Keep this strong voice speaking for Northwestern Minnesota in the Legislature!

Inserted and to be paid for by Fitzsimons for Representative Vol. Committee, Duane Gunderson, Argyle, Chairman; Lewellyn Larson, Argyle, Secretary.

Will the bills cost you $175 more than they should?

They might, if you have to borrow the money to pay them.
(Repaying that loan will cost you a pretty penny in interest charges.)
But if you make a habit of saving with us, with the people who specialize in saving,
you will have the money when you need it.
The difference between borrowing to pay the bills for your baby or saving ahead and getting earnings on your savings could furnish the nursery.
Saving makes the difference.

Impala Super Sport Coupe—a clean new sweep in roof lines.
Now that you've seen all the daring new things our stylists did, get in and sample some of the safest, soundest ideas on the road!
What you feel is as new as what you see—thanks to all the fresh thinking that's gone into the way it rides, steers, stops and looks after your safety.
It's got a remarkable new road feel—beginning with a ride so hushed and gentle you'll feel like calling this the '67 Shhhevrolet. The steering is as much as 10% easier. And you'll find the stopping smoother, too.
We put safety features on top of safety features. For example, an energy-absorbing steering wheel atop the new GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column. A dual master cylinder brake system with warning light. And seat belts front and rear with pushbutton buckles. All standard, to be sure.
And there's a new SS 427 performance package—complete with 385-hp Turbo-Jet V8 and flat-cornering suspension. You can order it for either the Impala Super Sport Coupe or Convertible.
Of course, there are all sorts of new custom features you can add, too, such as tape or FM stereo. But if you find so much that's new a bit too much to remember—drop down to your dealer's and take a drive. It'll all become unforgettable.

Skaar To Offer Bill for Payment On Depredation

Rep. Andrew Skaar announced today that he has had a bill drafted for presentation to the 1967 Minnesota legislature providing for compensation for damage done by wild animals, including waterfowl, to farm crops, animals or domestic fowl.

The bill provides for an additional surcharge of 25 cents on each small game and big game hunting license sold in Minnesota to pay the costs of such compensation. At the end of any year, according to the bill which has been drafted, any balance in the fund in excess to $250,000 would be transferred from the fund and reappropriated for other conservation purposes.

Under provisions of the bill, which Rep. Skaar states he will introduce early in the session, farmers suffering loss due to depredation would have up to 30 days for filing a claim for compensation after the loss occurs. The commissioners of conservation would then have the damage appraised and either allow and pay or disallow the claim. Provision is made for the commissioner to employ full or part-time appraisers necessary to carry out this portion of the proposal.

"Crop depredation by waterfowl has been an annual headache in varying degrees in this area for a number of years," Rep. Skaar said. "In the absence of bounties since the last bounty bill was vetoed by the governor's office, many complaints have also been received about damage to livestock and domestic fowl by wolves, bear and foxes. I believe that this compensation bill would help those who are most directly affected—the farmers whose crops and livestock are being lost to birds and animals which are legally property of all the people of Minnesota.

"I sincerely feel that sportsmen will also recognize the advantages which would come to them through better relations with farmers who feed the game which they hunt. I fully intend to make every effort to secure passage of this bill in the 1967 legislature."

First Vocational Guidance Event Noted Last Week

"Reach For Tomorrow Through Vocational Guidance" was the theme of the nation's first National Vocational Guidance week observed throughout the country last week. (Editor's Note: This article arrived too late to be published in last Wednesday's edition.)

Dr. Wesley Tennyson, association president and professor at the University of Minnesota, said that the purpose of the week was to focus public attention on the fact that choosing a career is an important decision, one worthy of planning now for realization tomorrow.

Tennyson said that young people today face a bewildering selection of career and job possibilities. Mature adults, whose jobs have become obsolete by technological progress, are having to select new careers and re-train for them. Disadvantaged citizens of all ages need to select and prepare for job opportunities being opened up by government and private programs.

Assisting people select and find jobs and careers is the work of thousands of professional counselors in schools, colleges, government and voluntary agencies, industry and private counseling centers and firms. The week was sponsored by the National Vocational Guidance association and its local chapters and branches throughout the country.

Davison Favors Farm Collective Bargaining Power

Keith C. Davison, DFL candidate for Congress, said recently that the best hope for achieving equitable income for American farmers rested with a program combining federal action and "collective bargaining on the part of the farmers themselves."

Speaking at a Kittson county DFL dinner in Ada (sic) Monday evening, Davison said: "The farmer alone represents the one segment of our economy that has no direct control over the price he receives for his productivity."

"It is quite apparent," said Davison, "that the American farmers will not achieve full parity income under the existing farm program. And, although I certainly think there are areas in which improvements can be made in farm legislation, the farmers themselves, much as American labor found it necessary to do, must get together and establish their own goals and objectives. Once this happens, then and perhaps only then will the farmer have the ability to assure himself of an equitable income in relation to the rest of the economy," said Davison.

"Because of the declining per cent of the population involved in agriculture, it is essential that Congressional representation from rural areas be positively effective. That I can do for you," Davison concluded.

Extension Agent Associations Elect 1967 Officers

Officers of the two county extension agent's associations were elected last Monday at the annual conference of the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service. The week-long onference was held at the St. Paul Hilton Hotel.

New president of the Minnesota Association of County Extension Agents is Richard Radway, Rochester. Other officers are Clarence Quie, Farmington, vice president; and Clayton Grabow, Milaca, secretary-treasurer.

The extension agents elected five new members to the board of directors. They are J. Eugne Ellis, Buffalo; Matt Metz, Wabasha; Roger Larson, Montevideo; Roland Skelton, Mora; and Harold Rosendahl, Ada.

Named president of the Minnesota Association of Extension Home economists was Mrs. Naomi Fruechte, Caledonia. Other officers elected were Mrs. Elaine Klingebiel, Farmington, first vice president and president-elect; Mrs. Mary Weyrens, St. Cloud, second vice president; Mrs. Lois Lapham, Anoka, secretary; and Mrs. Marguerite Green, Gaylord, treasurer.

Skaar To Offer Bill for Payment On Depredation

Rep. Andrew Skaar announced today that he has had a bill drafted for presentation to the 1967 Minnesota legislature providing for compensation for damage done by wild animals, including waterfowl, to farm crops, animals or domestic fowl.

The bill provides for an additional surcharge of 25 cents on each small game and big game hunting license sold in Minnesota to pay the costs of such compensation. At the end of any year, according to the bill which has been drafted, any balance in the fund in excess to $250,000 would be transferred from the fund and reappropriated for other conservation purposes.

Under provisions of the bill, which Rep. Skaar states he will introduce early in the session, farmers suffering loss due to depredation would have up to 30 days for filing a claim for compensation after the loss occurs. The commissioners of conservation would then have the damage appraised and either allow and pay or disallow the claim. Provision is made for the commissioner to employ full or part-time appraisers necessary to carry out this portion of the proposal.

"Crop depredation by waterfowl has been an annual headache in varying degrees in this area for a number of years," Rep. Skaar said. "In the absence of bounties since the last bounty bill was vetoed by the governor's office, many complaints have also been received about damage to livestock and domestic fowl by wolves, bear and foxes. I believe that this compensation bill would help those who are most directly affected—the farmers whose crops and livestock are being lost to birds and animals which are legally property of all the people of Minnesota.

"I sincerely feel that sportsmen will also recognize the advantages which would come to them through better relations with farmers who feed the game which they hunt. I fully intend to make every effort to secure passage of this bill in the 1967 legislature."

First Vocational Guidance Event Noted Last Week

"Reach For Tomorrow Through Vocational Guidance" was the theme of the nation's first National Vocational Guidance week observed throughout the country last week. (Editor's Note: This article arrived too late to be published in last Wednesday's edition.)

Dr. Wesley Tennyson, association president and professor at the University of Minnesota, said that the purpose of the week was to focus public attention on the fact that choosing a career is an important decision, one worthy of planning now for realization tomorrow.

Tennyson said that young people today face a bewildering selection of career and job possibilities. Mature adults, whose jobs have become obsolete by technological progress, are having to select new careers and re-train for them. Disadvantaged citizens of all ages need to select and prepare for job opportunities being opened up by government and private programs.

Assisting people select and find jobs and careers is the work of thousands of professional counselors in schools, colleges, government and voluntary agencies, industry and private counseling centers and firms. The week was sponsored by the National Vocational Guidance association and its local chapters and branches throughout the country.

Davison Favors Farm Collective Bargaining Power

Keith C. Davison, DFL candidate for Congress, said recently that the best hope for achieving equitable income for American farmers rested with a program combining federal action and "collective bargaining on the part of the farmers themselves."

Speaking at a Kittson county DFL dinner in Ada (sic) Monday evening, Davison said: "The farmer alone represents the one segment of our economy that has no direct control over the price he receives for his productivity."

"It is quite apparent," said Davison, "that the American farmers will not achieve full parity income under the existing farm program. And, although I certainly think there are areas in which improvements can be made in farm legislation, the farmers themselves, much as American labor found it necessary to do, must get together and establish their own goals and objectives. Once this happens, then and perhaps only then will the farmer have the ability to assure himself of an equitable income in relation to the rest of the economy," said Davison.

"Because of the declining per cent of the population involved in agriculture, it is essential that Congressional representation from rural areas be positively effective. That I can do for you," Davison concluded.

Extension Agent Associations Elect 1967 Officers

Officers of the two county extension agent's associations were elected last Monday at the annual conference of the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service. The week-long conference was held at the St. Paul Hilton Hotel.

The extension agents elected five new members to the board of directors. They are J. Eugne Ellis, Buffalo; Matt Metz, Wabasha; Roger Larson, Montevideo; Roland Skelton, Mora; and Harold Rosendahl, Ada.

Named president of the Minnesota Association of Extension Home economists was Mrs. Naomi Fruechte, Caledonia. Other officers elected were Mrs. Elaine Klingebiel, Farmington, first vice president and president-elect; Mrs. Mary Weyrens, St. Cloud, second vice president; Mrs. Lois Lapham, Anoka, secretary; and Mrs. Marguerite Green, Gaylord, treasurer.

LONG AGO PEOPLE

It happened while I was hiking in the mountains . . . suddenly I came into a clearing and saw the crumbling foundations of what had once meant shelter and protection for a pioneer family. Rugged mountains surrounded the decayed dwelling on three sides. But in front there opened a panorama across a valley which in all its beauty held me spellbound.

I turned and noticed a small old-fashioned rose bush which seemed to reminisce with yesteryear beside the moldering stoop. I could feel the presence of those long-ago people. How they must have loved this place. The woman had tended flowers and vegetables here, had borne her babies and had helped her man carve a life from the wilderness.

What was their secret . . . these pioneer people? Where did they find the courage and confidence needed to face the privations and dangers of primitive living? God was their refuge and strength. Their love of Him illumined their lives, and goodness graced their days.

Just so today, God and His Church are the source of all bounty, greatness, and joy. They are yours for the asking.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Slated In City Tonight

Boy Scout council officers from Grand Forks met Tuesday night with leaders from the Pen-Ro-Sahl district as plans were made for program activities for the coming months.

Action at the district meeting included plans for a citywide court of honor to be held Monday (tonight) at Zion Lutheran church at 8 p.m. Scouts from St. Hilaire as well as Thief River Falls will participate.

L. R. Marti, president of the Lake Agassiz council; Frank Goeson, council commissioner; and H. W. Oehler, scout executive, all from Grand Forks, met with scout leaders from Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Middle River and Greenbush. Three separate meetings were held, including the district committee meeting, a commissioner staff meeting and a Cub scout leader's roundtable.

At the district committee meeting, presided over by Morris Owen of Thief River Falls, district chairman, Marti stressed the need for involving additional volunteer manpower in scouting's work. He also pointed out the need for supporting scouting financially, and urged the scout leaders to give Fund campaign from which scouting receives council funds.

Florian Kritz, Pen-Ro-Shall district commissioner, presided at the meeting of Neighborhood Commissioners. Speaking to the group, Frank Goeson, who has the responsibility for commissioner service throughout the 15-county Lake Agassiz council, pointed out how an effective program of commissioner service can help Scout troops, Cub packs and Explorer posts succeed. Goeson noted that the good that boys receive from scouting can happen only when there is an effective pack, troop or post to which the boy belongs. The commissioner can help the leader of that unit.

Program ideas for December were presented to area cub scout leaders by leaders of Pack 59, Thief River Falls, sponsored by Zion Lutheran church. The ideas presented included games, craft activities and ideas for good will programs. Presiding at the cub scout leaders roundtable was Lewis Hill, Thief River Falls, roundtable commissioner.

Humanities Film Showing Slated At New Library

Regular film showing in the humanities series at Thief River Falls public library will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the library multi-purpose room. Films to be shown will be "Hamlet: The Age of Elizabeth" and "What Happens in Hamlet?"

Both films deal with the theatre—one of man's means of expressing himself. In the first film the similarities and differences of the Elizabethan and modern theatre are discussed. In the second the major characters are discussed in relationship to one another.

The film program is presented without cost to all interested adults. A discussion period follows each film to encourage audience participation.

Area Races Hold Interest In Election on Tuesday

Interest in a number of races in the area is expected to bring a large number of voters to the polls on election day Tuesday. Most rural precincts will open their polling places at 9 a.m. while precincts in Thief River Falls and the township of North will begin voting at 7 a.m. All polls will close at 8 p.m.

While the turnout is expected to be good, C. W. Rodekuhr, Pennington county auditor, stated that demand for absentee ballots had been light through Friday. Only 100 absentee ballots had been requested, compared with approximately 200 two years ago.

All residents of the Thief River Falls area will register when they vote Tuesday; advance registration is not required in communities of this size. To be eligible to vote, persons must be 21 years of age or older, citizens of the United States for at least three months, residents of the state of Minnesota for six months or longer and residents of their respective precincts for at least 30 days.

Polling places in the city include the following: First ward, Northrop elementary school; Second ward, Masonic hall; Third ward, city auditorium; Fourth ward, Knox elementary school; and Fifth ward, Franklin junior high school.

The Pennington county ballot in itself is a rather dull document this year. There is only one contest--between Harlow Johnson and Gordon P. Relerson for register of deeds--while there are no filings for the position of county coroner. Dr. E. O. Thorsgard, who was elected as a write-in in the last election, failed to file again this year.

Unopposed for county office are C. W. Rodekuhr, auditor; A. Ellsworth Jorgenson, treasurer; Charles R. Richards, sheriff; L. W. Rullen, attorney; A. O. Stokke, surveyor; and Donald L. Olson and Merle A. Lindberg, county commissioners. All are incumbents except Rullen, a former county attorney, who is seeking the post currently held by C. L. Charlson.

The district ballot is filled with interesting races, however. Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen is opposed by Judge Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls for Senator from the 67th District; incumbents Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls and Everett Battles of Warroad square off in the race for Representative from District 67-B.

Incumbents John T. Galarneault and James F. Murphy are unopposed for the office of Ninth District judge while Judge Harley G. Swenson is opposed by Joseph Terrance Noah.

On the state ballot, Sen. Walter F. Mondale is opposed by Robert A. Forsythe and Rep. Odin Langen is opposed by Keith C. Davison. The governor's race is between Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag and Harold LeVander. Gov. Rolvaag won the DFL primary election while LeVander was the endorsed candi-

VOTE on Tuesday is the reminder given by Mary Dahlquist, Miss Thief River Falls of 1966. Polls in the city open at 7 a.m. with all polls to close at 8 p.m. Watch the Times Wednesday for election results.

More Break-ins At Middle River

About $75 in cash and nine new tires were stolen from the Walten Garage recently when thieves broke into the garage and also the Middle River Co-op creamery where nothing was taken.

The thieves gained entrance to the garage by removing a glass from the east door and opening the bolted door. They used similar tactics to gain entrance to the cramery from the front door but from there no loot was taken. The thieves also jimmied a locked file cabinet at the garage.

Investigation of the break-ins is under way by the Marshall county sheriff's department.

Board To Proceed On School Plans

Thief River Falls board of education will proceed on schedule with vocational-technical school building plans as a result of a special meeting held Wednesday evening. Attending the meeting was Wick of the state education department and Richard Whiteman of the architectural firm of Jyring and Whiteman.

Wick assured the board that the local district will receive financing of approximately $12,500 in matching funds for vocational school site acquisition in the immediate future. He also gave the district his full commitment for construction funds in the 1968 fiscal year. The 1968 fiscal year begins July 1, 1967. No money remains for the 1967 fiscal year, he said.

Board members instructed the Jyring and Whiteman firm to proceed with full working drawings in preparation for an advertisement for bids as soon after January 1 as possible. Wick advised the board to proceed as previously planned but to withhold signing of contracts until anticipated federal funds are programmed for the 1968 fiscal year.

With Whiteman present at the meeting, the board reviewed the preliminary plans for the vocational-technical school and the swimming pool addition to Franklin junior high school. Several changes were made and noted by the architect.

Twin City Testing company was retained to conduct soil sample testing on the vocational-technical school and swimming pool sites for planning purposes.

In other action Wednesday, the board accepted the resignations of Mrs. Harry Oen and Peter Probasco effective January 1. Replacements hired were Linda Anderson, currently practice teaching here, in the elementary school position to be vacated by Mrs. Oen, and Donald Johnson Perham, to replace Probasco in the vocational agriculture department.

3 Square Miles Of Meadow Land Burned Sunday

Driven by high winds, a fire scorched three square miles of brush and meadow land and destroyed some timber northwest of Oklee last Sunday evening.

The blaze originated somewhere in the northwest corner of the area affected and carried smoke over the village of Oklee. There was some back-burning and plowing done to protect buildings, bale stacks and machinery and damage was confined mainly to grass and brush.

The fire was considered disastrous to wildlife, according to the Oklee Herald. Four deer were seen milling about in confusion on a smoke covered road. Rabbits and fox and other animals were driven out and one spectator reported seeing field mice "by the hundreds" scurrying across the road.

Members of Dorcas Society Attend Federation Meet

Mrs. Leo Herber, Mrs. Hanley Miller and Mrs. Roy Nelson of Thief River Falls were among the 35 representatives who attended the autumn meeting of the Northwest Federation of Seventh-Day Adventist Dorcas societies held recently at Basswood. Guest speakers were H. H. Voss of St. Paul, director of lay activities for the state of Minnesota, and Mrs. Clifford Christianson of Pipestone, state federation president. Mrs. Fritz Coyle of Cass Lake, northwest federation president, presided at the all-day meeting.

Reports and the most rewarding experiences were given by representatives of the six societies in attendance.

K. I. Foss of Bemidji was in charge of the devotional message. Basing his message on the Bible verse, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness", he stressed the importance, in this age of hurry, of chosing between the essential and non-essential, the paltry and the precious.

Following a dinner served by the Basswood Dorcas women, Elder Voss showed the color film, "More Than Singing", showing that Christianity consists of more than preaching and praying. It also depicted the activities of Seventh-Day Adventists in temperance, medical educational, disaster and relief work.

The new service uniform to be worn by Health and Welfare service personnel was modeled by Mrs. Christianson, who also informed the group as to where they could be obtained.

Plans were also made for the purchase of a step-van for use as a disaster mobile unit that would be available immediately for any part of the state hit by a disaster.

The local Dorcas society recently sponsored the annual drive for canned foods which will be distributed to needy families during the coming holidays. Members of the society are grateful to the children who worked on the drive and to the people of Thief River Falls for the contributions.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. H. E. McMAHON
415 East First

With the approaching holiday season, homemakers are again checking their recipe files for fruit cake recipes. Serving this delicacy at Thanksgiving or Christmas is as traditional at some homes as serving lutefisk and lefsa is at others. If you are planning to serve it for Thanksgiving, it is not to early to make it, as fruit cake is better when allowed to age.

We are grateful to Mrs. H. E. McMahon for sharing her favorite light fruit cake recipe with us. She said it was inexpensive to make, keeps well and freezes without becoming crumbly.

LIGHT FRUIT CAKE

1 cup butter
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
4 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup hot strong coffee
1 small glass orange marmalade
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 lb. walnuts, chopped
½ lb. glaced fruit
½ lb. white raisins
½ lb. dark raisins
4 cups flour

Method: Cream butter and sugar together, add eggs and beat well. Add orange marmalade. Disgether spices and two cups flour and add to batter alternately with solve soda in hot coffee. Sift to the hot coffee. In a separate bowl, mix fruit, nuts and remaining flour; add to batter and mix well. Pour into three one-pound loaf pans that have been greased and floured. Bake in a 300 degree oven for one hour, or until done.

The McMahons live at 415 East First street. Of a family of seven children Dennis, in junior high school, is the only one left at home. The others are married and scattered from the East to the West coast.

Several years ago, Mrs. McMahon started a collection of salt and pepper shakers. Most of these include various types of birds with several sets having come from foreign countries.

Mr. McMahon has been employed by the Soo Line Railway company for many years and now as the need arises serves as either brakeman or conductor.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Said the "New Yorker"

Said the "New Yorker" magazine in its commentary on the Dartmouth vs. Yale football game last week, and which was won by Dartmouth, 28-13:

"If you didn't bother to catch Brian Dowling in one of his wildfire, splitfire performances as Yales freshman quarterback a season ago, you may have to wait until 1967 to see this invalid run the Yale varsity, and you may have to wait until then to see a really ready Yale varsity, Doherty, his senior replacement, is a good lad and a hard worker, but he is not up to monkeying with a buzz saw like Dartmouth and his teammates, valiant and often ingenious, were too edgy, too eager, against a respected opponent, and so bagged a bunch of penlties. As it is, the best of Dowling's fine last year's freshman team is Hill, a dogged, weighty runner who has not yet acquired the punch of say, Jim Walton and Paul Klungness, the Dartmouth pile drivers. Give, as I was saying, Yale another year, and give the Dartmouth backfield a deep bow. After the 19th of this month, we will see three of these men no more—Mickey Beard, the quarterback, one of the finest exponents of the performing arts I have ever watched, and the mighty Walton and Klungness. Klungness, reputedly damaged beyond repair in earlier sessions, put on an astonishing dying-man performance against Yale. Of this backfield, only Gene Ryzewicz, who runs four ways at once, will outlive the compulsory-retirement rule this fall."

The 'beyond repair' injury with reference to Paul Klungness is the dislocated right shoulder that has been plaguing the former Prowler all-round athlete. Paul dislocated this shoulder during a surfing mishap in mid-summer, and then reinjured the shoulder during an early-season this fall. Glad to hear the blond bomber is doing all right with the "Big Green".

Fall Chores

These are the days when there are many chores to be done. There are storm windows to be put on, storm doors to be hung, weather-stripping to be applied, and so on. And for the sportsman, who is a fisherman, there is the cleaning of tackle, the storing of boat and motor. And for the cabin owner, there is always the chore of closing up for the year.

The big boat and big motor owners have the added problem of finding adequate storage facilities, And there are some big boats in this area.

Lloyd Samuelson, Don Harbott and Ray Thyren finally got their "boat" out of the Springsteel Island ice. It was frozen in, and the boys had to spend several hours in chopping the boat out. And you can make a small wager on who used the axe!

If these chores weren't enough, the deer hunters have been making trips to their deer hunting camps and making everything in readiness for next week's deer hunting season.

Miscellany

A top-flight prospect for Crookston Cathedral football is 200-pound sophomore Kevin Shanahan. Says Crookston Times columnist Linton Behrer, in discussing Bill Sullivan's Cathedral squad's game against the Roseau Rams: "In Addition, Shanahan, who is a 200-pound sophomore, had a good night carrying the ball. In fact, he is the most exciting football player this reporter has seen around here for many years. He has much better, than average speed, has a natural fullback running style, and doesn't come down easily. He lowers the shoulder, spins and breaks tackles more like a senior than a sophomore." What is interesting to local fans is that Kevin is the son of the Austin Shanahans, and Austin will be remembered as a slick-running halfback with the Prowlers of 1938-39. Following his high school career here, Austin entered St. John's college, and he proved to be a varsity player with the Johnnies. . .The city touch football playoff finals was played on Wednesday evening at the fairgrounds, and Ken Noreen's team, by a 25-6 score, defeated the Junior college team. To reach the finals the Junior college upset Bridgeman's and the Noreen's sidelined Earl Melvie's team. Feeling in Wednesday night's finals nearly got out of hand, and it was fortunate that three officials were working the game. . .Several Region Eight athletes have been doing real well as state college backfielders this season, Dennis Aguilar has been a strong halfback for the Gustavus Adolphus Gusties. Aguiar was a former Bemidji Lumberjack Fertile's Rodd Olson is the quarterback for the Concordia college Cobbers. And, of course Plummer's Marv Walter has been an offensive star with the Moorhead State Dragons.

Brodin, Collver Gain Mention as All-Conference

The football coaches of the five-member Northwest conference — Ken Wilson of Bemidji, Ron Thompson of East Grand Forks, Jim Sims of Thief River Falls, Ray Kavanagh of Roseau and Ron Thompson of Crookston—held their annual meting at Erskine on Wednesday evening.

Announcement was made of the coaches All-Star senior football squad, and the conference's most valuable player awards. Quarterback John Boyer of the champion Bemidji Lumberjacks and Dan Beck hard-running halfback on the second place East Grand Forks Green Wave shared honors as the circuit's most valuable players. Boyer and Beck were also named to the All-Star squad.

In addition to Boyer, the champion Bemidji team placed fullback Dave Bublitz, halfback Craig Daniel, tackle Bob Martinson and guard Tom Benson to the All-Star squad, Joining Beck on the squad were East Grand Forks players end Dave Achen, guard Rod Miller, and tackle Don Thorson.

Coach Sims' Prowler squad placed quarterback Bob Brodin and fullback Rod Collver on the All-Star squad, and linebacker Bill Dicken was given honorable mention.

Completing the All-Star roster were Mark Anderson Crookston halfback, and Jerry Halvorson of Roseau, also a halfback.

Given honorable mention were Don Abbott and Howard Reitmeier of Crookston Brian Brandt of Roseau, Darryl Olson of Bemidji and Myron Wardner and Gary Bubendorf of East Grand Forks.

Hunters Warned Not to Shoot at Phone Equipment

Telephone wires, cables and insulators are always out of season, T. R. Perrier, local Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager, reminded Minnesota sportsmen today.

He urged hunters to exercise extreme caution when firing at game in the vicinity of telephone equipment.

"Damage to wires, cables and glass insulators can put many telephones out of service," he said. "In an emergency situation, this could result in property damage or even loss of life."

In commenting on the class completing its instruction in the safe handling of firearms, Mittelstadt mentioned a news story concerning a Northfield boy killed when cleaning a shotgun which he intended to take to a firearms safety class.

"One of the things we emphasize in the program is that of being sure a gun is unloaded before bringing it into the house," he said. "We also teach that all guns should be considered loaded until the person handling the gun can prove to himself that it is not loaded. Firearms can provide countless hours of fun and recreation if handled properly. We try to teach youngsters the importance and the methods of handling guns in a safe manner."

Candidate Series Ends Last Week

Good attendance was noted at the final three "Meet the Candidates" sessions held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons in the Elks club rooms. The series was sponsored by the legislative commitee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Speakers at the meetings were Rep. Andrew Skaar, Thief River Falls; Hon. Herman A. Kjos, candidate for state Senate, Thief River Falls; and Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen.

Each of the candidates reviewed his qualifications and answered questions asked by the crowds in attendance. Donald L. Olson, chairman of the legislative committee, acted as master of ceremonies for the series.

Local Banks Join 4H Foundation

Union and Northern state banks have joined other Minnesota banks in support of 4-H.

"J. J. Womack, president of Union state bank, called the bank's share in the 4-H club program "an investment in the future. Our banks are planning and building for tomorrow and it is our responsibility to plan also for the youth that will be part of that tomorrow," he said.

Drotts Appointed Head of Heart Memorial Fund

David Drotts, Thief River Falls, has accepted reappointment as Pennington county Heart Fund memorial chairman, it was announced today by Robert Labat, state Heart Fund chairman.

The Minnesota Heart association memorial program provides a means for sympathetic acknowledgement or remembrance of loved ones while, at the same time, giving for the living.

Drotts said, in accepting the appointment, "Heart disease is Minnesota's No. 1 health problem. More than one out of every two deaths is caused by heart related diseases. More than 150,000 Minnesotans are afflicted with some kind of cardiovascular ailment. A memorial gift enhances their hope for healthful living.

"A memorial is simply a gift that is sent in remembrance of a friend, relative or loved one. The full amount of a memorial gift is used in the search for causes and cures of heart disease. There is no administrative or operating cost assessed against these funds. Memorial acknowledgements are sent immediately to the doners and to the families of those remembered, and the amount is not mentioned unless so desired."

Drotts went on to state, "To send a memorial gift to help the living, simply put your memorial gift in an envelope and mail it along with your address, the address of the person memorialized and the person to whom notice of receipt of the gift should be sent, (usually the next of kin) and mail to David Drotts, Thief River Falls, or to the Minnesota Heart Association, 1821 University Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota, 55104.

American Sunday School Union To Note Anniversary

Rev. Kermit Skoglund announces plans for a Sesquicentennial celebration honoring the 150th year of the American Sunday school union to be held in the First Baptist church of Thief River Falls on December 4.

Rev. G. "Jack" Hansen, general representative of the ASSU from Buffalo, was in the city assisting Rev. Skoglund with preliminary planning. Rev. Hansen is a former resident of Thief River Falls.

The celebration will feature a pot-luck banquet at 6:30 p.m., followed by the showing of the union's new colored sound film "This One's for Jesus" at 8 p.m.

The general public is invited to attend both the banquet and the film showing. Waldie Christensen is general chairman of the Sesquicentennial celebration and David Drotts will be the master of ceremonies.

MEA Calls for Candidates To Be More Realistic

Minnesota cannot meet its commitment in public services—particularly in education—without added taxes, and claims to the contrary are premature and misleading, the Minnesota Education association (MEA) recently told the GOP and DFL nominees for governor.

The state's biggest professional organization also urged Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag and challenger Harold LeVander to provide the leadership necessary to provide increased tax revenues.

The points were made in a pre-election letter to each nominee and signed by MEA President Nicholas E. Duff, Minnetonka high school social studies teacher.

"The Minnesota Education association agrees with your expressed concern for the quality of education provided to Minnesota youths," Duff wrote. "But, we do not share your expressed confidence that existing taxes will provide enough money to provide adequately for necessary state services—particularly education."

Duff added that his 38,000-member organization "in fact" is "deeply concerned that even the predicted revenue increases (Ed. note: set at $76 million for this biennium) will not be enought to meet the needs of more and more students, let alone the increased cost of doing business." Duff also recognized that state departments other than education face sumilar money problems.

"This," Duff wrote, "is but part of the problem we call to your attention. Present state aids support about 44 per cent of adjusted maintenance costs (of Minnesota's public elementary and secondary schools). To continue even this support level during the next biennium, $46 million more than this biennium appropriation will be needed.

"If the support level is raised to the figure 50 per cent—which you have publicly stated should be the case—$109 million more will be needed."

Duff said the MEA is encouraged by predictions of tax revenue surpluses in this biennium, but doubted "as the figures cited indicate" that the anticipated increase will be enough to support public education adequately.

"It is our opinion, therefore," Duff concluded, "that the state cannot meet its proper commitments in public education without more taxes.

"We sincerely hope that you, as a political leader in Minnesota, will keep the public fully informed of these needs and will provide the leadership demanded to provide tax revenues necessary to maintain the high quality of our education system, and to improve it, without shifting the burden to the already overburdened local property tax."

Sunflower Plant At Gonvick Gets $487,500 Loan

Sunplant Products, Inc., Gonvick, has been awarded a loan of $487,500 by the U. S. Department of Commerce, according to word received from the office of Sen. Walter F. Mondale. The loan was made through the department's economic development administration

In addition to the federal loan, the plant will receive $150,000 from the state of Minnesota and invest $112,500 of its own funds to purchase land, build a new plant and purchase equipment. An estimated 25 new jobs will be created when the plant is completed.

"At the present there is no domestic sunflower oil production in the United States," Sen. Mondale said in announcing the loan. "Between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds of oil are imported annually. When the new plant at Gonvick is completed, it will process seeds into oil for domestic consumption."

The Gonvick plant is expected to serve a number of surrounding counties as a market for sunflower seed production. An estimated 300 farmers are expected to increase their sunflower acreage.

Wool Producers Favor Increase In Deductions

Preliminary results of the recent wool producers' referendum show that producers approved increased deductions from wool payments, according to Marcel Dahl, Chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The deductions are to be used to finance the promotion of wool and lamb.

In a mail referendum which ended September 23, 79.8 per cent of the producers owning 79.2 per cent of the sheep represented in the referendum favored a proposed new agreement between the secretary of agriculture and the American Sheep Producers council, Inc., which provides for increased deductions and the continuation of the promotion program. To become effective, the agreement had to be approved by either two-thirds of the producers, or by producers of two-thirds of the volume of production, represented in the referendum.

Preliminary results show 59,905 producers voting for the new agreement and 15,137 producers voting against it. Producers favoring the agreement owned 10,858,445 sheep and those opposed to it owned 2,844,580 sheep. The proposed agreement authorizes continued deduction from payments made under the National Wool Act on wool and unshorn lambs marketed during the four years 1966 through 1969. Deductions are authorized at rates up to one and one-half cents a pound on shorn wool and Seven and one-half cents a hundredweight on unshorn lambs, compared with one cent and five cents in the past.

Similar favorable referendums were previously held in 1955, 1959 and 1962. A later announcement will be made on a new agreement, and the final results of the 1966 vote will be announced about mid-October.

Much Work Done By NYC Members On Forest Lands

An eight-month progress report on the accomplishments of Neighborhood Youth corps crews working on state forest lands was released today by the Minnesota Conservation department's forestry division.

For the months of February through September, NYC crews planted 91,000 trees, renovated and constructed 75 miles of forest roads and saddle trails, prepared 290 acres for planting and performed timber stand improvement work on 350 acres of land.

Other activities included forest surveys, road maintenance, beautification work and collecting moss and seed for state tree nurseries.

A unique project was the restoration of five abandoned cemeteries deep in the Beltrami Island state forest. The cemeteries, which date from the days of the early settlers in the area were cleaned up and renovated.

Another special project was the establishment of a nature trail and the improvement of a toboggan slide at the Bemis Hill recreation site in Roseau county.

NYC crew members also painted signs, repaired telephone lines, built a boat dock, fought fires and worked in the office doing typing and map drawing.

Forestry officials said the NYC program made a substantial contribution to the department's forestry program during the eight month period. It also provided training and work experience to the young men working on the projects.

Truck Drivers Complain About Area Highways

To emphasize the need to improve highway 59 between Waubun and Erskine corner, truck drivers, whether local or cross country, who have complaints about this section were invited to sign a petition offered by Luther H. Rodvik of McIntosh and to be given to the Minnesota Highway Commissioner, John R. Jamieson and Senator Norman Larson, Ada, Chairman of the Senate Highways committee.

Commissioner Jamieson spoke at a highways meeting recently at East Grand Forks. One hundred twenty drivers had signed the list by the time Clarence Joppru, owner of the Grilla Truck Stop, Winger, turned the list over to Rodvik.

Truckers complain that the rough condition of this stretch of 59 causes damage not only to loads but also the truck itself. An oil distributor from Pipestone complained that oil barrels have bounced so much that they have overturned. Not long ago, a chemical truck from Crookston broke open, spilling acid-like chemicals that had to be washed off the pavement by the Winger fire department. A Glendenning truck reportedly pulled into the Grilla Truck Stop with a broken axle housing that cost $1,400 to repair.

Arnold Bushee of the 2 and 59 truck stop at Erskine is preparing a list of East-West drivers who complain about the rough and unsafe condition of highway 2, particularly the stretch between Crookston and Fosston.

The truck drivers' testimony is expected to help the highway commissioners's office focus attention on the situation and four-laning this stretch of highway 2 could hopefully begin at an earlier date.

Pfc. Schob in German Exercise

Army Pfc. Delwin J. Schob, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delwin W. Schob of Thief River Falls, participated in the last week of a communication field training exercise conducted throughout western Germany,

During the exercise, which ended October 24, he took part in communication support maneuvers as part of the Seventh U. S. Army program to maintain the combat proficiency of his unit.

He is an ammunition specialist in the 23rd Ordinance company near Heilbronn, Germany.

Barley Excluded From 1967 Feed Grain Program

Since barley will not be included in the 1967 feed grain acreage diversion program, growers of malting as well as of other types of barley will be able to produce as much or as little of the crop as they wish and still qualify for barley price support, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Announcement that there would be no barley diversion provisions or payments under the 1967 feed grain program was made early in August so that growers could make their production plans; barley like wheat, is a fall-seeded crop in many parts of the country.

Farmers who participate in both wheat and feed grain programs next year may again plant wheat on regular barley base acreage and on feed grain base acreage if they wish. The farm's "feed grain base" for 1967 includes only corn and grain sorghum.

Farmers who wish to plant wheat on regular barley base acreage, however, should ask the ASC county committee for a special barley base for this purpose when they sign up in the programs. The barley base then, would be similar to the oats-rye base on which farmers also will be able to substitute wheat in 1967, as they did in 1966.

These two bases for a farm would be in addition to the farm's feed grain base. (There likewise will be no oats-rye diversion provisions or payments under the 1967 feed grain program.)

3 Scholarships Are Offered for Student Essays

A total of $2,050 in scholarship and teaching awards is being offered by a Minnesota conservation organization. Clear Air Clear Water-Unlimited has announced that its second annual scholarship contest for Minnesota high school seniors will feature a first place award of $1,000; second place, $700 and third place, $200.

CACWU president Arlin Albrecht of Red Wing stated that "in addition, we have added three teacher awards this year valued at $150. Three deserving Minnesota teachers will be given the opportunity to attend an accredited summer conservation education whorshop."

A panel of outstanding Minnesota conservationists will again judge student entries on the student contest theme: "Man is a creature of environment; therefore, the abatement of air and water pollution must be everyone's concern because:. . . .

Albrecht said that the Minnesota Association for Conservation education will cooperate with his organization in slecting three teachers for this first annual award.

All Minnesota public and private schools will receive contest brochures. Individuals who would like to obtain contest brochures may do so by writing Clear Air Clear Water-Unlimited, Route 1, South St. Paul.

National Guard To Build Chapel At Camp Ripley

Men of Minnesota's National Guard are undertaking to memorialize their fallen comrades and to provide a much needed facility for guardsmen of the future. Their goal is a memorial chapel to be built at Camp Ripley, near Little Falls.

Over 35,000 guardsmen from the upper midwest annually attend field training at Camp Ripley, yet the post has been without a permanent home for religious services since it was established in 1879.

The chapel will be built solely with funds donated by the guardsmen and the citizens of Minnesota. Over $10,000 has already been donated by members of the National Guard and Captain Charles R. Richards; commanding officer of the Thief River Falls unit, reports members of his unit have kicked-off their fund raising drive with almost 100 per cent participation.

The men will be out in the community seeking pledges and contributions. It is hoped that the chapel can be completed in time for summer training.

County Bond Sale 63.8% of Goal

Pennington county chairman J. M. Roche reports that series E and H saving bonds sales in September amounted to $8,778 making the total to date $97,675 or 63.8 per cent of the county's goal of $153,000.

Sales in neighboring counties were: Roseau, $4,370 for September, making a total of $121,000 or 47.2 per cent of the goal; Red Lake, $3,770 for September and a total of $38,616 for the year or 101.6 per cent; and Marshall $7,926 for September, making the total $102,716 for the year or 48.6 per cent of the goal.

Editorials . . .

"As soon as a man is detailed for a particular job—that is to say, a duty that he has to perform for somebody else's sake—he gets, whether he likes it or not, the beginnings of an ideal of conduct. He may loathe the job; but his reasoning mind makes him uncomfortable within himself if he neglects the job." —Rudyard Kipling

We Predict

"How do you predict the election results?" This is a question which we have received frequently in the past couple of weeks. It has been our habit to make predictions in recent years and some of our readers enjoy matching their powers of prognostication against the press.

Permit us to hedge just a little bit and state that election predictions this year are even more difficult to make than usual. The DFL party split and its effect on voting is impossible to assess—as is the effectiveness of the GOP attempts to get Republicans out to vote. Reapportionment has also muddied the waters in legislative races.

One thing further: The predictions are purely speculative and offered as a comparison for the readers of this paper. They do not represent a personal preference by this editor nor an endorsement by the Times. We encourage you to prove you are a better guesser than we are by making your own list of winners. We predict:

District 67—Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen, a conservative and ranking member of the state Senate, is opposed by Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls, an endorsee of the district DFL who has stated he would caucus with the liberal element in the Senate. Judge Kjos is from the largest community in the district and will get some home area as well as party support. Senator Sinclair has been elected five times in the past and his previous district is included in the new District 67. We predict Sen. Sinclair will carry all four counties with the smallest margin of the four in Pennington, winning by about 1,000 votes.

District 67-A—This district is on the edge of Times territory but worthy of mention. We predict that Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle will rout Rep. Victor Johnson of Lake Bronson, gaining a wide margin in west Marshall county and a very narrow deficit in Kittson county.

District 67-B—Comprised of Pennington, new district has two incumbent Representatives seeking reelection. They are Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls and Rep. Everett Battles of Warroad. In two terms in the legislature, Rep. Skaar has posted an outstanding record for a young legislator. He has polled well in Pennington county against strong, local competitors in past elections. Anticipating that Rep. Battles will draw strong support from his home area, and that eastern Marshall county's predmoinantly DFL voters will follow the party line, we predict that Rep. Battles will carry these two sectors by narrow margins. Rep. Skaar will have a sufficient margin in Pennington county, however, to overcome these deficits and win reelection to his third term.

Governor—Recent polls have shown Harold LeVander to be leading incumbent Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag by a few percentage points among probable voters. We believe he has a chance of winning, but we predict that Robert Short, will be elected. It is our guess that Short will poll more votes than the governor, and that it will be his strength which will actually carry Rolvaag to a narrow victory. There could be another recount in the gubernatorial election; we don't look for anyone to concede the election early.

Attorney General—on the basis of a strong and intelligent campaign, we look for Douglas Head, GOP candidate, to edge former conservation commissioner Wayne Olson. Olson is a qualified candidate and we wouldn't be disappointed if he is elected. He has been relegated to "tag-along" status by the Short-Rolvaag combine, however, and has not had the public exposure he needs. Head is also well qualified and has presented positive programs and ideas which show insight into the attorney general office.

Supreme Court—In spite of his youth and inexperience, Thomas Patrick Gallagher will ride into office on the Gallagher name, defeating C. Donald Peterson, a more experienced and better qualified candidate.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner—P. Kenneth Peterson is finally getting a break in Minnesota politics. His opponent is so bad that even his own DFL party won't endorse him. It looks like P. K. All the way.

U. S. Senator—Sen. Walter F. Mondale hasn't done enough things badly enough to be defeated in his first bid for election after being appointed to the senate post. His opponent, Republican Robert Forsythe, has picked up strength but not enough to gain election on Tuesday.

Virtual certainties for reelection are incumbents Joseph L. Donovan, secretary of state; Stafford King, state auditor; and Val Bjornson, state treasurer.

Pennington county's only contest is for register of deeds. We look for Gordon Reierson to defeat Harlow Johnson and base our prediction on the strong showing by Reierson in the September primary election.

U. S. Representative—Odin Langen is seeking his fifth two-year term and should have little difficulty in defeating challenger Keith Davison. During the last two weeks before election, Rep. Langen has been touring the district and methodically picking apart the charges which Davison has been using as a foundation for his campaign. Congressman Langen has given his district helping to make up an effective minority in the ace of a solidly organized majority which is committed to a power-hungry administration. Keith Davison is a likeable fellow, but electing him as Congressman would b sending a boy to do a man's job.

That's the way we pick 'em. Gather around Wednesday's Times for the election results and see how well we scored.

Dissent from Within

An Associated Press story recently disclosed the resignation of Frank LeRoux as general sales manager for the U.S. department of agriculture in disposing of farm surpluses. He said agricultural policies under both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations had been designed to pull down farm and food prices to court the more politically powerful consumer vote.

LeRoux showed a 64-page brochure at a news conference, in which he analyzed economic conditions and developments dating back to the depression years of the 1930's. He said that the 1961-65 period under the Kennedy and Johnson administrations were the farmers' "worst five years", and noted that farm prices had declined to 78 per cent of parity under Secretary of Agriculture Freeman.

The AP story quoted a department of agriculture spokesman as stating that the department had not yet had time to analyze the LeRoux document. "But a quick review indicates a deceptive use of figures to refute facts that cannot be refuted," the spokesman said.

In other words, the department needs time to re-work its figures and come up with percentages which will prove conclusively that farmers not only never had it so good but that even better times are coming—particularly after the next election if the same officials are returned to power.

America's farmers have been getting their toes stepped on through every waltz with the DFL, and still say when asked for the next dance. Sooner or later they are going to change partners, and dissent from within the department of agriculture by ranking officials like LeRoux are going to help them reach that decision.

And by the way, LeRoux twice run for Congress as a Democrat in the state of Washington, and was active in a 1960 campaign organization called Farmers for Kennedy.

On Retirement

Robert Naylor probably hits the nail on the head with this poem on anticipated retirement. It is titled, "Does This Answer Your Question?"

So you're sorry to hear-I'll retire next year?
(This is comment I get from a few)
And you wonder how I'm-going to squander my time,
And whatever on earth will I do?

Well, to ease your distress-and to save you a guess,
I will continue some plans that I think,
Will help me retain-a demeanor quite sane,
Without taking to drugs or to drink.

The alarm clock I'll fix-It will be set for six—
As it has been for years without number
But when the thing goes-I will just thumb my nose—
Turn it off, and return to my slumber.

In my few waking hours-I will putter with flowers—
Or with lawn, while my good spirit sings,
But when muscles say 'ouch'-I'll flop down on the couch
And remain 'til the dinner bell rings.

Now to help out the frau-I will just (just as now)
Offer helpful verbose supervision.
She will think it quite nice-to receive this advice,
Just before I turn on television.

Then, when tedium comes-I will twiddle my thumbs
And try to concoct silly rhyme,
For I hope to write verse-bad as this is, or worse,
Which might sell for a dollar or dime.

So this is my plan-and I'm sure you all can.
See the wisdom my course will entail,
Whether sober or dizzy-I'll try to keep busy-
And continue to stay out of jail.

Robert Naylor

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

In the PX, a new Second Lieutenant was standing in front of a cigarette machine, going through his pockets looking for the right change. Just then a Private walked by. "Say, soldier," said the lieutenant, "do you have change for a half?" "Yeah, I think so," said the soldier, reaching for his pocket. "Soldier, is that the way you speak to an officer?" barked the lieutenant. "Let's try that again: Do you have change for a half?" The soldier snapped to attention. "No, sir!"

Giving credit where credit is due, when it is due, is very important—A few kind words, a pat on the back or a friendly smile may brighten someones day. Try it today—tomorrow may be too late.

Those who don't think customers are important should try running their businesses without them for awhile. Make real realize that customers are very special people and should be treated as such. "Service with a smile" is an old adage often forgotten in our busy world of competition.

Davison Calls For Expansion of Tourist Trade

Keith C. Davidson, Wheaton, DFL candidate for congress, in a speech prepared for delivery in Moorhead on Monday, called for increased emphasis on the development of the tourist trade as a major industry in the area.

"The tourist trade—a major industry for our district—has lagged behind the development in other parts of our country. For years we have been content with 10 or 12 good weeks of tourist trade—while other states work for 10 or 12 month tourist seasons," he said.

"A short time ago I witnessed the beauty of the fall leaves north of Bemidji—in the heart of the now deserted tourist trade area. The breath-taking beauty of the trees was a real tourist attraction—but no tourists.

"Federal, state and local efforts to provide adequate credit planning and promotion will be required for assisting the development of tourism in our district."

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Statistics on highway accidents are awesome, and accidents don't always happen to the other person. Every driver counts. As we prepare ourselves for the hazards of winter driving, the Minnesota State Medical association recommends that every driver ask himself: "Am I fit to drive?"

Many factors can affect driving ability. It isn't just a myth that emotional stability has a significant effect on how drivers function behind the wheel. If he yells at the kids and kicks the dog as he leaves the house in the morning, his chances of driving safely are greatly reduced. Doctors agree that anger, depression or worry may all contribute to an accident if the driver is unable to keep his mind on the road.

Certain common drugs, such as cold tablets or sedatives, may dull reflexes and impair coordination while driving. If a driver is not sure how he will react to a certain drug, it's best to consult a doctor about the side effects it may have.

And don't be too sure that one drink for the road isn't too many. There is ample evidence that even one or two drinks can produce a definite impairment of judgment and coordination in many people. Drugs, alcohol, lack of sleep and tension are all factors to consider before starting out in the car.

In addition, physical disorders often impair driving ability even if they don't prevent the individual from leading a normal life. Poor eye sight, a heart condition, diabetes or a neurological disorder may make a driver a menace on the highway. A doctor can best tell whether or not driving ability is affected by a physical condition.

SCOTTY'S CASTLE
DEATH VALLEY'S MAGIC CIRCLE
California
Copyright, Ethyl Corp.

By Edward Collier

Warm winter sun and chillingly beautiful scenery are the lures of a Magic Circle auto tour over the network of roads that probe Death Valley. Once the dread of pioneers and prospectors, this bizarre land is now a hospitable place with excellent hotel and camping facilities. The Visitor Center at Furnace Creek is a focal point for information, exhibits and nightly lectures on the valley.

From here roads lead to weird works of nature: Golden Canyon, especially brilliant in the afternoon sun; the Devils Golf Course, where acres of crystallized salt have been pushed up into jagged points; Dantes View, where you can see the "high" and "low" of Death Valley—Telescope Peak (11,049 ft.), and the lowest spot in the Western Hemisphere near Badwater (-282 feet); Artists Paletta, a color symphony of faulted rocks and mud; Zabriskie Point with its eroded hills.

Heading north through Daylight Pass, the road crosses into Nevada for Beatty, a small mining town that affords a transient look at casino life and slot machines; and Rhyolite, a turn-of-the-century gold mining ghost town. From here a one-way graded dirt road leads west through Titus Canyon. At Klare Spring, a water hole of yesterday, an ingenious mechanism was rigged to a 50-gallon drum, so that a squirt of cold water was sprayed over dusty miners for 25 cents.

Another road leads to multi-million dollar Scotty's Castle; Ubehebe Crater, a volcanic abyss 800 feet deep and a half-mile wide; and "The Racetrack," where unexplained tracks of 600-pound to nut-size rocks are visible.

Jobs Incorporated Seeks List of Area Work Force

To obtain information needed by industries considering locating in Thief River Falls, Jobs Incorporated is requesting that employable people in the Thief River Falls area complete and return a questionnaire published in an advertisement in today's issue of the Times.

"Before an industry will locate in a community, it must know the work force available in that area," stated Gene Belto, chairman of Jobs Incorporated. "When this information can be furnished together with other known advantages, the community is in a much better position to invite industry to locate there. We have found this to be true from experience in our attempts to date."

Belto noted that the questionnaire is not limited to Thief River Falls residents, but may be returned by people in surrounding communities who would be willing to commute or to live in the city while working for an industry here. The group is interested in men and women who could work on a full-time, year-around basis.

It is not necessary that persons filling out the questionnaire have any special skills or training, Belto noted, but they should be willing to accept training for specific jobs in industry. They may be unemployed at the present time or employed locally or in other communities.

"Should we be successful in persuading an industry to locate here," he said, "we expect that job advantages will include work close to home, training in specialized fields steady year-around employment and opportunity for advancement. Wages would have to be negotiated between the industry and individual applicants for employment."

Belto indicated that Jobs Incorporated has been in contact with a couple of firms which have considered Thief River Falls as a possible site for locating industry. Information on the available work force is necessary to indicate to these companies the number of employees they could expect to obtain from the area.

"We hope that persons in the area interested in industrial employment will fill out the questionnaire and return it to us," the chairman said. "All returns will be kept confidential and will be used merely to determine the number of available workers which the community can be expected to provide. We can foresee advantages to the community in general and to individual applicants in

Producers furnishing Grade A milk to the fluid milk and ice cream division of Land O'Lakes creameries, Thief River Falls division, met at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls on November 8. At this meeting they decided to form a voting unit of Land O'Lakes Creameries to be known as the Thief River Falls Grade A Milk Producers unit.

Elected as officers were Albert Koop, Thief River Falls, president; Don Bruggeman, Thief River Falls, vice president; Art Weber, Fertile, secretary; Dale Svendsgaard, Goodridge, delegate; and Ray Zutz, Red Lake Falls, alternate delegate.

Wally Jordet, manager of the Thief River Falls plant, reported that sales of ice cream were stable and sales of fluid milk had shown satisfactory increases, but that butter sales were down. Cottage cheese and hard cheese sales also have shown [illegible] increases. All of the increases have been registered in face of a declining population in the area served Jordet said.

Robert Ackermann, production manager of the fluid milk and ice cream division of Land O'Lakes, told how sales of this division were up substantially, with the sales increases being reported in all products, and satisfactory increases being shown in operating margins.

Marlan Augustine, District 14 director for Land O'Lakes, told of the acquisition of the Yegen dairy of Bismarck, N.D., to be operated as a part of the Bridgeman division. He also said that while total sales volume of Land O'Lakes was down for the year-to-date, the operating margins were holding up very well.

LeVander Heads GOP in Resurge to State Power

Congressman Langen

Sen. Donald Sinclair

Rep. Andrew Skaar

ELECTED Governor of Minnesota in Tuesday's general election was Harold LeVander, Republican candidate who scored a decisive victory over Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag. The Republican upsurge also carried to victory James Goetz for lieutenant governor; Douglas Head, attorney general; P. K. Peterson, railroad and warehouse commissioner; and John Zwach, Sixth District Congressman in an upset over Congressman Alec Olson.

Radioman Second Class Durlyn H. Rux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer B. Rux of route 4, Thief River Falls, is a crew member aboard the attack aircraft carrier Bon Homme Richard.

Skaar, Sinclair, Johnson, Langen Win Area Races

New leadership in Minnesota has been assured for the next four years as a result of the general election Tuesday. Republican candidate Harold LeVander upset many polls and predictions with a fairly decisive victory over incumbent Karl Rolvaag. With 3,491 of 3,806 precincts reporting, LeVander had 619,634 votes to 555,918 for Gov. Rolvaag. The Minnesota election in general was filled with surprises.

Congressman Odin Langen showed amazing strength in the traditionally DFL area in the northern part of the Seventh District. He carried Pennington, Roseau, Red Lake and Marshall counties for the first time—winning by about 600 votes in Pennington, about 750 in Roseau, nearly 60 in Red Lake and a resounding 1,300 in Marshall. With 760 out of 898 precincts in the district reporting, Langen led DFL challenger Keith Davison by 58,937 to 35,958.

Local interest was centered in the races for state senator, state representative and county register of deeds. With all but one precinct in Roseau county reporting in the 67th District, Sen. Donald Sinclair had defeated Herman Kjos 9,980 to 6,372. Kjos carried Pennington county 2,606 to 1,564 but lost Roseau 1,419 to 2,617; Kittson 745 to 2,037; and Marshall 1,602 to 3,712.

In District 67-B, Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls gained a huge margin in Pennington and small margin in east Marshall county to trounce his opponent, Rep. Everett Battles, 5,100 to 3,057. Rep. Skaar trailed Rep. Battles by only 110 votes (1,737 to 1,847) in Roseau county—Battles' home area—carried East Marshall by 300 to 225 and gained tremendous home county support in Pennington by 3,063 to 985.

Harlow Johnson carried all but one rural precinct, both villages and gained victory in two city wards to defeat Gordon Relerson in the county register of deeds race 2,176 to 1,946. Relerson had led a three-candidate slate in the primary.

In District 67-A, Rep. Richard Fitzsimons scored a decisive victory by nearly 1,700 votes over Rep. Victor Johnson of Lake Bronson. Final count was 5,074 for Rep. Fitzsimons to 3,377 for Rep. Johnson. Rep. Fitzsimons carried Marshall county 3,693 to 1,128 and Roseau county 312 to 274 while losing Kittson county by 1,069 to 1,975.

Republicans in the state were not content to merely capture the governorship. With 3,194 of 3,806 precincts reporting about 11 a.m. today, Republican James Goetz led Robert Short by 522,802 to 500,055—a margin of better than 22,000 votes. Although returns were far from complete it appeared that Goetz would be able to maintain his lead for the position of lieutenant governor.

Douglas Head, also a Republican, dumped another member of the Rolvang-Short combine, Wayne Olson, by a decisive margin. With 2,987 of 3,806 precincts reporting, Head had 496,511 votes to 434,335 for Olson—a cushion of 62,000 votes.

As expected, P. Kenneth Peterson easily won the Railroad and Warehouse commissioner post from William Youngdahl. With 2,985 precincts reporting, Republican Peterson had 538,177 votes to 382,436 for Youngdahl.

And in another upset, John Zwach unseated U. S. Congressman Alec Olson in the Sixth Congressional district. At last count, Zwach had 72,323 votes to 69,554 for Olson.

Most other state races went about as expected. Sen. Walter Mondale, DFL, handily defeated challenger Robert Forsythe; Joseph Donovan, DFL, incumbent secretary of state, defeated William O'Brien; Stafford King, Republican, incumbent state auditor, defeated Robert Hansen; Val Bjornson, Republican, incumbent state treasurer, defeated Harlan Christianson; C. Donald Peterson defeated Thomas Patrick Gallagher for associate justice of the supreme

Tribal Council Lifts Boycott Against Bemidji

Resumption of normal relations between the Red Lake Indian reservation and the city of Bemidji was brought about Friday following a joint meeting at Red Lake between the Tribal council and representatives of the Bemidji city council and Beltrami county board of commissioners.

The tribe voted to lift the economic boycott it had imposed Oct. 25 following a radio editorial which it considered degrading to Red Lake residents and Indians in general. It followed the resignation of Bob Kohl from the radio station and from his post as public relations and publicity director of the Bemidji Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution called for the establishment of a community relations commission consisting of representatives from the Indian and non-Indian communities in and adjacent to Bemidji county for the purpose of promoting and safeguarding equal opportunity, mutual respect, full employment opportunities to all residents of the area.

The Mrs. Jaycees announced today that their two service projects for area children will soon be concluded. Under the direction of Jacki Swenson, the Stranger-Danger slides will be shown Tuesday, November 15, to area pre-school children by Ray Bren of the local police department. Mothers may bring their pre-school children to either Knox school at 10 a.m. or to Washington school at 1:30 p. m. Showings will take place in the library at both schools.

In a statement made to the Mrs. Jaycees by the principals of schools, Kenneth Swenson and William Desrocher, they said "Parents are encouraged to take their pre-school children to the showing of the slides, 'Stranger-Danger'. "We in the schools, are concerned and hope that youngsters will learn to realize the dangers involved in associating with strangers. These slides are not intended to scare the youngsters in any way, but rather to impress upon them the dangers involved".

The second project nearing completion is the selling of ID bracelets to kindergarten children and new students in the local schools. Due to the many requests by schools in the outlying towns, bracelets are being offered in those schools. This is the first time that this has been done, according to Janet Lundin, chairman of the project.

New License Tabs On Sale Nov. 15

Renewal application cards for home registrations are being mailed to owners of approximately two million vehicles in Minnesota, according to Mrs. Marjorie Hanson, deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Pennington county. The majority of owners should receive their cards by November 15, the first day one may apply for 1967 registration.

Under the law, Mrs. Hanson said, the new stickers cannot be issued until November 15. Owners receiving their applications prior to November 15 must wait until that date before making their vehicle tax payment.

Stickers will be issued for all classes of vehicles for 1967. The stickers for passenger cars will be attached to the upper left corner of each plate, front and rear. They are orange with white letters and numbers and are reflectorized as required by law.

The stickers for trucks and trailers will be attached to the upper right corner of each plate. Stickers for these vehicles are either green or, red, depending on the class.

Owners must carefully observe the instructions for attachment given on the envelope and sticker, Mrs. Hanson said. The license plate must be thoroughly free of grease, tar, wax or other foreign substance and the surface must be dry before applying the sticker. Once properly applied and allowed to set for a few minutes, the sticker is almost impossible to remove without destroying it.

Procedures for renewal are essentially the same as for 1966. Instructions are included with each application. Because of need to have a "cut-off" date for mailing purposes, some owners may receive application cards for vehicles recently sold or transferred. Such applications should be returned to the deputy registrar's office for cancellation.

Application cards for vehicles recently purchased may not be received until after November 15. If an application is not received by the time registration is desired, new stickers can be obtained from the deputy registrar by presenting the 1966 registration card. Even though an owner does not receive an application card, he must apply and pay the tax before January 11 to avoid penalty.

"Owners should bring their 1966 registration as well as the 1967 application card with them when they pay their tax," Mrs. Hanson said. "While it is not absolutely necessary to have both cards, it is desirable since the registration card will be validated and handed back as a receipt."

The local office will be open at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, November 15, for issuance of the new stickers which may be attached to the license immediately.

Warren Saetre was reelected county attorney over Jaroslav Kruta 3,041 to 2,307.

In the fifth district commissioner race, Nilo Rantanen polled 527 votes to 418 for Glenn "Bud" Larson to win the position vacated by veteran commissioner Sofus Bjertness. Flag Etiquette Reminders Given For Veterans Day

Veterans Day Friday is a special day on which Americans should proudly display the flag at their homes and places of business.

Since the flag is a sacred symbol of the freedom, equality and justice for which the United States of America stands, 4-H'ers should learn and teach others about flag etiquette, says William A. Milbrath, extension specialist, young adult programs, at the University of Minnesota.

On June 14, 1777, Congress adopted the flag of the United States. It had 13 stripes, alternate red and white, and 13 stars on a blue field. The 50-star flag of today was officially unfurled July 1, 1960. The stars are arranged in five rows of six stars each and four rows of five stars each. The seven red and six white stripes represent the 13 original colonies.

Each of the flag colors has a meaning. Red symbolizes valor, zeal, courage and human sacrifice. White is the symbol of purity, cleanliness of life and hope. Blue is the color of vigilance, reverence to God, truth, sincerity and justice.

Here are some general rules to follow when displaying the flag: Display the flag from sunrise to sunset; raise the flag briskly and proudly and lower it slowly and ceremoniously; stand erect and look directly toward the flag when pledging allegiance. Salute by placing your right hand over your heart. Men remove their hats. Persons in military uniform salute with their right hand.

Place the flag and the 4-H flag on a desk or table at a club meeting. Always place the American flag on the president's right. Display the flag in a church chancel at the minister's right as he faces the congregation. Carry the flag in a parade on the marcher's right.

Display the flag on a platform on a staff to the speaker's right. It should be slightly in front of him. When the flag is on the same level as the audience, it should be to the audience's right. Suspend the flag vertically when used over the middle of the street. The blue field is to the north in an east-west street or to the east in a north-south street.

Heinze Conducts Training Program For Supervisors

Art Heinze, occupational therapist at Northwestern hospital and consultant for Inter-County Community council's nursing home activity program, recently conducted an afternoon training session for six nursing home activity supervisors at the Pioneer Memorial nursing home in Erskine.

In attendance were Miss Ann Rolfson, overall project director, and the six activity supervisors from the following homes: Mrs. Thelma Anderson, Oakland Park nursing home; Mrs. Dave Christensen, Valley home, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Arlene Zimple, Hillcrest nursing home, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Fosston nursing home; Mrs. Verda Hole, Pioneer Memorial nursing home, Erskine, and Mrs. Helen Skipple, Good Samaritan nursing home, Clearbrook.

The afternoon session consisted of talks and discussions on program planning parties, recreation, utilizing volunteers, record keeping and a Christmas project idea exchange. Each activity supervisor brought several Christmas projects which could be made by nursing home residents.

ICC has provided funds to enlarge an on-going program at Oakland Park nursing home and at Pioneer Memorial nursing home at Erskine and to establish and operate new activity programs at Valley home, Thief River Falls, and nursing homes in Red Lake Falls, Fosston, Clearbrook and Fertile. Purpose of an activity program in a nursing home is to provide the residents with interesting and stimulating craft and recreational activities, Heinze said.

Two homes have enlarged their funds and four have established new activity programs. Fertile nursing home will start its program in the near future.

"The programs are very well received in all the homes," Heinze noted. "Many residents who sat and did nothing all day are now enthusiastically participating in some form of organized activity. One resident remarked, "I don't know how we got along without activities before. I can now do something worthwhile during the day and I sleep better at night.' "

Children's Home Society Program Is Explained

Among the agencies included in the Pennington United Fund is the Childrens Home Society of Minnesota, the states only private, nondenominational adoption agency. This society has served the needs of parentless children for over 72 years and over 8,400 children have been assisted in this long history.

The task of placing children with appropriate parents is not an easy one, and there is great demand for the services of the private adoption agency on all sides, the Society notes. Last year, more children were placed in permanent adoptive homes than in any other year of the societys existence. Yet at the same time, children could not be accepted and adoptive couples were delayed, because there was insufficient funds to support the staff necessary to take care of the great demand for service.

In addition to the many years of experience in the field of adoption, Childrens Home society meets the requirements for membership in the Child Welfare League of America, the national accrediting agency for child service organizations, and is licensed by the Minnesota Department of Public welfare.

The society is a Minnesota charity and all funds are expended for services to children, unwed mothers and adoptive applicants within our borders. Since the children to be placed in adoption are a public responsibility, every child served by the society represents a direct savings of the public welfare funds which would have been needed to accomplish this task.

Contributions to the Pennington United Fund are an investment in the lifetime security of many children through the financial support rendered the Childrens Home society and is of direct service to every citizen of Pennington county through the savings of public funds.

Chairman of the Pennington county sponsoring committee for the Childrens Home society is Orlin Green of Thief River Falls.

Directors whose terms expire include Dale Svendsgaard, M. E. Goddard, Wilfair Hallstrom, K. E. Gigstad and Merle Lundeen. Salvation Army Counts on Help From United Fund

"Around the clock, every day, someone in need is being helped by the Salvation Army," states Lt. Harold Shelby of the local Salvation Army unit. The Salvation Army is one of nine organizations which depends on the generosity of Pennington county residents through the United Fund for support of its humanitarian efforts in the area.

"There are many services available to residents of Thief River Falls and the surrounding area through the local corps at 115 Horace av. N., Lt. Shelby said. "The Army exemplifies the virtue of the Biblical Good Samaritan as it extends sympathetic counsel, food and shelter to homeless men and women.

"Its officers go into the nations prisons to comfort those who know the despair of imprisonment. They ease the unhappiness of the unwed mother by offering medical care, school and protective shelter. The Army is there when disaster strikes, such as during the floods in the area last spring, or when people are lonely or need medicine but dont have the money to buy it.

"All the hundreds of diversified services of the Salvation Army are made possible through the Pennington County United Fund, Lt. Shelby said.

State To Permit Use of Snares To Catch Foxes

Minnesota Conservation department announced today that beginning November 15 and lasting through March 31, 1967, it will be legal to use snares to catch foxes. The new regulation is considered to be experimental rather than permanent.

Two years ago the department prohibited the use of all snares because too many deer and other protected animals were being caught.

Game and Fish Director Ted Shields said that the use of light snares will allow trappers to take foxes throughout the winter when furs are prime. Foxes are difficult to catch in the regular metal traps under winter snow conditions.

Shields said that the new regulation allows only light snares to be used. Deer and other large animals can easily break them if accidentally caught.

The regulation specifies that the snare loop cannot exceed eight inches in diameter and cannot be set in deer trails or more than 16 inches above the ground or snow.

The snare cable cannot be more than one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter or longer than 36 inches. Two sticks or poles must be placed over and crossing the snare so that deer and other large animals will step over it or walk around it. Each snare must be identified by a metal tag bearing the name and address of the owner.

Special permits must be obtained from a game warden in the county where the permittee sets the snares. Anyone who violates the regulations will be subject to a fine. In addition, he will lose his permit and will not be eligible for another one for a full year.

Shields emphasized that the relaxation on the use of snares is on an experimental basis. If serious problems arise, all snares again will be prohibited.

Regulations Aid Harvest of Wild Rice This Year

Flexible nature of the conservation department's authority to set wild rice harvesting regulations resulted in more good quality rice being harvested this year than ever before in relation to the available crop, it was announced today.

Ted Shields, state game and fish director, said game wardens made broad use of their discretionary authority to liberalize or restrict seasons on individual rice beds. The result was less damage to the beds and less green rice being taken than has been the case in other years when the crop was scarce and prices were high.

In 1965 legislature gave the department its new authority. "Without the new flexibility," Shields stated, "this year's small rice crop and high prices could have resulted in a damaging year for our rice beds. We now have the authority and the experience in using it to assure proper harvests in the future."

NYC Award Given To Conservation Dep't. in State

A $1 million Neighborhood Youth corps contract that will provide work training and experience for 400 high school drop-outs has been awarded the Minnesota Conservation department.

Robert L. Herbst, deputy commissioner of conservation, said the federal government's contribution to the program would amount to $848,650 while the state's share would be $151,350.

He said the program will emphasize job training in skills that help the enrollee become a productive member of the community. Herbst said the 350 boys and 50 girls enrolled in the program will not displace any person now employed with the conservation department.

In addition to the important job training received by the enrollees, said Herbst, the department benefits from the work accomplished by the youngsters while on the job.

Some of these accomplishments include the clearing of 108 acres of public access, timberstand improvement on 344 acres, 192 acres of trees planted, 472 picnic tables built and 46 acres of campsites cleared.

The new program will add specialized work training in mechanical repair and building and grounds maintenance. It is expected that training in these skills will increase opportunities for employment.

The new contract is the third one received by the Department since January of 1965. To date there have been 4,460 young persons between 16 and 21 years of age trained in the conservation Neighborhood Youth corps program.

Conquest Barley Needed for U.S. Malting Tests

Conquest, a new Canadian blue kernel variety, was grown on a small acreage in North Dakota and Minnesota for the first time in 1966. Very limited information is available at this time in the United States on the malting and brewing characteristics of this variety, therefore, acceptability for malting and brewing has not been determined.

Malting Barley Improvement association is arranging for plant scale malting and brewing tests on 1966 crop Conquest grown in the United States. Carlot quantities of suitable quality Conquest barley will be needed for these plant scale tests.

Farmers who grew Conquest in 1966 and wish to dispose of their production are requested to send a one pound representative sample to Malting Barley Improvement association at 828 North Broadway, Milwaukee, Wis., 53202, and also advise the association of the number of bushels available. The samples submitted will be evaluated as to their suitability for the plant scale malting and brewing tests and the growers will be notified.

SCHOOL BOARD PROCEEDINGS

November 9, 1966
SPECIAL MEETING
November 2, 1966

A special meeting of the School District Board No. 564 was held at 8:00 o'clock p.m. on Wednesday, November 2, 1966 in the Board Room of the Lincoln School Building.

The following members were present: Dr. H. R. Achenbach, Robert Bredeson, Dr. George Martin, Harry Oen, Rufus Olson, Morris Owen, Douglas Stewart, and Superintendent Stakkerson. Mr. S. K. Wick and Mr. Richard Whiteman were also present.

Chairman Olson presided.

A motion was made by D. Stewart, seconded by H. Achenbach and carried to accept the following resignations: Mrs. Ruth Oen, Elementary instructor; Peter Probasco, Agriculture instructor.

A motion was made by M. Owen, seconded by H. Oen and carried to approve the following new teacher contracts:

Donald G. Johnson, Agriculture instructor; Linda Anderson, Elementary instructor.

Mr. Wick, State Vocational School Director, was present at the board's request to discuss arrangements for matching Federal Funds for the vocational construction costs. After considerable discussion and questioning Mr. Wick agreed to the following:

1. The district will receive matching funds (about $12,500) for the purchase of the vocational school site from the 1966 fiscal budget. This has already been approved.

2. Mr. Wick felt that we should wait until he gets answers to several questions from Washington before actual contacts for construction are signed. He indicated that he hoped for these answers within the next two weeks. Mr. Hankerson is to contact him before the regular November meeting (November 14th) to see if he heard from Washington.

3. Mr. Wick stated that he would make a full commitment for the 1968 fiscal year (starting July 1, 1967) and that the agreement would be signed July 1, 1967. He also stated that he could see no reason why the board should not instruct their architect to proceed with final working drawings.

A motion was made by M. Owen, seconded by H. Oen and carried to instruct the school architect to prepare final plans and specifications for bid advertising by February 1, 1967 on the new vocational school and swimming pool construction.

A motion was made by M. Owen, seconded by H. Oen, and carried to contact Twin City Testing to secure soil samples from the new vocational construction area and the new swimming pool construction.

A motion was made by M. Owen, seconded by H. Oen, and carried to adjourn at 10:30 p.m.

Signed Robert Bredeson, Clerk.
Approved: Rufus Olson, Chairman

Five Lettermen Report For Basketball Squad

Five lettermen, all seniors—Bob Brodin, Karl Poppenhagen, Neil Josephson, Wayne Liden and Larry Peterson—were available to coach Whitey Olson as he called the 1966-67 Prowler basketball squad for its opening practice session on Monday afternoon.

In addition to the lettermen, several boys were in attendance at Monday's drill who were on the district and regional tournament squad last season, among them being Doug Knutson, Tommy Tunberg, Paul Ihle and Jerome Engen. And expected to make a bid for a berth on the varsity squad are such boys as Stan Sjoberg, Nickie Drees, Dale Erickson, Dave Reeve and others who are up from coach Lee Swanson's Prowler 'B' squad of last season.

From last season's District 31 champions (and the Prowlers won the title in a thrilling 48-47 win over the Crookston Pirates in the tourney finals), Mark Stromberg, Tommy Cummings, Bruce Saustad and Jeff Gustafson have been graduated. Cummings, playing at a guard position, led the Prowlers in scoring last season with a total of 384 points. Stromberg, at center, accounted for 210 points.

During last season's campaign, which found the Prowlers winning 14 games and losing eight, and being defeated by the Ada Vikings, 50-45, in the regional finals, the local tallied a total of 1,213 points.

The first action for the Prowlers this season will be when coach Olson takes his squad to East Grand Forks on Saturday, November 19, for the fourth annual basketball jamboree to be held in the Central high school gymnasium. The Prowlers will play the Red Lake Falls Eagles at 7:30 p. m. in a 16-minute segment of the jamboree.

Pheasant Hunters Report Improved Hunting Success

Minnesota pheasant hunters enjoyed about a 20 per cent improvement in hunting success on the opening day of the season as compared with last year, the conservation department announced today.

State game managers and game wardens checked a total of 1,368 pheasant hunters who had hunted both days of the opening weekend. The survey showed that hunters bagged an average of 1.5 birds per man in the main pheasant range for the opening weekend.

In the main range, hunters averaged about one bird per hunter Saturday and 0.6 birds on Sunday. This compares with 0.76 birds on Saturday and 0.6 on Sunday last year. There was noticeable improvement in hunting success over 1965 in eastern and southeastern Minnesota as will as in the main range.

Hunting success was spotty and appeared to depend on many factors including the previous winter losses and local differences in nesting success last spring.

Game and fish division field men also reported that there were about 35 to 40 per cent more hunters in the field this year than during the 1965 opening. With more hunters afield and increased hunting success, the 1966 rooster kill should greatly exceed the number of birds taken in 1965.

Weather conditions for hunting were near ideal on Saturday but Sunday was cloudy and windy. Between 40 and 50 per cent of the corn crop had been harvested in the main range before the opening day, according to reports from the field. The 1966 pheasant season closes at sunset on November 20.

Good Deer Hunt Expected, Report State Officials

Minnesota Conservation department issued some last minute reminders to hunters planning on opening the firearms deer season Saturday.

All hunters, trappers or those assisting them must wear a cap and outer coat of a bright red or blaze orange color when afield during the season in an area open to deer hunting.

The department's chief of firearms safety, Bill Severson, also urged hunters to wear bright red or blaze orange hunting pants and gloves in addition to the cap and coat. "Blaze orange is much the better color from the safety standpoint," Severson said.

Hunters should check their synopsis of hunting regulations carefully to determine which zone they are in and the type of firearm permitted.

A hunter is entitled to only one deer of any age or either sex during the season. A hunter who bagged his deer during the bow-season is not entitled to take another deer during the firearms season.

Game officials said prospects for hunting success on the opening are good provided the weather cooperates. Rain or fog always makes hunting difficult while a light snow on the ground and clear visibility during the day provides ideal hunting conditions.

Heavy snows last winter resulted in some fawn losses and reduced fawn production in some northern counties, but hunting success is still expected to be satisfactory in virtually all of the better deer range.

Last season Minnesota hunters took a record 128,000 whitetails.

Just What the Hunters Ordered

The week's snow was just what the deer hunters ordered, and it has surely stirred the venison hunters into an optimistic mood.

Earlier reports from the prime deer hunting area, around Fourtown, Rapid River, Thorhult and Malcolm, had been discouraging. But with tracking snow on the ground, the deer hunting parties should be able to organize their drives and perhaps bring in some venison dinners. Now if the temperature would just moderate a bit. . . .

And speaking of hunting. There was considerable activity along the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers this past weekend. The duck hunters were able to get in on a late flight of ducks, mostly bluebills, but there were some mallards and red heads moving, too.

And there were some fine reports from the Union-Sarah-Maple lake area. And this hunting, too, was mostly on bluebills, with a few canvasbacks being taken.

This flurry was perhaps the last of the annual duck flight for 1967, and most the flight apparently bypassed this area or went through earlier in the week.

All in all, this season has been just about up to average. And the ruffed grouse hunting was better than expected and can be rated as being fair to good.

Speaking of the opening of deer season, Boy Scout Troop 59 at Zion Lutheran church will hold its annual hunters' breakfast Saturday from 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. in the church basement. Many hunting parties make it a point to meet for breakfast at the church before taking to the field before the sunrise opening.

Snowmobile Test

The second annual Winnipeg-to-St. Paul international snowmobile race will start from Winnipeg on January 23.

The race last year was run in February with temperatures around 40 below and through blizzard conditions. Of the 58 machines that left Winnipeg in the 500-mile derby, only 26 crossed the finish line in St. Paul.

Entries for the 1967 race are already being received from all parts of Canada and the United States. Only 100 United States contestants will be permitted to enter, while the Canadian participation will be unlimited. According to Ned Smith of St. Paul, one of the directors of the derby, "The rules this time will be a lot tougher". Contestants will be required to keep off the shoulders of the highways unless coming up to impossible obstructions. These will be clearly marked by race officials.

Machines will be numbered so as to be easily identified from the air. Three planes will monitor the route.

The snowmobile race is being sponsored by the St. Paul Winter Carnival association in co-operation with Manitoba's Golden Boy Organization.

In the Western Finals

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers football team will begin the first game of its best-of-three Western Canada finals on Sunday, meeting the Regina Roughriders at Regina. The Bombers gained the finals by defeating Edmonton, 16-8, in a "sudden death" game played at Winnipeg on Sunday.

The win that sent Winnipeg into the Western Canada finals mark the eighth time in the 10 years that Bud Grant has been coaching the Blue Bombers that his team has reached the finals.

During the season's play, Winnipeg finished in second place, with Regina gaining first place.

The winner of the Regina vs. Winnipeg series will go into the Grey Cup game at Vancouver, and will meet the Eastern Canada representative for Canada's top football honor.

Added Attraction

While the United States National hockey team, coached by John Mariucci, will attract a number of fans to Grand Forks on Saturday, November 19, and Winnipeg, November 20, when they meet the North Dakota Sioux and the Canadian Nationals, respectively, it is expected that greater crowds will be in attendance at Winnipeg on January 1 to 6.

The World Invitational Hockey tournament will be played at Winnipeg on those dates, with four teams—United States, Russia, Canada and Czechoslovakia—competing. On January 2 the United States team will play the Russian team, and on January 3 the Canadian team will meet coach Mariucci's squad. The United States team will conclude its tournament play with a game against Czechoslovakia on January 5.

Tickets for the individual games will go on sale December 13, and the price range will be from $2 to $2.50.

Pennington County Sportsmen's club will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium. The date has been changed since the regular monthly meeting date of November 16 would be in the middle of deer season.

Retailers Group Comments on Food Price Situation

At a meeting of the Minnesota Retailers information committee in Minneapolis last Monday, chairman and industry spokesman Hugh R. Cosgrove said that attempts by housewives through consumer boycotts to "squeeze the already extremely low profits in the food industry below current levels cannot bring the desired results."

"Translated into the basic economics encountered by the housewife: if the entire retail profit of all food stores, chains and independents alike, were eliminated, the consumer would save approximately one cent of each sales dollar—and the food stores would go out of business," Cosgrove continued.

"We sympathize with the housewife's concern about the increase in the cost of living as reflected in the cost of many products and services, but business firms of all types—including the food industry—have felt the same squeeze. Because of inflation, everyone is paying more to satisfy his needs, and there is no easy answer to stabilization of the inflationary spiral.

"The Viet Nam conflict and other greatly increased governmental expenditures at all levels, in an already spiraling economy, have caused surpluses to dwindle, and have accelerated inflation," Cosgrove pointed out.

He noted that many small farmers have been forced out of business, contributing not only to an end of surpluses, but a danger of shortages in many commodities."

*The Minnesota Retailers Infor*mation committee, which represents all segments of retailing, including independent and chain grocers, as well as wholesalers and suppliers, is dedicated to studying the problem of rising food costs and telling the facts about food distribution.

"We are in complete agreement with housewives that the consumer's dollar is being painfully queezed," Cosgrove said. "The food retailer is caught in the same bind as the housewife. His costs, like hers, have increased dramatically in the past year. We recognize that food retailers have the responsibility of offering food to consumers at the lowest possible price through the development of new and improved methods of production and distribution."

"We believe, however, that the ultimate solution to this serious problem must come from Washington in the form of reduced spending and restraints on inflationary pressures. It cannot be solved in the market place if a free and competitive economy is to prevail."

Rehab Foundation Offers Refresher Courses in Mpls.

The American Rehabilitation Foundation has launched a drive to relieve severe personnel shortages in phsical therapy, occupational therapy and social work by giving refresher courses to inactive members of these fields.

Housewives with training in these professions are a prime target of the recruitment campaign. overall demand for health services and requiring that nursing homes and county health agencies add one of these services to their patient care programs, is expected to push the need for additional personnel to an unprecedented level, according to the foundation.

Classes will be conducted at Kenny Rehabilitation institute, Minneapolis. All but $25 of the $250 tuition fee is covered by the federal government training grants. Allowances for living expenses are available to participants from outside the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. Length of the courses will be four weeks for physical therapists and five weeks for occupational therapists and social workers.

The first courses for occupational and physical therapists will be offered November 28. The first course in the social work series, which began October 24, was filled to capacity but enrollment is still open for those scheduled for January 16 and thereafter.

Financed by the first government grant for refresher training in these fields, the program was described as a pilot project to test this method of mobilizing inactive reserves of already trained professionals to meet rising personnel needs. The program is supported by a $46,000 grant from the division of Community Health Services of the U. S. Public Health Services.

Information on qualifications, admission procedures and dates of subsequent courses may be obtained from Mrs. Carol Vennes, Refresher Course Co-ordinator, Kenny Rehabilitation Institute, 1800 Chicago Avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Humphrey Will Speak Nov. 17 at GTA Convention

Vice President of the United States, Hubert H. Humphrey, and five top-ranking farm-state senators will be featured speakers at the 29th annual meeting of Farmers Union Grain Terminal association in St. Paul.

The big co-op ession will begin November 15 at the St. Paul auditorium, and continue through Thursday, November 17. Many farmers, co-op patrons, managers and directors from this area will attend.

The Vice President will speak at GTA's "farm dinner" Thursday evening and will be joined on the platform by Senators Milton R. Young of North Dakota, George McGovern of South Dakota and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Messages brought to the GTA meeting by these men will be broadcast over a special 27-station GTA radio network from 7:45 to 9 p.m. Thursday November 17. Among these stations is KTRF in Thief River Falls.

Senators Burdick and Mondale will address the convention during regular sessions Thursday morning. All of the senators, in addition to many other distinguished guests, will be "on stage" with the Vice President at the Thursday evening farm dinner, with a crowd of 8,000 to 10,000 expected in the audience.

Langen Commends Resorters for State Promotion

"As the cities and metropolitan areas become more and more crowded, the wide open spaces, pure air and unlimited recreational facilities of Minnesota take on new meaning and new importance," said Seventh District Congressman Odin Langen Saturday in Bemidji.

"Our hundreds of resorts and other recreation areas will be in great demand in the future," Langen said, "if we launch a new concentrated effort to sell our natural and developed reources."

Langen had high praise for Minnesota resort operators who have long promoted their areas and state as one of the nation's great recreation spots for tourists and other visitors.

"These resort people, along with local communities and state agencies have made 'the land of 10,000 lakes' a national by-word," he said, "and now is the time in our history to extend our thinking to the great numbers of people who can no longer find a breath of fresh air within their crowded neighborhoods. We must attract industry that will bring the people out of congestion closer to the recreational facilities that we can offer them. With these people will come the opportunities to further develop and expand our already excellent resort and recreational areas."

"We're more convinced than ever," Langen said, "that our great natural resources will be of even greater importance to our state in the future. Sound planning and promotion will result in untold benefits to our people, and those who will come here in the years ahead to renew their spirits in the quietness of a rippling brook, a peaceful lake, a whispering pine or a melancholy call of a crane."

Judges Listed For Lions Club Essay Contest

Roger Tunberg, president of the Thief River Falls Lions club, has announced the judges for local entries in Lions International's peace essay contest. Tunberg named Dr. A. E. Jacobson, retired dentist; Ted Hellie, English instructor at Lincoln high school; and Don L. Olson, manager of KTRF to determine the club's entry in the International contest.

The contest is open to all young people in Thief River Falls and the junior college who are 14 years of age and under 22 as of Jan. 15, 1967. The contest was initiated "to generate an awareness and understanding of peace among tomorrow's leaders," Tunberg said.

He said the contest would release the ideas of a cross section of world's youth on the most pressing challenge facing the world today.

Anyone wanting the rules and further details of the contest should contact Robert Reeve, guidance counselor, Lincoln high school.

Understanding Teens?

We have said time and again that unsigned letters will not be used in our public opinion colums. We hold with this policy without fail, but still receive letters designed for publication which are unsigned.

One of these came from the Goodridge community, recently, and the situation which it calls to attention deserves discussion. The letter notes that Goodridge boys were expelled "because they were caught drinking in the school". The writer claims to be "one of the few parents who understands or at least tries to understand teenagers".

Then, commenting on teenage drinking, the writer states: "Stop to think for a moment whose fault is this. Can we blame it on the students themselves? Is it their fault if there are people in the world—over 21—who buy or sell booze to students? We are to blame also. The students cannot get liquor without a person over 21. . .Maybe this little letter, telling you what many students have been scared to say, will make you principals, teachers and parents think before you move!" The letter is signed, "A Parent Who Understands".

Pardon us if we seem presumptuous, but it occurs to us that part of the problem is caused by "understanding" parents. The parents who acknowledges that his teenage child drinks and accepts the situtation as "part of growing up" isn't doing anyone any favors, especially not the teenager. He is rather admitting that he is failing in his role as parent through inability to counsel or discipline his children.

It is true that state law will not permit sale of liquor to anyone under 21 years of age. This will not prevent any enterprising teenager from getting it if he wants it bad enough—even to the point of stealing it from the private stock of "understanding" parents.

We must recognize, of course, that there are people over 21 years of age who will—as a favor or for a price—purchase liquor for minors. But to condemn everyone over 21 as contributing to this situation is nonsense. That is as unfair as it would be to condemn all teenagers because some are problem children—or products of problem parents.

Furnishing liquor to minors is an irresponsible act by an irresponsible person—one who has respect neither for himself nor for the youngsters to whom he does harm by his action. Young ptople—particularly high school age coung people—should be old enough to realize that they are violating the law in using liquor outside the home.

As for placing the blame on people over 21—we have yet to find a teenager who is afraid to do this. Most of them are more than ready to admit that their problems are caused by older people who don't "understand".

Biennial Headache

We're not looking for sympathy, but we appreciated the following editorial from the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

No matter who wins Tuesday's election, the newspaper editors of the state will encounter their biennial headache. It never fails, and it's always the same. For all of income the average publisher enjoys during election years, most of them will be glad to see it over.

You see, we're always the losers. The candidate who wins the election invariably did so because he is a man or woman of extreme virtue, intelligence, great qualifications, character and boundless campaign energy. The one who loses always encounters this unexpected fate largely because of the uncooperative attitude if not downright opposition of that 1 o-o-"* editor.

However, after his first few years in business the publisher acquires a thick skin as well as the foresight to anticipate the inevitabilities of the few days following an election. Phones ring both at home and at the office. Disappointed supporters confront you in the cafes and on the streets. But the experienced publisher maintains his equilibrium, diplomacy and—most of all—his temper.

Thus there will be few tears shed in the fourth estate regardless of the outcome of Tuesday's election. It merely marks the end of a trying, if admittedly profitable, time. And every seasoned publisher knows that th next few days will prove the truth of one old axiom: Everyone qualifies as an expert at three things. They can raise the neighbors children, coach the local ball club and run the hometown paper.

Overlook the Negative

Theodore A. Serrill, executive vice president of the National Newspaper association, had the following to say about the last session of Congress:

89th Congress finally concluded its labors and went home, only 17 days before the fall elections. While President Johnson could call a lame duck session after election, it is not expected.

Despite LBJ's extravagant praise of Congress, it did not do anywhere near all the things the President wanted, particularly in the area of legislation desired most by organized labor.

It did not repeal the right-to-work provision of the Taft-Hartley Act. It did not pass Fedtral benefit standards on unemployment compensation. It did not enact double overtime pay.

Nor did it pass a civil rights bill in 1966 as requested by the White House. President Johnson's assessment of the legislative record accentuated the positive and overlooked the negative.

So You're an Urbanite?

Do you realize if you live in Thief River Falls the federal government considers you as part of the urban population of the nation? At least the Bureau of Census thinks so. According to the bureau, any settlement of over 2,500 persons falls into the urban category.

And, so the U.S. Chamber of Commerce reports, the census bureau's definition of what consitutes an urban area goes further than this. Communities of less than 2,500 which border towns of over 5,000 are automatically drawn into the larger city's urban sphere of influence.

The 1960 census showed that 58.3 per cent of the nation's people lived in cities of under 50,000 people. Using the census bureau's definitions, however, federal statisticians contend that 70 per cent of the nation's population lives in "urban" America.

Dr. Carl H. Madden, chief economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, states: "The evidence is that more than half our people live in settlements of 15,000 or fewer families, participate in neighborhood groups, do not always turn to urban-type activities and seek one-family neighborhood suburban living when given the chance.",

The fuzzy thinking on urban statistics is symptomatic of our problems in developing a realistic program that would help eliminate the honest-to-goodness blight that exists in many of our larger cities, the C of C adds.

"It is imperative that we ask economic questions in forms that permit developing rational economic answers if we are to develop effective programs of urban development," Dr. Madden says.

At any rate, it is interesting to think of Thief River Falls as an urban community. We can't think of any description that sounds more ridiculous.

Guy in the Glass

The following peom by an unknown author is a good reminder for all people:

When you get what eou want in your struggle for self;
And the world makes you king for a day;
Then go to the mirror and look at yourself,
And see what that guy has to say.
For it isn't your father or mother or wife,
Whose judgment upon you must pass;
The fellow whose verdict counts most in in your life
Is the guy staring back from the glass.
He's the man you must please, never mind all the rest,
For he's with you clear up 'til the end,
And you've passed your most difficult, dangerous test
If the man in the glass is your friend.
You may be like Jack Horner and "chisel" a plum,
And think you're a wonderful guy;
But the man in the glass says you're only a bum,
If you can't look him straight in the eye.
You can fool the whole world down the pathway of years,
And you can get pats on the back as you pass;
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears,
If you've cheated the guy in the glass.

What About Society?

The following editorial from the Owatonna Photo News deserves consideration from every law-abiding citizen in our nation:

The item in Publisher Lou Reigel's column last week regarding the Supreme Court pre-occupation with individual rights at the expense of society's rights gives further rise to alarm as to what this nation is coming to.

What a blow to public safety and law enforcement morale it must be when voluntary confession of wrongdoing is inadmissible as evidence in court, according to Supreme Court decree. This tying of the hands of law enforcement officials is fantastic and unbelievable. How our society endangered from the criminal elements if the laws are twisted to protect the criminal instead of the public. How can justice be properly administered when offenders can't even admit their wrongdoings? Such distortions of the laws can only lead to grave miscarriages of justice, encouragement to criminals to become even bolder in their misdeeds, even to the point of hiring attorneys before they go out and commit a crime, and a general weakening of law enforcement morale by depriving officers of their traditional means of catching and convicting criminals.

Something must be done about the Supreme Court's obsession with the individual. Certainly an individual has rights, but when he commits a crime he should forfeit some. Society also has a right to protect itself against wrongdoing, and it makes more sense that laws should be made to protect the many against the lone evildoer rather than vice versa.

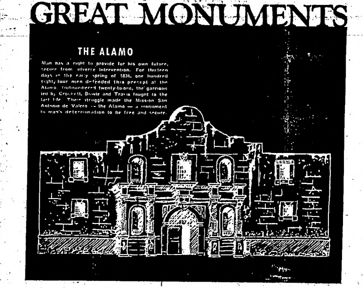
GREAT MONUMENTS



THE ALAMO
Man has a right to provide for his own future, secure from adverse intervention. For thirteen days in the early spring of 1836, one hundred eighty-four men defended this precept at the Alamo. Outnumbered twenty-to-one, the garrison led by Crockett, Bowie and Travis fought to the last life. Their struggle made the Mission San Antonio de Valero — the Alamo — a monument to man's determination to be free and secure.

Norse fishermen inspired this all-season
Thermal Underwear by Munsingwear.
Norse and other Scandinavian fishermen traditionally threw their fish nets over their backs for warmth after a day's fishing.
From this practice came Munsingwear's THERMAL UNDERWEAR for the outdoor worker and sportsman . . . made with a knit waffle pattern that traps the air . . . and prevents evaporation by lateral body movement.

Warroad Boy Is Saved After Fall From Rail Bridge

Three-year-old Danny Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Cole, slipped from the grasp of his aunt while crossing a railroad bridge at Warroad recently and toppled into the cold waters of the Warroad River channel. He was rescued a few minutes later by 23-year-old Gary Zaiser, when he jumped from the bridge after being summoned for help.

The accident happened last Wednesday at about 11:30 a.m. as Danny and his aunt, Barbara Medierpft, were walking toward home across the bridge. Barbara said they were almost across the bridge when he slipped from her grasp and dropped a step or two behind her. She said he must have tripped and toppled to the river channel below.

She ran back across the bridge to Fish Electric where she sought help from Gary Zaiser and Lyle Writht. Both men ran immediately to the scene, where they could see the youngster bobbing in the water. Zaiser removed his boots and glasses and jumped to the boy's rescue. He said he was floating face up and apparently the boy's nylon jacket lining was helping to keep his face out of the water.

Zaiser had a little trouble himself, because he was tired out from the run to the bridge, but he pushed the boy ahead of him toward the shallow water where he knew he could touch bottom. By that time Lyle Wright was under the bridge and helped to get both of them on to safe ground.

Mrs. Cole was out of town with her husband at the time of the accident and on their return home Danny told them that he had been "down there with the fishes." She said she didn't think he realized the great danger he was in, but he does seem to want to stay clear of the bridge now.

Civil Defense Meeting Slated In Legion Club

Minnesota department of civil defense and the office of emergency planning will conduct a meeting on economic stabilization at the American Legion club in Thief River Falls on Thursday. Purpose of the meeting is to aid the counties in further development of plans dealing with consummer rationing, rent and price control to be instituted in the event of a national emergency. The economic stabilization program has been an on going program for several years.

Participating in the program will be Ken Gardiner, economic stabilization director, office of emergency planning, region four, Battle Creek, Mich.; Bob Stiever, USDA state defense board, St. Paul; R. V. Aune, state emergency planning director; and Henry G. Jung, Commander of Mobile Support area III, Bemidji.

In previous emergencies the federal government has directed and controlled the total national mobilization effect and has enforced economic and resource control measures. This will still be the goal, but state and local governments must be prepared to exercise on their own authority those controls immediately necessary for an interim period in the event of nuclear attack.

State and local governments must be prepared in a post attack emergency to carry out any of these emergency actions which may be necessary, including the initiation, administration and enforcement of measures to:

Control prices and rents. Control, conserve and ration essential goods in retail distribution outlets and in certain pre-rental outlets.

County boards of commissioners and members of the county economic stabilization services, plus members of the economic stabilization boards have been invited to attend the meeting. Federal and state representatives will present and discuss guidance material that has been developed since the inception of the program.

This is the seventh meeting in a series of 3 that will be conducted throughout the state by December 16.

11 Area Farmers To Be Cited for Work with A.I.D.

Eleven farmers of Red Lake and Polk counties and the city of Red Lake Falls will receive special citations from the U. S. State Department's Agency for International Development (AID) at a ceremony in Red Lake Falls on November 4.

Red Lake Falls and the farmers will be officially recognized in appreciation for their voluntary contributions this past summer to an AID training program in farm cooperatives. Ten officials of seven African governments received on-farm and community development training in the two counties under an AID contract with the Farmers Union International Assistance corporation.

Making the citation presentations at a November 14 dinner in the Red Lake Falls American Legion Club rooms at 7:30 p.m. will be Dr. John M. Edlund, Washington, D. C., executive vice president of the National Farmers Union international affiliate.

The farmers and the Red Lake Falls area had been commended earlier by FUIAC in its report to AID on the overall three and one-half month African training project, to be continued by Farmers Union in 1966 for a second year in conjunction with the state department technical assistance agency.

Farmers to receive citations are Joe Brunelle and Robert Larson, both of Crookston; Norman Boucher, Brooks; Dona Rock and A. Donald Gagner, both of Mentor; and Lawrence Dufault, Maurice Benoit, Medy Bauchane, Vernon Gagnon, Don Ste. Marie and Don Amiot, all of Red Lake Falls.

Mayor Vaughan Thorfinnson will accept the citation in behalf of the city of Thief River Falls.

Area friends of the African delegation are cordially invited to attend the dinner. Advance reservations may be sent to the American Legion club in Red Lake Falls.

Land O'Lakes To Retire Equities Of $2,807,331

Board of directors of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., Minneapolis, recently authorized the retirement and payment in cash of outstanding patronage equities totaling $2,807,331. The cash distribution will be made in December.

This is in addition to the $2,054,733 of patronage equities which Land O'Lakes had retired and paid in cash earlier, bringing the total equity payments in 1966 to $4,862,064.

During the past 10 years, Land O'Lakes has retired and paid in cash patronage equities totaling more than $29 million.

Most of the cash payment will be made to the cooperative associations who make up the membership of Land O'Lakes in North and South Dakota, Wisconsin and Minnesota. These organizations will add their own patronage dividend payment to that of Land O'Lakes for distribution to farmer members.

The remainder of the distribution will be made directly to farmers who participate in Land O'Lakes' ownership through participating directly in Land O'Lakes egg, Grade A fluid milk or turkey growing enterprises, or through the purchasing of agricultural supplies and equipment.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

HERB'S HANGOUT

This is Herb's hangout. And Herb is "the boss!"

Here the kids report for their assignments. Here the loot is divided. Here strategy is mapped out for the next foray against a rival gang.

An alley off Grover Street . . . and while a proud community hardly lifts an eyebrow, tomorrow's underworld is growing, flourishing.

Two blocks away is old Trinity Church with its Sunday School, its Youth Fellowship, its dedication to God. What a difference old Trinity could have made in Herb's life; what character might have been molded among the boys who are now "Herb's gang!"

But Herb's folks and the parents of the other boys are among the millions of Americans who are unchurched.

Prime exhibit in northern Arizona is the Grand Canyon, one of the world's great natural wonders, which is particularly awesome when the vast red-purple walls and buttes are mantled with snow. The Grand Canyon's South Rim Drive (open all year) begins at the Desert View Watchtower, a round stone edifice patterned after ancient Indian lookouts and which offers an eye-dazzling panorama of the Canyon and the Painted Desert.

The South Rim road terminates at Hermit's Rest; a vantage point where the massive gorge seems unending. You can take a mule-back trip down into the canyon's protected floor where summer seldom leaves, in contrast to the plateau 4,500 feet above.

We followed our Magic Circle route south over juniper-clad red earth country to Flagstaff, lumbering center and headquarters of Lowell Astronomical Observatory. Nearby are the Snow Bowl winter sports area and the Museum of Northern Arizona with its well-planned Indian displays.

Sunset Crater, which erupted 900 years ago, stands amidst a purple-black land of cinders and lava. A Lava Flow Trail winds up the side of the volcano and takes about 45 minutes; points of interest are marked along the climb.

From Sunset Crater a 14-mile back country road leads to Wupatki National Monument, a 12th century ruins of one of the most impressive Indian pueblos in northern Arizona. Some of the buildings are three stories high and boast such early innovations as ventilator channels. There is also a beautifully intact open-air stone amphitheater. Another prehistoric ruins can be found at Walnut Canyon National Monument.

Questions Answered On U.S. Income Taxes

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—Are self-employment tax returns required for someone over 65?

A—Yes, they are when net income from self-employment is $400 or more for the year. This requirement applies regardless of age. The $400 self-employment income figure is a net rather than a gross amount. Income from self-employment should be reduced by whatever applicable expenses were incurred to earn it.

If a taxpayer receives $500 for hooked rugs but he spent $125 for material then the net income from self-employment would be $375 and no self-employment schedule would be required.

Q—Our son is helping out in our store after school. A neighbor told me we would have to withhold taxes from any money we pay him. Is that right?

A—In the situation you describe of a minor child working for a parent, reasonable wages are a deductible business expense for the parent and taxable income for the child.

In this situation, the child's wages are subject to withholding for income taxes but not for social security taxes.

Q—My employees have been reporting their tips to me every month. Can I withhold for the tips on a weekly basis or do I have to do it monthly?

A—As long as the proper amount is withheld, you may withhold on the regular payroll period basis—weekly if you regularly have a weekly pay period.

Q—I've just been assigned to a job some 100 miles from here. As it will last for several weeks, I'm going to commute or at least come home on weekends. Will my rent and board while away from home be deductible?

A—If you work at this job for a short period, then your living expenses while away from home may be deductible. However, if the end of the job can't be fixed within a short period or is for an indefinite period, then the job location becomes your home for tax purposes and living expenses will not be deductible.

Whether your expenses for rent and board are deductible or not depends on whether the job is temporary or is for an indefinite period. The rules for deducting board, lodging and other travel expenses including weekends at "home" are explained in detail in IRS Publication No. 463, "Travel, Entertainment and Gift Expenses," which may be obtained by writing to our office.

Q—My daughter is getting married next month. Does that mean I will lose her exemption?

A—You will if she files a joint return with her husband. However, if her husband files a separate return you may claim an exemption for her if she otherwise qualifies as your dependent. In that case, you, not her husband, get the exemption.

Q—I just received a letter asking me to mail in my medical expense records. Instead of that can I bring them in so that I can explain them?

A—Yes. Call or write the office that requested the information so that an appointment may be arranged.

Snow Is Here; Drivers Urged To Use Caution

Two inches of new snow which fell early this morning have made driving conditions in the area hazardous and resulted in several accidents in the city this morning. One mishap was reported about 11:20 p.m. Sunday when a car went out of control and struck a tree.

Police reported that a car driven northwest on Third street (highway 59) at 11:20 p.m. Sunday by Karl Poppenhagen, city, went out of control near the intersection of Spruce avenue and struck a tree. Poppenhagen was thrown from the car when it hit the tree, receiving lacerations and bruises. He was treated and released at North-Judy Komarch, city, was said to be uninjured. The car was reported to be a total loss and was valued at about $300.

Police reminded drivers this morning of the need to adjust to winter driving conditions. Reduced speed is necessary, particularly in approaching intersections.

North Central airlines personnel at the municipal airport noted that the temperature had fallen to 16 at mid-morning, following a low of 19 last night, and was continuing to drop. Lowest reading of the season was two degrees above zero on Wednesday when the high reached only 25 degrees.

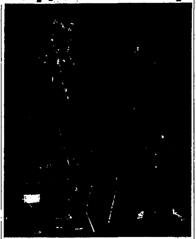
"Headin' for a Weddin'", a three-act comedy, will be presented Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium by the Lincoln high school senior class. Setting for the play is the main room of a mountain cabin in Virginia, and the hillbilly cast offers ample opportunity for laughter.

The plot involves Homer Hollowbone (Joel Winters), who has fallen in love with debutante Melissa Dugan (Debi Geisen) through a picture he saw in a newspaper. He presents himself in letters as a refined and educated person, but finds himself trapped when Melissa seeks refuge in the Hollowbone cabin during a February blizzard.

As Homer attempts to keep his identity hidden, and Slim Blairhouse (Al Shirley) determines to marry Melissa for her money, the action becomes fast and furious. With a family feud adding spice to the action, there is never a dull moment.

Others in the cast include Maw Hollowbone, Nancy Flynn; Paw Hollowbone, Dennis Larson; Sarah Jo Hollowbone, Jane Aakhus; Gracie May Hollowbone, Jo Lynn Edmiston; Frannie Jane Hollowbone, Lorray Owen; Pepper Hollowbone, Kurt Gigstad; Sis Hollowbone, Betty Gilbert; Grandpappy Hankley, Wayne Martinson; Widow Blairhouse, Paula Wedt; Bertha Blairhouse, Erin Carlson; Hortense Tood, Rosemany Dahlen; and Isabel Todd, Jodi Martin. William Jensen is director of the production with Meg Wurst as student director and John Johnson as stage manager.

Committees include the following: Suzanne Bedard, programs; Mary Walsberg and Paul Forsberg, publicity; Cathy Steitz, properties; Sheryl Mousley, Wayne Liden, Kathy Helm, Doreen Seefeldt and Susan Sorum, tickets; Al Holmberg, sets; Kathy Sorensen and Lynette Langlie, make-up.



PENSIVE Grandpappy Hankley (Wayne Martinson) gives consideration to comment by Gracie May Hollowbone (Jo Lynn Edmiston) in this scene from "Headin' for a Weddin'", the Lincoln high school senior class play. The play will be staged Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Jaycees Sponsor Holiday Lighting Contest Again

Thief River Falls Jaycees are again sponsoring the annual home Christmas lighting contest. Co-sharing the project for the Jaycees are Carl Anderson and Art Heinze.

Purpose of the home lighting contest is to encourage city residents to decorate the outside of their homes and thereby help beautify the city during the holiday season, and to give recognition to individuals who put forth extra effort.

There will again be three divisions of competition—best religious display, best non-religious display and most original display. Plaques will be awarded to the first place winners in each division; two honorable mention acknowledgements will also be made in each division.

Only individual home decorating will be judged in the contest and group projects will not be eligible for competition. Person desiring to enter the contest must notify the committee of their intentions by sending in an entry blank. Only homes that have filled out an official entry blank will be eligible to be judged. An entry blank will appear in a later edition of the Times.

Entries should be mailed to Lighting Contest, P. O. Box 53, Thief River Falls, by the December 20, entry deadline. The entrant must indicate on the entry blank in which division he wishes to compete. Judging will be done shortly before Christmas — approximately December 21-23.

Jaycees Plan for Annual Children's Christmas Event

"Operation Christmas", the annual project of the Thief River Falls Jaycees to provide a shopping tour for needy youngsters, has been arranged for the 1966 Christmas season. Co-chairmen are Stan Peskar and Dean Syverson.

A house-to-house canvass for funds to finance the project will be held on November 28, starting at 6:30 p.m. The shopping tour itself will be held on Saturday, December 10 with a gift-wrapping session and lunch to follow. Plans are also being made to provide the participating youngsters with a free movie.

"We have been extremely appreciative of the public support this project has received in previous years," Peskar said. "The fact that youngsters are being helped to select gifts for others rather than being recipients themselves seems to be inkeeping with the true spirit of Christmas. We hope that public support will again be forthcoming when we make our house-to-house canvass November 28."

North Central Boardings Total 215 in October

North Central Airlines carried 174,815 passengers in October to boost its traffic for the first 10 months to a record 1,725,171 passengers, according to Frank N. Buttomer, vice president - traffic and sales. Thief River Falls boardings were listed unofficially at 215 to bring the 1966 total to 2,099.

The 10-month total is already 108,271 greater than the record 1,616,900 passengers carried for the entire 12 months of 1965. Boardings for 1966 are expected to exceed two million passengers.

This October, Northliners boarded 18 per cent more passengers than in the same month last year. During October, 28,323,711 passenger miles were flown, 14 per cent ahead of 1965.

For the first 10 months, passengers carried have increased 28 per cent, while passenger miles are up 32 per cent. Some 4,085,804 cargo ton miles were flown during the 10 months, a gain of 33 per cent over 1965. Mail increased 54 per cent; express, 29 per cent; and freight, 28 per cent.

Since inaugurating service in 1948 North Central has carried 13,403,000 passengers and flown 2,219,000,000 passenger miles without a single fatality or injury to passengers or crew members.

County Alloted $41,472 In FAS Funds Next Year

Pennington county has been notified by Minnesota highway commissioner John R. Jamieson that it is being allotted $41,472 in federal aid secondary funds for fiscal year 1968. These funds will be matched with county road funds for improvements on the county's federal aid secondary system.

Amounts received for neighboring counties are: Marshall, $92,461; Polk, $125,033; Red Lake, $30,993; and Roseau $66,253.

The state's 87 counties will share $5,281,681 of federal aid secondary funds for fiscal 1968. This amounts to 65 per cent of the $8,125,664 in FAS construction funds available. The other $2,843,983 will be used for improvements on secondary highways in the trunk highway system.

The total FAS allotment to Minnesota for fiscal 1968 is $8,249,405 of which one and one-half per cent or $123,741, is retained by the highway department for highway planning research.

This year's 65 per cent allotment of the total FAS funds is an increase of $61,062 over the 1967 fiscal year allotment and again exceeds the requirement set by the federal government that a minimum of 50 per cent be allotted to the counties. The 1965 legislative session increased county allotments in Minnesota from 50 per cent to 65 per cent. This provided the counties as a result of Interstate construction.

Tuition Tax Levy Is Set by County Board

Setting of levies for school tuition and approval of a plan which will result in termination of Pennington county support of Sunnyrest sanatorium at Crookston took place at a meeting of the county board of commissioners last week.

The board set the school tax levy for tuition at $58,962.87 as compared with $46,066.84. C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor said the increase was due to more pupils and higher per pupil cost. The tax is levied against portions of the county which was not located in districts operating secondary schools. Transportation levy was set at $1,878 as compared with $2,839 a year ago.

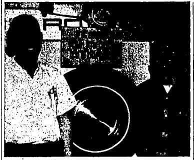
By resolution adopted at the meeting, the commissioners agreed to support the Sunnyrest sanatorium at Crookston until July 1, 1967. The county has had no patients at the tuberculosis facility for several years.

In other action, the board granted permission to Lakehead Pipeline company to cut SAR 3 just west of the south end of the Airport road in 1967. The move will be necessary for the company to complete a "looping" of the pipeline which will nearly span the county. The loop of 34-inch pipe is designed to increase the capacity of the line.

Letting of contracts on CAR 20 (range line between Silverton and North townships) and CAR 22 (Mavie road) was deferred from November 8 to February 7, 1967, at 11 a.m. Federal participation in the project has not yet been received. Final hearing on completion of county ditch 77 was set for December 6 at 1:30 p.m.

Commissioners also voted to request federal approval of a special alfalfa seeding practice through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The practice would be for seeding of alfalfa which could be utilized by the local pelleting plant.

The board also approved a call for bids on motor grader tires. These bids will be opened December 6 at 11 a.m.



NEW OWNERS of Len's Tire Service in Thief River Falls are Jack Goulet, left, and James Bjorgaard. They have completed purchase of the business from Mrs. Leonard Goulet.

Two Area Youths Hunting Victims

Two young boys from the area became victims of the 1966 Minnesota deer season this weekend. Killed when struck by bullets from high power rifles were Scott Floyd Hesse, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hesse of rural Thief River Falls; and Timmy Helteen, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Helteen of Roseau and a nephew of the Edgar Helteens, formerly of Thief River Falls and now of Antigo, Wis.

The Hesse youth was killed about 11:45 a.m. Sunday while hunting in Veldt township about six miles north and one and one-half miles west of Grygla, according to the Marshall county sheriff's department. Hesse was reportedly making a drive in a party of about 15 hunters and was in heavy cover when posters shot at a deer. One of the bullets struck the youth above the pelvis. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Sliding Funeral chapel.

The Helteen youth was hit by two bullets while riding a snowmobile near camp about 10 miles northeast of Roseau, according to Paul Knochenmus, Roseau county sheriff. The accident happened about 4:35 p.m. Saturday.

Knochenmus said one bullet hit the vehicle and ricocheted into the youth's leg and the second struck him in the point of the shoulder. He was found by a hunter from Lake City on the trail where he had been riding the machine.

A Minneapolis youth, 15-year-old Richard Helley, was reportedly shot in the hips while hunting with a party near Roosevelt. The party was apparently nearing the end of a drive when a deer jumped up at close quarters. Several hunters shot at the animal and one of the bullets struck Helley. He was taken to a Grand Forks hospital in serious condition.

City of Warren To Issue Private Liquor License

At a special meeting of the Warren city council, a proposal to operate a modern restaurant with a license for a liquor dispensary was accepted, according to M. H. Sands, city clerk.

The new establishment is to be operated by Lawrence Fournier of Red Lake Falls under the name of "The Chalet". A partner in the enterprise will be J. P. Schoenauer, a Red Lake Falls area farmer.

Fournier recently arranged the purchase of the Slides Motors building which will be remodeled extensively to house the operation. The proposal calls for an expenditure of $15,000 for remodeling and $25,000 for fixtures and equipment.

The proposal also provides that the restaurant operation will start before Jan. 1, 1968, while the liquor sale license will be for a period of one year from Dec. 1, 1966, to Nov. 30, 1967. The proposal also provides that 40 per cent of the business of the establishment must come from the restaurant operation.

Another special meeting of the council will be held shortly to make minor changes in the city liquor control ordinance and also to establish the license fee.

Fournier has been employed with the municipal liquor dispensary at Red Lake Falls. He will employ a chef for the restaurant operation when the kitchen and dining rooms are completed.

Duluth Man Heads Heart Fund for Northern Region

Charles H. Lemon, Duluth, has been appointed 1967 northern regional heart fund chairman, it was announced recently by Robert Labat, Minneapolis, state heart fund chairman.

Lemon, who served as Duluth city chairman last year, received commendation for his outstanding effort in directing a large part of the 1966 heart fund campaign. Under his direction, many members of the Arrowhead association of life underwriters teamed together with a large number of other business and professional men to help make the $27,000 heart fund goal a reality in Duluth.

In accepting the appointment, Lemon said, "Research advances of the past two decades have been outstanding. For instance, the death rate from hypertensive heart disease for middle-aged women went down 56 per cent between 1950 and 1962 and for men dropped 50 per cent in the same period.

"The Minnesota Heart association has played a key role in research leading to a better understanding of heart disease. This is why your heart association devotes so much effort to educational work among both the public and health professions and seeks to develop community programs so that what has been learned through research may be utilized as widely as possible. I hope the people of the Northern region will realize that there is a need for volunteer leadership and dollars so more will live."

Methodist and United Brethren Churches Unite

At the Friday session of the general conferences at the Methodist church and of the Evangelical United Brethren church, the plan of union for the two churches to become The United Methodist church was adopted.

Voting was as follows: Methodist—749 for union, 40 against, five abstaining; Evangelical United Brethren 325 for union and 88 against. Bishop Reuben Mueller presented the Evangelical United Brethren count to the Methodist conference. Bishop Roy Short was presiding over the Methodist conference. This vote count represents the necessary two-third vote for Methodist approval and the ¾ vote for Evangelical United Brethren approval.

Vote for the plan of union now goes to all the 1967 sessions of the annual conferences of both groups for ratification. If approved at this stage, a unifying conference of the two denominations will be held at Dallas, Tex. in 1968. The required vote for ratification in the annual conferences is two-thirds aggregate vote of the Methodist conferences and a ¾ aggregate vote for the Evangelical United Brethren approval.

3 Communities Offered Head Start Programs

Three schools of the Inter-County Community council area—Bagley, Gonvick and Oklee will have Head Start programs this coming summer. Albert Johnson, Bagley, Earl Hedman, Gonvick and Delton LaCoursiere, Oklee, met with Charles Dexter to discuss and plan the program and to start making out the application.

Deficiencies of last year's program were discussed and methods of improvement were planned. Representatives of the three schools were given delegate agency application forms to fill out and these will be used to formulate the final over-all application.

Indications are that the program will have an enrollment of approximately 150 pre-school children, which is quite similar to last summer's enrollment.

Girl Scout Services In Council Explained

Girl scouting depends upon the community for support, and, as an organization which helps girls 7-17 to become better citizens, gives back to the community in terms of service.

As a part of the nation-wide Girl scout "Promise in Action" project, Girl scouts from Thief River Falls contributed several kinds of service to their community. Among them were two projects by Junior Troop 96. The troop made toys to give to children less fortunate than they, and helped the city librarian with story-telling time for six weeks.

Cadette Troop 87 helped out at the Day Care center on Saturday afternoons. The same group of girls began this project in 1963 as Junior scouts. Senior troop 133 hosted the young Brownie Girl scouts at a "Brownie Bounce" where they passed on skills that they had learned as Girl scouts.

What makes the Girl scout program possible? In addition to support of parents, volunteer leadership and meeting places provided by the community, Girl scouting needs a council to provide services and the Girl Scout program. What are some of the council services that are supported by the 17 Federated funds and 15 Community campaigns in the 34 county area of Pine to Prairie Girl scout council?

First, the council provides office services. Good office services facilitate the work of the council and include many areas of work—telephone, typing, stenographic, services, record keeping filing, storing records, mimeographing, addressograph, purchasing, bookkeeping, processing memberships, camp applications, plus receiving visitors and providing a meeting room for small group meetings.

Ten times yearly, a council bulletin is sent to nearly 700 registered adults, to keep them informed about Girl scouting in the council. During the year ending September 30, the council office processed an average of 103 pieces of mail per working day, including badge orders, registrations, camp and council bulletins and interpretive letters to adults in Girl scouting.

Field services, too, are important to each neighborhood. A field adviser works with the neighborhood service team in each community—volunteer adults whom she trains to give direct help to Girl scout leaders in their work with girls. The neighborhood service team is headed by a chairman. Mrs. Stanley Ranum is neighborhood chairman for Thief River Falls.

A field adviser may also assist with training of leaders. Mrs. James M. Brislin Jr., field adviser for Thief River Falls, gave a training course in August at Camp Hiawatha for leaders throughout the council. She was assisted by Mrs. Ranum.

Day camps were provided to 10 areas in the council, including Thief River Falls. Although much of the work is done locally by volunteers the camp is directed by a council-trained director. The field adviser may also work with the local day camp committee.

A council provides other opportunities for adults as well as girls. Mrs. Donald D. Olson represented Pine to Prairie as one of five council delegates at the recent triennial national council meeting of Girl scouts of the U.S.A. in Detroit, Mich.

Senior Girl scouts from throughout the council are invited to participate in a central senior planning board, to strengthen their program and help them with larger activities.

The board of directors of which Mrs. Ranum is a member is the 21-member volunteer group which directs the work of the council. They are assisted in their plans by board committees in the areas of finance, public relations, camping, program services and personnel. All committees and the board receive staff assistance. Although some of the work of the council isn't in the immediate community it directly affects each person in Girl scouting. The citizenship training the girls receive in Girl scouting, in turn, benefits the community.

Brooks Girl Is Reported Missing

Cynthia Hanson, age 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hanson of Brooks, is listed as a missing person. She is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 110 pounds and has light blond hair. She was last seen at 4 p.m. October 30 in Plummer. When last seen, she was wearing a brown plastic carcoat with a white collar and dark slacks. She reportedly wears glasses but had none with her. It is possible that she is seeking work as a waitress. She was described as disturbed and despondent. Return transportation will be furnished.

Anyone with information is asked to call the Red Lake county sheriff, Red Lake Falls, 253-7255 or 253-4615, area code 218, collect.

Mrs. Bert Kron, Rt. 1, Newfolden [illegible]

The thoughts of the community have been with the family of Mrs. Anne Thompson during their recent bereavement. "Grandma" Thompson was a true pioneer of the community as she settled here in 1886, was married, raised a large family, was widowed and continued to live here until 1940. The Thompson "family" farm is where her grandson, Mike Johnson and his family now live. "Grandma" Thompson celebrated her 97th birthday last July and until the last couple of years she had enjoyed wonderful health and a sharp mind. We are conscious of the passing of much history in the death of such hearty settlers as Mrs. Thompson. Funeral services were held at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls and burial was in the country cemetery here by Rindal church.

Safety Council Issues Warning On River Ice

Pennington county safety council has issued its annual warning to parents and youngsters in the city that ice on river is not yet considered safe for play. Current in the Red Lake river is still quite swift and this makes the ice especially treacherous.

Members of the safety council caution parents to warn their children to stay off the river until the ice is considered safe for play. "It's going to be a long winter with plenty of time for play," a council spokesman said. "It could be a longer winter for some family if a youngster should break through thin ice and drown."

"Perhaps the only goal on earth toward which mankind is striving lies in the process of attaining; in other words, in life itself, and not in the thing to be attained."

—Feodor Dostoevski

Out in the Cold?

Now that Karl Rolvaag has been fired by the voters of the state, he is faced with the problem of what to do for a living. And while he is doing some thinking, there is bound to be speculation on the question of his future.

Rolvaag was a dedicated worker in the DFL party for many years. It was partly out of appreciation for his services that the party gave him a shot at the top state office. Things are a little different now. When the DFL convention dumped him in favor of his lieutenant governor, Rolvaag defied the party and struck out on his own.

Can he now expect his party to provide for him as he might have if he had conceded to the Keith forces before the primary? If he had been endorsed by the convention, supported by the full party and then defeated, he could have expected a better fate. We can remember how Minnesota voters ousted Orville Freeman, only to have him appointed U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

But Karl acted in defiance of the DFL powers. His decision to run split the party and his loss of the election kicked the ladder out from under the Presidential aspirations of Hubert H. Humphrey. Hubert is not expected to take too kindly to such insubordination.

Rolvaag still has a good following in Minnesota, but a following is of no consequence unless there is some place to go. The political road will be blocked for at least the next four years. If he doesn't get a federal appointment from the Democrat administration—which just might prescribe a few years of foreign duty for him—he will be out in the cold. And it gets cold in Minnesota after January 2—the date when LeVander is officially to take office.

A Losing Fight

Proponents of the Pennington County United Fund have been trying for years to acquire the community spirit and understanding necessary to a successful campaign. So far they have been unable to do so, and it appears that this year will be no different.

It is not difficult for campaign workers to secure contributions to the United Fund, but it has been impossible to get contributors to donate in perspective to the number of agencies involved. Nine agencies are part of the United Fund this yearr but contributors continue to give the same amounts as they would to individual campaigns.

For the past several years there has been talk of disbanding the United Fund. If this happened, the participating agencies would make separate campaigns for funds. The "Give Once—For All" theme would be lost and would in effect be changed to "Give Again and Again and Again and. . ."

Perhaps one failing of the United Fund has been its inability to get all charitable organizations to participate in it. There are many charities which conduct their own drives in various ways—and they do so because it brings them more money than they would get through participation in the United Fund. The only way to prevent this is for the public to support the United Fund and refuse to contribute to the others. This sounds blunt, but it would work if everyone applied the principle.

If you haven't made your United Fund contribution yet, give it another thought. Remember there are nine agencies participating. The goal is $17,000 for Pennington county and the drive is to officially end on Thursdae. More support is needed.

See How They Ran

General elections are now over and quite a few surprises were provided for the electorate. Our predictions received a good kick in the teeth on a few counts. There is nothing more unpredictable than Minnesota politics; unlike a woman driver approaching an intersection, politics has many ways in which to turn no matter what the signals are.

We predicted Sen. Donald Sinclair would carry all four counties in his bid for reelection. We underestimated home-area loyalty as Judge Herman Kjos carried Pennington county by more than 1,000 votes—losing only in Rocksbury township by 114 to 126. Sinclair won by wide margins in Roseau, Kittson and Marshall counties.

We predicted Rep. Richard Fitzsimons would win heavily in Marshall county and lose by a small margin in Kittson county. He carried Marshall county 3,693 to 1,128 while losing in Kittson 1,069 to 1,975. The Roseau county portion of District 67-A gave Fitzsimons a 312 to 274 edge.

We predicted Rep. Andrew Skaar would lose by narrow margins in Roseau and East Marshall and carry Pennigton by a large margin. Rep. Skaar lost Roseau 1,737 to 1,847, carried East Marshall 300 to 225 and Pennington by 3,063 to 985.

We predicted Gov. Karl Rolvaag would be reelected on the seemingly strong position of Robert Short's candidacy for lieutenant governor. Both of these predictions were wrong. Short out-polled Rolvaag as we predicted, but both lost to Republicans Harold LeVander and James Goetz.

We predicted a victory for Douglas Head over Wayne Olson for attorney general, and in this we were correct.

We expected Thomas Gallagher to ride the family name to victory in spite of his youth and inexperience, but the voters fooled us again by electing C. Donald Peterson as associate justice of the supreme court.

We predicted P. Kenneth Peterson would win the railroad and warehouse commissioner post from William Youngdahl. Peterson won easily. In fact, even Pennington county's traditional DFL vote total gave Peterson the edge by 2,000 to 1,996.

We said Joseph L. Donovan, Stafford King and Val Bjornson were certainties for the respective offices of secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer. All won easy victories.

We predicted that Gordon Reierson would defeat Harlow Johnson for the county office of register of deeds, basing our prediction on Reierson's strong primary showing. Reierson won in three city wards and the village of Goodridge but Johnson carried every rural precinct, two city wards and St. Hilaire to win 2,176 to 1,946.

We predicted Sen. Walter Mondale would defeat Robert Forsythe, and he easily withstood the GOP onslaught to win his first six-year term.

We predicted Odin Langen would have little difficulty in defeating Keith Davison for the U. S. House of Representatives. Rep. Langen won by the largest margin of his career in Congress, carrying several northern Minnesota counties which are usually heavily DFL for the first time.

. . . So we missed on governor, lieutenant governor, supreme court and register of deeds. We connected on state senator, two state representatives, attorney general, railroad and warehouse commissioner, U.S. Senator, U.S. Representative, secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer. Did you do better?

Now for the Proof

Harold LeVander, who rose from the ranks of political obscurity to win the governorship of Minnesota in a few short months, must now prove to the voters of Minnesota that he can make them "proud of Minnesota again". If ever a governor of Minnesota had the opportunity to make good on his campaign promises, LeVander has it.

After the Republican upsurge Tuesday, very little DFL officialdom remains in state office. Both houses of the legislature are conservative controlled and friendly faces surround the new governor on all sides. Here is a situation tailor-made for harmony in the passage of much-needed legislation of benefit to Minnesota.

Governor Rolvaag showed no sustained abilities of leadership during his term in office. When his pet programs were scuttled by the legislature, he counterd by using his veto power and threats of a vote to strife actions of the legislature. It is now up to LeVander to prove that he has the ability of leadership to develop proposals and guide them through the legislative process into laws of the state.

Minnesotans are not easy to please, and they don't hesitate to make a change in their state leadership. Consider the fact that the last five governors elected in Minnesota have included C. Elmer Anderson, Republican; Orville Freeman, DFL; Elmer L. Anderson, Republican; Karl Rolvaag, DFL; and Harold LeVander, Republican.

This indicates that LeVander will have to produce for Minnesota during the next four years. He is like the rookie pitcher reporting for spring training. If he shows good stuff and the right attitude he can expect to be around for a long time. If he lacks control and gets hit hard he can expect the management to ship him down. When eou're on the political mound in Minnesota, you're on the spot. If you haven't got something on the ball you get lifted. It's that simple.

Lowering Standards

"In these years when there is increasing public recognition of the importance of education, and when society is expecting more of its schools and teachers, we should be improving the standards for employment of teachers, and we also should be raising teacher certification requirements."

So states Nicholas E. Duff, president of the Minnesota Education association. "Instead," Duff continues, "we receive reports that some schools are employing teachers who fail to meet the districts' own qualifications. Other schools obtain limited permits enabling them to hire teachers without full state certification. The result of such actions is a lowering of teacher standards."

The question of whether or not state certification makes a good teacher is open to debate, but Duff makes a good point when he states: "It is amazing to the MEA that, in a time when the shortage of well-qualified teachers is becoming more apparent and critical, there still are districts which cling to Victorian standards in refusing to employ married women or persons living outside the school district.

"Our schools are too important to the individual students and to society for us to condone actions that in any way lower the standards of teaching in Minnesota."

Duff does not indicate that schools are lowering the standards of teachers rather than employing married women or teachers from outside the school district, but he intimates that this is the case. If so, we agree that this is poor practice. Children of the state deserve the best education it is possible to give them—whether the teachers are married or single, live inside or outside the district or are certified or not.

Perhaps lowering a standard to employ a teacher is better than having no teacher at all. In education, as in farming, half a crop is better than none.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"To build a great society requires a tremendous output of goods and services. It could utilize all the strength, skill, ability, talent and energy of every able-bodied citizen. Yet we are excusing more and more people from being on the contributing side and adding them to the receiving side of the economy, and the burden on the doors becomes greater and greater as we add to the list of the receivers. . . ."

PKM Electric At Warren Receives Loan of $240,000

A loan of $240,000 has been made on PKM Electric Cooperative of Warren by the Rural Electrification administration, Congressman Odin Langen announced Tuesday.

The loan will finance construction of 20 miles of distribution line to serve 150 new consumers and to make improvements on the system, including conversion of three miles of existing line and related facilities.

PKM Manager Robert Graham said the loan funds will be used over a span of years mainly to bring system improvements to existing customers. These improvements will be reconducting of existing major circuits to enable lines to carry more loads and tying in of these circuits to new substations. Some funds will also be used for additional and higher transformer capacity and low voltage line capacity at consumers' premises.

On completion of the facilities provided for in this and prior REA loans, PKM will serve 3,881 consumers over 2,150 miles of line in Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties.

60 Feeder Pigs Killed in Fire Near Greenbush

The barn at the Sam Shafer farm one mile east of Grenbush was recently destroyed by fire and 60 feeder pigs were lost in the blaze.

The women of the family were going to eat when they noticed the smoke and called in the alarm. The men were not home at the time.

About the same time, apparently, Arnold Smith noticed the smoke from the edge of town. When he reached the farm, he drove the tractor away from the barn and then threw the bales which had caught fire from sparks away from the rest and saved the pile of bales.

The Greenbush Fire department answered the call. The fire was out of control, but they disconnected the wires, helped round up pigs and helped to protect the other property.

Wendorff Joins Union State Bank

Wendorff was raised on a farm near Hutchinson. He now resides at 116 Conley av. N. with his wife and two-year old son.

In Quest of Venison

Made my annual pilgrimage on Sunday to the deer camps in the Fourtown, Malcolm, Grygla and Rapid River areas, delivering the Trib. for Bob Carlson. All of the camps had venison hanging, but it was evident that the deer weren't as plentiful as in previous seasons. The severe winter, and the heavy snow this past spring, proved disastrous to the deer herd. The losses, through starvation and by the attacks by wolves, must have been considerable. Many of the hunters, reported seeing wolf sign, and it may be that the wolves moved into the area when the deer became weakened by starvation and lacked mobility because of the heavy snow.

Stopped at the Si Hanson - Len Furuseth - Norris Ace trailer camp to deliver some groceries. It appears that Si and Ross Hanson and Len and Jon Furuseth, in their hurry to get to camp on Friday, forgo such staples as bacon, etc. And they also forgot their camp sign which states that their hunting camp is located 2830 miles north of Miami, Florida. And that's perhaps true enough, as they have their camp about a mile or two from the headwaters of the Rapid river.

The most plush camp, perhaps, was the V. F. W. camp located about seven miles east of Grygla. This camp, under the supervision of Morris (Mouse) Efteland, is set up in a house that is in good repair—carpets, furniture, etc. And the larder was well-stocked, even having a supply of lettuce and celery. The green stuff is apparently for the pudgy boys in the camp, such as Harlan and Jimmy Huseth, Am Wysoski, Mouse, and a couple others.

The Skomedal - Rupprecht - Klungness camp had four deer hanging from the meat pole by Sunday noon. The camp had just finished dinner and started on a drive when I called in there, and going the kitchen chores washing dishes, etc. were Mrs. Rich (Sharon) Jorde and Mrs. Curtis (Ellen) Bottem. This camp for many years had Lars Ose as the "man in camp" and he always had the coffee pot warm, the spuds peeled and the dishes washed. To keep a deer camp in neat order isn't easy.

It's the camp life that makes or breaks a deer hunting season, and it is perhaps the prime attraction that lures the hunters into "wilderness".

Most of the hunters looked with favor on the snow that covered the territory (and it was heavier up there than around here), but they did complain of the below zero weather that prevailed on Saturday morning. The posters were well-chilled after a couple of hours on Saturday morning and the warmly-clad drivers were nearly steaming from their efforts in moving the deer. It is hoped that the weather will moderate this week.

All-Star Teams

Coach Howie Emerson's Warren Ponies, champions of the Pine-to-Prairie football conference, placed four players on the circuit's All-Star team. Named to the team from Warren were Bruce Ranstrom, a tackle; Dick Engelstad, quarterback; Alan Peterson, halfback; and Duane Fillipi, a tackle. Other boys gaining the All-Star roster were Dean Vilmo, John Kroshus and Mike Eggen of Ada; Scott Kleven of Red Lake Falls; Al Brusven, Roy LaVoy and Tom Honek of Mahnomen; and Greg Holmvik of Fertile. Repeaters from last season's All-Star team were Ranstrom, Vilmo and Kroshus.

The Oklee Bobcats, the Middle River Skippers and the Plummer Cardinals each placed four players on the North Tri-County All-Star football squad. The runnerup Skippers placed Gary Tanner, Larry Korpi, Quent Johnson and Wayne Ruud to the squad; while the Plummer team provided such players as Alan Peterson, Duane Walter, Bob Martell and Bob Seibel.

Alerting All Points

With the snowfall that has occurred here, and with the temperature reading at zero and below, Al Holzknecht is prepared to leave for his winter quarters at Sun City, New Mexico. But before he leaves he has considerable unfinished business to complete, and some of the boys have become so worried that they have issued an unofficial "alert" to the air line, the railroad and others to prevent Al from leaving town!

This past week Al became a cropper on his election predictions. He had Paul Douglas to Beat Charles Percy in Illinois; he had Robert Duncan to beat Mark Hatfield in Oregon; he had Karl Rolvaag to beat Harold LeVander in Minnesota; and I'm not sure but that he had Goliath to beat David.

Al lost all these modest wagers, and his ledger for the year looks about like a seed catalog! Al, you will recall, it the owner of the will recall, is the owner of the ping".

Council Accepts EDA Grant of $369,500

Acceptance of the Economic Development administration grant of $369,500 and action on parking on Eighth street took place at a meeting of the Thief River Falls city council last week.

The EDA grant to the city is to assist the city in providing water and sewer service to the new junior college and vocational school sites and to a proposed industrial park south of the Pennington county fairgrounds. William Fahey, city clerk, was instructed to request a supplemental grant from EDA under terms of the original request which was for 80 per cent federal funds. The grant of $369,50 was for 50 per cent of proposed cost.

Water and sewer service to the junior college and vocational school sites requires crossing the river at the extension of Oak avenue. Service to the southeast residential area for expansion there would also be included, eliminating the problem of river crossing below the dam where existing lines are now inadequate.

Total project cost has been estimated at $739,000 with the city to raise its share through general obligation and special assessment bonds. While federal funds are offered on a matching basis, special assessments recovered would be used to recover a portion of the city's share of the cost.

The council took action at the meeting to eliminate parking on the north side of Eighth street between Horace and Atlantic avenues. Parking on both sides of the streets creates a hazard due to the large amount of truck traffic in this area, the council said.

Aldermen Robert Carlson and Dr. A. E. Jacobson returned $300 each to the city for overpayment of salaries for 1966. Letters accompanying the checks to the city noted that the money was being returned due to the overpayment and that no salary would be drawn by them for October through December of this year. The council had acted in error by raising salaries above the statutory maximum beginning January 1 of this year. Robert Wurst, city attorney, had advised the council that the overpayment could be re-

Cropland Adjustment Program Is Announced

Cropland adjustment program for 1967 is geared to the changed need for agricultural production, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The program aims at surplus crops and those which could quickly become surplus—cotton, peanuts, tobacco and feed grains.

Minnesota has received an initial allocation of $2,255,000 for the 1967 cropland adjustment program, the chairman said, and the signup of farmers who wish to take part next year will started Monday.

The "Greenspan" provisions of the program will continue to help state and local governments acquire cropland for nonfarm uses such as preservation of open spaces and natural beauty, wildlife habitat, recreation and the prevention of air and water pollution, Knutson said.

The chairman pointed out that, nationally, about 30-35 million base acres can go back into production under the 1967 wheat and feed grain programs along with more than two million acres from expiring conservation reserve contracts. He cautioned however, that there is still need to prevent over-expansion of acreage in some crops in order to avoid returning to costly surplus buildups.

For 1967, CAP provides generally higher rates (except for cotton) for putting cropland not presently needed for agricultural production longterm agreements—five to 10 years. These rates reflect the improvement in commodity prices.

Adjustment payment rates in Minnesota for land that would otherwise produce corn and grain sorghum will range from 45 to 48 cents per bushel for corn and a flat rate of 39 cents a bushel for grain sorghum. The payment will be determined by the number of acres and the farm yield per acre.

After placing all of the acreage of one or more of the above crops or tame hay in the program (except acreage for home use of corn), farmers may include other row-crop and small-grain acreage. Rates for this other cropland in Minnesota—including that for wheat, rice and barley—will range

William Zavoral Home at Thorholt Burned Monday

Fire destroyed the William Zavoral farm home located at Thorholt about 20 miles east of Grygla Monday morning with only the shell of the building left standing, according to Mrs. W. A Levorson, Times Grygla correspondent. Most of the furnishings were removed, she said, but suffered smoke and water damage.

The fire apparently started in the attic of the house and was believed to be caused by faulty wiring. A number of deer hunters in the area as well as neighbors assisted in fighting the fire and removing the furnishings, and the Grygla fire truck went to the farm but arrived too late to prevent extensive damage.

Mrs. Levorson said the Mr. and Mrs. Zavoral are staying at the Tom Webster home until other living quarters can be obtained. The loss is said to be partially covered by insurance.

$2 Million School Budget Adopted for First Time

Expect Local Tax To Rise 12 Mills To Pay Increase

Adoption of an operational budget in excess of $2 million for the first time in history took place at a meeting of the Thief River Falls board of education Monday evening. Based on current valuations, the budget is expected to require an increase of 12 mills in the school district levy for 1966-67, according to M. R. Hankerson, superintendent of schools.

Total expenditures are estimated at $2,053,555—an increase of $56,935 from the 1965-66 budget of $1,996,619. Actual disbursements for the past year were $1,945,850. The increase projected for 1966-67 will be 2.8 per cent over the past year's budget figure.

In addition to the $2,053,555 figure are federal programs of $70,580 which would bring the grand total of disbursements to $2,124,135. Federal programs are nearly 100 per cent reimbursed, however, and are primarily for supplemental programs of the district.

While the immediate assumption would be that building programs have caused the increase, the budget would prove such an assuption to be false. Debt redemption budgeted for 1966-67 is $177,100—a decrease from $186,500 budgeted for the past year. Small increases in nearly all departments and comparatively large increases in salaries for instruction and food services combine to provide the larger budget total this year.

Salaries for instruction total 52.67 per cent of the total budget at an estimate of $1,118,910. This is an increase from $1,096,650 budgeted for last year but considerably above the actual disbursement of $1,063,427 for instructional expense in 1965-66. The bulk of this increase is caused by additional teachers in the school system, with the remainder due to salary increases.

Local taxes are expected to take a big jump in 1966-67. The budget calls for $693,400 to be raised in local taxes as compared with $629,900 last year. Other income budgeted includes $9,800 from tuition, $42,800 in local revenue receipts, $106,500 from county revenue, $1,102,000 from state revenue, $63,360 in federal aid, $5,750 revenue from other districts and $92,800 from food services. Total income budgeted is $2,131,610.

By shaving $20,000 from the anticipated surplus at the end of the school year, the board held the projected mill levy increase to 12 mills. The levy has remained quite constant for the past several years. Levy on agricultural property was 134.4 mills in 1963-64, climbed to 137.2 mills in 1964-65 and remained the same in 1965-66. For 1966-67 it is expected to climb to 149.2 mills. Non-agricultural property was taxed at 159.4 mills in 1963-64, rose to 162.2 mills in 1964-65 and 1965-66 but will jump to 174.2 mills in 1966-67. Mill levy projections are based on last year's valuation of the district.

Victor Charles Attends Meeting At University

Victor Charles, dean of Thief River Falls state junior college, recently attended a conference at the University of Minnesota on "Operation: Second Chance."

The conference dealt with the ways in which colleges and vocational - technical schools throughout Minnesota can better serve "the mature women"—the women who wants to continue her education after an interval of some years, usually for rearing children.

The conference was sponsored by the Minnesota planning and counseling center for women, which is a continuation of the nationally known "Minnesota Plan" that was begun experimentally at the University of Minnesota in 1960. Purpose of the conference was to inform the delegates about the women who are returning for further education and to encourage the counselors to do something on their own campuses to identify and help such women.

Women within commuting distance of any public or private college or junior college in the state, or any vocational - technical school, are urged to call or write to its counseling staff to inquire about "continuing education for the mature woman," and to ask what services are available or are being planned. Or they may write for information to Miss Catherine Warrick, state coordinator for "Operation: Second Chance", Minnesota Planning and Counseling Center for Women, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, 55455.

DESTROYED in a fire early last night was Jack's Foundry at Middle River. The fire was believed caused by an overheated wood stove in the living quarters of the building while the owner, Jack Rybokowski, was uptown. In one photo above, Rybakowski is shown with the remains of a Cordavox which was hand-made in Italy and valued at more than $2,000. Tools and equipment as well as personal belongings were lost in the blaze.

Gonvick Firm To Push Sunflowers For NW Minnesota

Northwestern Minnesota may have acres and acres of oil fields to bolster the farm economy, according to Mel Stolquist, manager of Sun Plant Products, Inc., of Gonvick.

A bright future is in store through the introduction of a Russian variety of sunflower seed which has oil yields of 43 per cent.

Stolquist attended an International Conference on Sunflowers at Morden, Man., Canada last summer and learned much of the raising of sunflowers in Russia where they are a major oil crop. In addition to agronomists and researchers from all over the world, there were two scientists from Russia at the conference. Through work done on some sunflower varieties in Russia, oil yields are reported as high as 56 and 57 per cent oil.

Some Russian varieties have been imported and are now being raised as seed stock in his country. Sunflowers are a native North American continent plant, however, they have been neglected until recent years in development. Now a great interest in the plant as a source of edible oils has been demonstrated by several of the nation's large firms and a number of leading plant scientists.

Sun Plant Products reports outstanding success with the Parodovik strain, according to Solquist. He notes, for example, a seed stock planting by Arnold Stenberg near Oklee produced well over 1,500 pounds to the acre of the oil seed variety, producing a product of about 43 per cent oil. That will mean roughly 600 pounds of oil per acre, Stolquist pointed out. Soybeans, now the major crop in the Minnesota-North Dakota area yield only about 260 pounds of oil per acre on the national average of 24 bushels per acre.

Stolquist says sunflower production with the new oil varieties can now compete favorably with all crops raised in the area and in most cases produces a higher per

Fire Destroys Jack's Foundry At Middle River

Apparently caused by an overheated wood stove, fire destroyed Jack's Foundry at Middle River early Tuesday night. Jack Rybakowski, owner and operator of the foundry, told the Times today that he had checked the wood stove shortly before going uptown but that an east wind apparently blew the fire into the living area of the foundry.

While it is impossible to determine the loss at the present time, Rybakowski said he would estimate it at about $6,000. Lost were tools and equipment, clothing, some records, two guns, and all personal belongings. Destroyed also were several musical instruments including a Cordavox which was hand-made in Italy and valued at well over $2,000.

Rybakowski's father started the foundry in 1946 and operated it until his death seven or eight years ago. Jack learned the trade with his father and continued the business of making castings from several different metals.

After the initial cleaning up is completed, Jack plans to rebuild the charred portion of the building. He gave much praise to the Middle River fire department for containing the blaze which had made considerable headway when the firemen were called. A truck from Thief River Falls was also called to the scene but was not needed to extinguish the blaze.

Rybakowski also noted that he had been deer hunting earlier in the day and had only his rifle and the clothes he wore out of the building when the fire started. When he went to get his rifle from a friend's car, he found that it had been stolen.

Second reading of the ordinance to annex the junior college property to the city of Thief River Falls was held following the addition of 11 acres of property purchased from Alfred Longren and which had not been included in the original ordinance. Annexation will take place following the third reading and official publication.

A service connection charge of $2,188.08 was levied against Anda Apartments on State avenue. The department building had been granted extension of city water and sanitary sewer service and annexed to the city, and the service connection charge was levied in lieu of assessments.

Dr. Jacobson was authorized to investigate the possibility of using several of the city's riding mowers as snow blowers to clean residential area sidewalks this winter. The plan will be tried on an experimental basis this year with public sentiment and total cost to determine the feasibility of the plan.

Announce Program For Cropland Adjustment Here

from an average of $6 to $9.10 per acre.

In addition to the adjustment payment related to the value of crops normally produced on the land, participants will also be eligible for conservation cost-sharing on land put under the program. All of the land taken out of production will be put to conservation uses. Wildlife plantings and conservation measures which preserve open space and enhance natural beauty will continue to be emphasized. Other practices authorized for cost-share assistance will prevent erosion or air and water pollution and provide better outdoor recreation.

The program should be of particular benefit to farmers who want to retire or take jobs in industry, or for other reasons want to change their production pattern, Knutson added. The program provides a means by which they can shift their land into new uses and at the same time apply needed conservation measures for long-time benefit to the land.

Details on how the program may apply to an individual farm will be available in the ASCS county office later this month.

Sunflower Firm At Gonvick To Contract Acreage

acre income than any other crop now raised in this immediate area.

Sunflowers, Stolquist noted, can be planted and cultivated with any row crop machinery up to harvest.

One advantage of growing the high-oil sunflowers is that farmers will have a guaranteed market. Sun Plant will contact with growers to pay them for seed at established guarantees, plus giving bonuses for premium seed weights.

Grain people point to the ever-increasing world demand for soybeans as a stimulant for the new sunflower crop. The sunflower oil, they say, is of higher quality than soybean oil and can be used for the same purposes.

Stolquist said the meal left after the oil is taken out consists of more than 40 per cent protein. Sun Plant will use this meal for animal feed.

The firm figures it will have little difficulty marketing the high quality oil and meal. Hulls will also be used in a processing idea exclusive with Sun Plant Products, says Stolquist.

Early in the year Sun Plant Products will hold meetings in Northwestern Minnesota to explain its program to prospective growers. The plant is in the process of building a huge oil extraction facility at Gonvick through government and private capital investment.

$2 Million Budget Approved Monday By School Board

dollars per pupil unit this year," Supt. Hankerson said, "and this is not nearly enough to cover our increased costs. While the local tax increase may seem large, it is not as much as some neighboring districts which face increases of up to 30 mills this year. Unless the state legislature increases its state aid to somewhere around 50 per cent of cost, many districts with low valuations will find themselves in deep trouble in a very short time."

Comparative budget figures on items of major expenditures for 1965-66 and 1966-67 include the following: General administration, up from $49,750 to $53,675; salaries for instruction, up from $1,096,650 to $1,118,910; textbooks, up from $14,500 to $17,500; library, up from $10,300 to $11,185; instructional expense, up from $99,000 to $114,500; auxiliary services, up from $22,598 to $25,000; transportation expense, up from $77,439 to $79,620;

Also expenses for operation of plant, up from $210,756 to $214,650; repair and upkeep of plant, down from $34,350 to $32,250; fixed charges, up from $17,225 to $52,300; community services, down from $21,150 to $19,050; food services, up from $88,900 to $109,100; capital outlay, down from $62,300 to $57,400; and debt redemption, down from $186,500 to $177,100.

The 1966-67 budget is estimated to produce a balance of $179,044 as of June 30, 1967. This would include a balance of $151,595 in the general fund, $943 in the capital outlay fund and $26,505 in the debt redemption fund.

Other Business

The board also approved a resolution requesting the city council to annex to the city the site purchased by the school district for construction of the new vocational-technical school. A one-year lease with the Union State bank at 50 per month was also approved for office quarters for the vocational school's agriculture office which has been moved out of the county courthouse.

After discussing fuel cost estimates with Richard Whiteman of the architectural firm of Jyring and Whiteman, the board decided to build the new vocational-technical school on the basis of using a firm supply of natural gas. The decision was necessary so that plans and specifications could be completed by the architects prior to calling for bids on construction.

Several different types of pool construction were also discussed, and the architect was instructed to proceed on plans for the indoor swimming pool addition to Franklin junior high school on the basis of the most practical and economical type of construction.

Following his marriage to Anna Tvedt on Sept. 27, 1901 in Garnes township, the couple farmed there for three years before homesteading in Mayfield township. Mr. and Mrs. Asbjornson farmed in Mayfield township until they retired in 1945 and moved to Thief River Falls to make their home.

Several Traffic Accidents Noted In Police Report

Several traffic accidents with extensive damage were reported in the city during the past week, according to the Thief River Falls police department. Several drivers were charged with traffic violations.

Last Wednesday a car driven east on Fourth street by Robert Johnsrud, Goodridge, struck a car driven north on Horace avenue by Edwin Eggen of Kelliher at about 6 p.m. Eggen suffered bruises and cuts from flying glass. Damage was estimated at $325 to the Johnsrud car and $350 to the Eggen vehicle.

On Thursday at 11:30 a.m. a car driven east on Fourth street by Jack Smsky, St. Hilaire, was struck by a pickup driven by Clarence Arneson, city, which was backing from an angle parked position on Fourth street between LaBree and Horace avenues. Damage was estimated at $250 to the Smsky car and $10 to the pickup.

At 10:45 p.m. the same day a car owned by Vernon Kappes, city, was struck from the rear when parked on the 800 block of Tindolph av. S. The second vehicle then left the scene of the accident. A police officer enroute to the scene apprehended Ralph Ekerdalen who was charged with careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He appeared in municipal court Monday. Damage was estimated at $300 to the Kappes car and $75 to the Ekerdalen vehicle.

Investigation by the police department Friday resulted in the apprehension of Larry Sletten, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. A school crossing sign at the intersection of Third street and Mussey avenue was noted as having been knocked down by a vehicle. Clues investigated resulted in the arrest of Sletten, who appeared in municipal court Monday.

At 4:45 p.m. Sunday a car driven by Steven Lehr, city, stopped for the sign protecting highway 32 at the south end of Duluth avenue and them attemped a left turn, striking a car driven by John Arnesen, Fargo, N. D. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Arneson car and $75 to the Lehr vehicle with Lehr cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

An Inkling

The basketball coaches and fans in District 31 will get an inkling, and that's all it will be, as to the caliber of players in the district on Saturday evening when the fourth annual jamboree is held in the East Grand Forks senior high school gymnasium.

The five 'games' on the schedule, with the district's A teams playing the sub-district teams, will give the coaches and fans an opportunity to see the material that is available to the respective squads.

The Prowlers of coach Whitey Olson are the defending district champions and I imagine Craig Johnson of Crookston, Howie Emerson of Warren, Larry Selk of East Grand Forks, to name a few, will look with interest as the locals meet Red Lake Falls in a 16-minute 'game'.

The Prowlers will be without the services of senior letterman Karl Poppenhagen for Saturday's jamboree, and for at least several weeks following. Karl was in a car mishap last week and he will undergo surgery on a knee to repair an injured cartilage. The Prowlers will miss Karl and his competitiveness.

In drills this week on the local court coach Olson has had rangy Doug Knutson at center, Neil Josephson and Jerry Engen at the forwards, and Bob Brodin and Larry Peterson at the guards. Wayne Liden and Tommy Tunberg have worked at the guards, and they will surely see action against the Eagles. Stan Sjoberg, Brian Nelson, Paul Ihle, Dave Reeve, Dale Erickson and others have been given 'varsity' drills.

While Crookston Central lost such players as Norm Newell, Doug Sorenson, Mark Higgins, Steve Johnson and LeRoy Reitmeier through graduation, coach Craig Johnson, the former Concordia college star, has such boys as Ron Mutcher, Bruce Campbell, Scott McFarlin and Keith Peterson on hand.

East Grand Forks lost their fine shooting guards, Gary Winkka and Rich Anderson, via graduation, but Larry Selk will have Kim Krostue, one of the district's finest all-round athletes, as the returning center, and the Green Wave's chief scoring threat and ablest rebounder. The Green Wave could be a threat.

The Warren Ponies lost some fine basketball players when Pete Gilbert, Lee Hoaas, Dave Knutson, Jim Rogalla and Larry Peterson graduated, but Howie Emerson, who has taken over the varsity coaching duties, will have the Johnson twins, Bruce and Brad, Bruce Ranstrom, Dick Engelstad and Alan Peterson on hand. Ranstrom and Peterson, and Jerry Knudsen, are about six-feet two-inches tall, and should provide the Ponies with backboard strength.

Perhaps the team to be listed as a 'dark horse' will be the Climax Vikings. From last season's district tournament squad the Vikings lost but three players—Tom Christofferson, Greg Lund and Jerry Tronnes—and Climax will have Bill Keller, a four-year veteran, setting up the plays from the back court. And Brian Amundson will be back to pair up with Keller, giving the Vikings as fine a guard combination as there is in the district.

The district jamboree begins at 6:45 p.m. on Saturday, with Warren meeting Fisher. The Prowlers will play Red Lake Falls at 7:30 p.m.

Needed: A Rally

Coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers football team lost the opening game of their best-of-three series with the Regina Roughriders on Sunday, dropping a 14-7 decision. The Bombers, if they are to remain in contention for Canada's Grey Cup, will have to defeat the 'Riders at Winnipeg this evening, Wednesday, and again at Regina on Sunday. It will be quite a task.

Grant, the former University of Minnesota all-round star, has had remarkable success in developing the Blue Bombers into title contenders. And he has directed the Winnipeg team to several Grey Cup titles, but the 'Silver Fox', as he is called, will have to pull a few tricks out of his hat if the Bombers are to get past the 'fired up' Regina club. Regina hasn't been in a Canadian football final since 1951, and odds are that the 'Roughriders will take the series and go on to Vancouver and the finals.

SUCCESSFUL hunters were not too numerous on the opening weekend of the deer season, but these two hunters were among the elite who brought home the venison. John Ness, left, and Elmer Syverson of Thief River Falls were back in town by mid-morning Saturday with a buck and doe to fill their tags. The deer were taken about a mile and a half north of headquarters on the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge. Syverson told the Times that it was 8:25 a.m. when the two men had dragged their deer together and were ready to pack them out to the car.

34 Boys Report For Cage Drills At Newfolden HS

Thirty-four boys reported to head coach Arnett Luhning and his assistant Dale Gunderson as the Newfolden Nordics opened basketball practice last week.

Fifteen players, including three senior lettermen—Lyle Hagenbeck, Glen Odberg and Jon Sorenson—are working out with coach Luhning's varsity squad. Other seniors reporting are Byron Westman, Lyle Olson and James Hodny. Eight juniors have moved up from last season's 'B'squad—Van Swanson, Gerald Nelson, Jack Halvorson, Jeff Merell, Donald Larson, Dave Myhrer, Clyde Sorenson and Jim Nelson. The lone sophomore on the squad is Delund Elseth.

First action for the varsity squad will be on Tuesday, November 22, when the Nordics participate in a basketball jamboree at Argyle. The first scheduled games for the varsity and 'B' squads will be at Lancaster on Tuesday, November 29.

Early Hunters Fined $1,400 for Transporting Deer

Four hunters who apparently took two deer a little early last weekend found the experience to be quite expensive. The four men paid a total of $1,400 in fines in district court at Warren Monday afternoon.

Apprehended by state game wardens about 1 a.m. Saturday, the four men were charged with transporting big game out of season. They appeared in justice court in Warren Saturday, waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to district court. All pleaded guilty to the charge and Judge H. O. Chommie presided at the court session.

Dewein Lappegaard, St. Paul, driver of the car which contained the deer was fined $500 or sentenced to 120 days in jail. Fined $300 or sentenced to 90 days in jail each were Thomas Lynch, St. Paul; Charles Kiesow, Goodridge; and Paul Kiesow, Goodridge. All made arrangements to pay the fines imposed.

Prowlers To Open Cage Season at Annual Jamboree

The 1966-67 basketball season will open on Saturday evening when, at 6:45 p.m., the fourth annual District 31 basketball jamboree will be played in the senior high school gymnasium in East Grand Forks.

Ten teams will participate in the jamboree, with the district's Class A teams meeting the sub-district teams. Playing time for each game will be 16 minutes, consisting of two eight-minute periods. The total score of the five games will indicate the winner, district or sub-district, And there will be a 10-minute intermission between games.

The game schedule for the jamboree is as follows: (with the district Class A teams listed first) Warren Ponies vs. Fisher Flyers, 6:45 p.m..; Thief River Falls Prowlers vs. Red Lake Falls Eagles, 7:30 p.m.; Crookston Pirates vs. Oslo Bobcats, 8:15 p.m.; Climax Vikings vs. Plummer Cardinals, 9 p.m.; and the East Grand Forks Green Wave vs. Goodridge Huskies 9:45 p.m.

In last year's jamboree, coach Whitey Olson's Prowlers scored a 29-16 win over the Oslo Bobcats in a 16-minute segment.

The game officials will be Russ Burfening and Derby Emerson of Grand Forks.

The Prowlers will move into their regular schedule of play on Friday, November 25, when they meet coach Alan Taylor's Grafton Spoilers at Grafton, N. D.

Ducks Unlimited Says 1966 Crop Best in Decade

A vast polar air mass, invading the prairie region at the end of October, swept almost all waterfowl out of the area and southward, marking the end of the best waterfowl production year in the past decade.

This is the gist of the November issue of the Ducks Unlimited report prepared by Angus Gavin, general manger.

The cold blast, says the report, made a clean sweep except for extreme southern Alberta and some of the larger unfrozen lakes across the prairie region. The Alberta residue of waterfowl left after sub-zero temperatures and six inches of snow fell November 5-6. In Saskatchewan, a 10-below spell ended migration, and Manitoba's birds were already gone.

The big 1966 movement was about two weeks earlier than the norm for the past half-decade, although the 1965 date was November 3. Reports from the field indicated concentrations like those of the 1950's and hunting was reported excellent for both ducks and geese.

The warm fall with almost no precipitation in September and October did reduce prairie water levels much more than had been anticipated. Water conditions now are fairly good in the parklands. The southern prairies, particularly in Saskatchewan, will require a good spring runoff to replinish waterfowl habitat.

IRS Answers Queries On U.S. Income Taxes

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—I had to cash in my life insurance policy to take care of some unexpected medical bills. Is the money I received taxable?

A—In most cases where life insurance policies are turned in for their cash surrender value there would be no new taxable income. New taxable income would be involved when the cash received exceeds the amount paid in premiums. Then the excess over and above the amount paid in premiums would be taxable.

Ordinary life insurance policies do not usually produce taxable income when they are surrendered. Taxable income is more likely to be realized when a limited payment insurance policy, a 20-payment life policy, for example, is surrendered.

Q—I made a three-year pledge to a church building fund. How much can I deduct this year?

A—Only the amount paid this year on your pledge. Charitable contributions may be deducted in the tax year they are actually made.

Q—Our teenage daughter babysits and saves this money for college. Should I give the bank where she has her savings account my social security number for tax purposes?

A—No. Your daughter earned the money herself and must have her own social security number. Form SS-5, available at local IRS and social security offices, should be used to apply for a number.

Q—I have graduated from a nursing school. Will the cost of my uniforms be deductible for tax purposes?

A—Yes, it will. Your shoes may be deductible also if they are a special type required by hospitals. The key factor is whether these items are required for your job and are not suitable for wear in place of ordinary clothing.

Q—I retired last month and get $125 a month from my company pension plus social security. Is this taxable?

A—Social security benefits are not taxable. As for your company pension, if you did not contribute to the pension then it will be fully taxable. If you shared the cost of the pension with your employer then it will be only partially taxable.

Our publications, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," Document No. 5569, and "Retirement Income and Credit," Document No. 5018, explain in detail the tax liability on pensions. You will also find details on other tax benefits for taxpayers 65 and over. You can get these publications free from our local IRS office.

Q—My company is transferring me to another city and they paid for a preliminary trip for me and my wife to look for a place to live. When I was reimbursed for this trip I noticed that taxes were taken out. Why was that?

A—The amount you received is not classified as a nontaxable reimbursement of moving expenses but as wages. When you actually move to the new location, the cost of transporting your immediate family and your household goods may be a deductible moving expense. The cost of meals and lodging while traveling may also be deductible. If so, any reimbursement you receive would be nontaxable as long as it does not exceed your actual expenses.

Norman County Wetlands Unit Given to State

Acting Conservation Commissioner Robert Herbst today expressed the appreciation of the conservation department to the Norman County Rod and Gun club for a gift of a 40-acre tract of wetlands.

The marshland is an addition to the Lake Ida wetlands unit. With the latest acquisition the unit is now 80 acres in size. Other planned land purchases will eventually enlarge the area to 160 acres.

The wetland will be managed primarily for waterfowl production although upland game and furbearers are also present in the marsh.

Teacher of Year Program Again Offered in State

Fourth annual search for Minnesota teacher of the year is underway.

The 1966 Minnesota teacher of the year—Roger Tenney, Owatonna public schools music teacher—is being nominated by the state commissioner of education for national teacher of the year, results of which will be announced early next year.

In addition to being nominated for national honors, the Minnesota teacher selected will receive an engraved plaque and a $500 scholarship.

The Minnesota teacher, whose name will be announced during traditional ceremonies in late March or early April, will represent the state's many thousands of teachers who contribute to American society explains MEA President Nicholas E. Duff, Minnetonka high school social studies teacher.

Purpose of the teacher of the year program, he adds, is to express the widespread appreciation of the many men and women engaged in the teaching profession in the public, private and parochial schools.

An honor roll of outstanding teachers also will be announced just before April, which is observed nationwide as Teaching Career Month.

Nomination forms for 1967 Minnesota teacher of the year are being distributed to some 500 school board chairmen, more than 1,100 local PTA's and nearly 500 MEA local associations. Deadline for submitting nominations is midnight January 15.

Anyone using an official nomination form—obtainable from the MEA, 41 Sherburne Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota 55103—may submit a teacher for consideration.

Students Eligible As Recipients of Social Security

Some students are now eligible to receive monthly social security benefits until age 22, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

To be eligible a student must be the son or daughter of a parent receiving retirement benefits or of a deceased parent who had worked long enough to be insured.

To qualify, the student must be attending school fulltime, be between 18 and 22 and not be married. The student, or the parent, must file an application with his social security office to qualify.

Any student receiving these benefits must notify his social security office if he quits school.

Information for Consumers Given By Co. Extension

Need information on stain removal, buying sweaters, stretching the budget, color choices for your furnishings, better time management? The county extension office located in the courthouse Thief River Falls can provide that and other consumer information for you according to Miss Beverly Tveito, Pennington county home agent.

November 14-18 has been designated Consumer Education Week to inform residents of the consumer information available through local county extension offices in Minnesota.

Consumer education includes more than information on how to buy wisely to get the most satisfaction for money spent, Miss Tveito said. Consumer information involves the many questions relating to decision making, management of time and money that concern every individual and family in daily living. Such information will help individuals, the family and community to use their resources more effectively.

Questions may concern use of credit, selection of wallpaper, care of durable press fabrics, planning better meals for the family, good food buys, better lighting for study, insect control—almost any problem that comes up in the daily round of life.

The consumer education program is carried out by the Pennington county extension service in many ways, including the following:

Special interest meetings open to men and women (this January there will be a consumer protection forum and also clothing construction workshops for interested women in the county);

Lessons and leader-training meetings for home extension groups. (This year the lessons in the county are wardrobe planning, spending the food dollar wisely, and entertaining graciously.);

Office calls and telephone calls;

Home visits;

Radio programs, news stories and columns written by agents in local papers; and Publications published by the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service and the U.S. department of agriculture. A list of consumer information publications is available from the county extension office.

Research Study Reveals Facts On Vehicle Speed

Divorced people drive faster than married ones, reports the Minnesota AAA. It is one of the odd and intriguing conclusions about vehicle speeds turned up by the highway research board in a review of research findings into factors influencing how fast people drive.

Other reported findings include include the following: The longer the trip, the higher the average speed; Out-of-state cars are driven at higher rates of speed than in-state cars; the average speed of intercity buses is consistently higher than that of passenger cars; younger drivers who don't own the car are a good deal morelead-footed than their elders who do own the car; and new cars are driven faster than old cars.

Drivers, in general, tend to drive at speeds they consider reasonable, proper and safe for conditions—often below or above posted speed limits.

You'll Bust Laughin'

Ifen y'all ever had a hankerin' to set a spell and eyeball some peculiar goings-on, take yerse'f to the Lincoln high school auditorium tonight to see "Headin' for a Weddin' ". Tonight is the last night of the production and it's a comedy riot from curtain to curtain.

While taking photos for newspaper publicity, we watched a goodly portion of the dress rehearsal Friday night. We were particularly impressed by the acting of Erin Carlson—who plays her hillbilly maiden role to the hilt—and Rosemary Dahlen—the socialite who makes an abrupt change of heart toward life in the hills. The two roles are entirely different, but each is played with excellent interpretation.

There are some good lines and some good actions in the play, at least several of which should have the audience thrown into fits of laughter. Why not take a chuckle break and watch the kids in action tonight?

Job Force Survey

Jobs Incorporated of Thief River Falls is attempting to compile a fact sheet on available workers in the Thief River Falls area, with the list to be used in discussing with industrial firms the possibilities of plant location in this community.

Area residents who are now unemployed, who are employed in other communities but who would prefer to work closer to home, or who are not satisfied with their present employment, would do well to answer the questionnaire in today's issue of the Times. While Jobs Incorporated will use the statistics compiled from returns, individual returns will be kept strictly confidential.

Since we moved to Thief River Falls about six years ago, we heard comment from time to time about how businessmen in the community had worked to keep industry out of the community. These comments came from laboring people who, quite understandably, knew nothing about individual or group efforts to attract industry here. They claimed industry was discouraged to keep wages low. They forget that stores depend on wages to sell their goods or services.

Jobs Incorporated was formed to help attract industry and to help what industry we have to remain here. It has not been completely successful, and the failures always seem to be met with more general knowledge than the successes.

Since any firm contemplating a move must know if there is a labor supply available at its new location, Jobs Incorporated needs this information for effective negotiation. Laborers and prospective workers who fail to respond to the questionnaire are contributing heavily in their own way to keeping industry out of the community.

There is no guarantee that having the labor force statistics available will bring industry to the city. On the other hand, there is a greater chance that industry will by-pass the community if accurate information is not available. Fill out that form and mail it today.

Any Similarity?

Editor Donald N. Nelson of the Minnesota Journal of Education—official publication of the Minnesota Education association, "lays it on the line" to members in the November edition. His straight talk to the MEA membership would be just as appropriate for a number of organizations. See if his comments don't fit your favorite group:

Open your eyes, man, as well as your lips.

Look at the MEA.

Survey your local association and your division.

Scrutinize those individuals who, like claim the title, "member of the MEA."

Then stop your childish prattling about actions, events, and persons "at MEA." Shatter your inane image of MEA as a building in St. Paul, a crowded convention in the Twin Cities in even numbered years, or a protector of tender feelings, thin wallets, and earned rights.

Stop crying for this ill-defined sterotyped entity "to become a dynamic force" to gain further rights, to do that gutty in-fighting with unions, legislators, administrators, or boards of education. Quit demanding that a bull-dog spirited MEA staff member "come out" to do that job that cannot be done by you, "a clean-cut professional" who would remain fastidious. Granted, teachers' rights must not be diminished, and unpleasant battles to sustain these rights or to gain others must be fought; however, membership in MEA cannot be just a right to assert or demand further rights.

Cease your turgid rumbling and questioning: "Why doesn't the MEA take a stand?" "Why doesn't the MEA deal with 'practical stuff' instead of the 'high minded philosophy'?" "Why doesn't the MEA do something to justify the dues increase?"

What is a member? It is an integral part of a body. It ceases to be a member when it is separated or cut off from the body. Once severed, the member cannot continue to be a functioning part of the whole. In fact it becomes at best a festering relic or a useless curiosity because the sustaining life blood from the body can't pulse through it.

You are the MEA. Oh, not you alone, but you and 38,000 others who feed on the vital juices of MEA. Rub your sleepy eyes; then look at that group who are not functioning members but parasitic appendages drawing sustenance for the self and dissipating the vigor of the whole.

Unstop your indifferent ears; then listen to the whining plaint, "Why doesn't the MEA . . .?" As shocking as a punch to the paunch is realization of the number who do nothing as functioning members to justife the MEA's expenditure of time, talent, and money for them.

Why don't you do something? Help to shape a local association-school board negotiation policy, draft a resolution or a personnel policy, author a professional magazine article, initiate a strong public relations program, pass an improved retirement law, inform your legislator about State Department budget and staff needs, elect effective leaders to association and section offices, encourage attendance at the special workshop to learn about planned action, study legislative proposals so your legislative committee will have another informed resource person. Why don't you earn the title "member of the MEA" instead of merely buying it? Why don't you. . .?

You answer. . .not enough time now for teaching and preparation,. . .already involved in too many church and community groups,. . .working temporarily after schoo and on week ends on another job,. . .really don't feel another thing can be added to the schedules with all the papers to correct at home,. . .been active in local so long that some younger teachers should take over,. . . committee chairman last year so deserve a year's rest—besides, the group needs new blood,. . .never served in that capacity and the group needs experienced leadership,. . . just don't want to become involved.

I see; I hear you.

You just don't want to become a functioning member.

Goode at Speling

Freshmen at six colleges and universities were recently questioned by the American Council on Education as part of a study of the effects different colleges have on their students. A random sample of answers showed some ambitious choices.

Among the jobs which the students said they desired were: Hosale sailsmen, techetion, physist, piolet, archact, augricuter, treacher, writer, psyciartrist, lebrarian, adminastor and polotical.

Some students selected engenering while others indicated they wanted to study enginearing and engeening. Also mentioned were busseniuss, ploice, denestry, apparrel, husbantry, managemat, theripy, aereonatotic and schcogy. Of course, several were undesided—or undecieded.

It is impossible to predict how good these students will be in their chosen fields. One thing is certain; they could use a little hellp in speling.

Subsidized Books

The following editorial appeared in a recent issue of the Oklee Herald:

To ask the question "Who pays for the books you read?" is to invite a prompt and abusive reply: "I do, stupid."

But the answer to the follow-up question, "Was it a subsidized book?" does not come so promptly. For, to answer this question, it is necessary to run down a checklist of the possible sources of subsidy for the book; was it under-written, in whole or in part, by a tax-exempt foundation, a corporation, a trade association, a religious group, a political-action group, a foreign government, a labor union, or possibly the United States Government?

Very probably that's a question you can't answer. But it will be helpful if you ponder it for a moment, particularly in light of the revelation in Washington a few days ago that the U.S. Information Agency plans to spend about $6 million over the next 12 months to subsidize books for use as propaganda abroad.

Now if that sounds innocent and proper to you, consider just one of the books revealed as having had a U.S.I.A. subside: "The Truth About the Dominican Republic," by Jay Mallin, and published by Doubleday and Co., of New York.

Mr. Mallin was paid $2,368 to write the book. In addition to overseas distribution, the book was sold in the United States. But, there was no indication on any of the books sold in this country that the U. S. Government had commissioned and paid for the manuscript.

Cigarettes have to be labelled. The books you read—no.

Unhappily, the list of authors and publishers who have enjoyed this government largesse is too long to detail here. The above-mentioned book, author and publisher are reported only for example purposes.

One remembers, in this connection, the U.S.I.A. movie "Days of Lightning," produced after the assassination of President Kennedy, for overseas distribution. In fact, the law specifically prohibited its showing in this countre. But, the law was obligingly waived by the Great Bureaucracy.

An American Ministry of Truth, quietly financing the books we read, without label, is a scandal which deserves fierce Congressional investigation.

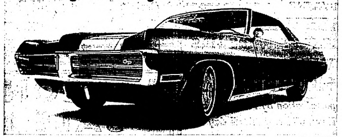
When you love your work, it shows.



Pontiac Motor Division

And we love our work. So much that we couldn't bear to stop with the slickest-looking split grille ever to grace a Wide-Track. (Or any other car, for that matter.)

We went ahead and made the windshield wipers disappear. The car not only looks cleaner, but the wipers are less subject to icing and freezing, too.

Then we got rid of the vent windows on all Grand Prix hardtops. We replaced them with nifty monograms and a flow-through ventilation system.

We even designed a rather unique hood-mounted tachometer option that's available on all Pontiacs. As are our other new options like stereo tape and stereo radio.

And, of course, our handsome interiors have to be seen to be believed.

All Pontiacs have standard safety features that include a dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, outside rear-view mirror, and GM's energy absorbing steering column.

Isn't it time you decided to see your Pontiac dealer? If you love our work the way we do, it's the least you can do.

Boy Scouts Benefit By United Fund Drive

Every day of a boy's life is leading him to manhood. During that time he will be led in one of several directions-depending upon the influences of his home, his school, his friends, his church and his community, reports Mike Mongoven, district Boy Scout executive.

It is a proven fact that Scouting has had a profound influence on the direction that a boy takes, as evidenced by the numbers of leaders in our communities that have been scouts," he said. United Fund helps provide money for maintaining the program.

"But a boy does not get scouting just by wishing; he gets a scouting experience as a result of what we adults do about it by investing our time, talents, and money.

"The Lake Agassiz council is an association of communities in a 15-county area in North Dakota and Minnesota. Function of the council is to provide those services to individual scout troops, cub packs, and explorer posts that they cannot provide by themselves, and to extend the scouting program to all boys."

Activities to stimulate unit program, including camporees, service projects, courts of honor, explorer conferences and many others are services of the Lake Agassiz council. The camping program, including Camp Waubanaquat, is part of this service, as well as providing overhead operation such as maintenance and insurance.

A staff of four trained executives works full-time in scouting to help the 1,800 volunteer leaders succeed. Mongoven is stationed at Thief River Falls.

Where they do not now exist, scouting units are formed so that more boys may develop leadership through scouting.

Leadership training is given to scoutmasters, den mothers and other men and women who work directly with boys.

The scout office is a service center for the entire 15 county area, where records are kept, badges issued, bulletins published and efforts of volunteer leaders coordinated.

In this immediate area there is a Boy Scout troop in St. Hilaire, three troops, two packs and an explorer post in Thief River Falls and a troop at Holt.

Organization Key To Housekeeping, Specialist Says

"Organization is the key to good housekeeping," says Mrs. Edna K. Jordahl, extension home management specialist at the University of Minnesota. She lists the following suggestions to aid good housekeeping:

Know what tasks need to be performed in the various areas of the home.

Have the tools, supplies and equipment in or near these areas.

Use simple devices for expanding useful and functional storage areas, such as adding shelves to use waste space between shelves that are too far apart, using boxes to store out-of-season clothing, adding hooks to make better use of closet space, using a revolving corner device to make a neglected corner useful and using peg board and bulletin boards generously around the house.

Concentrate on improving one area at a time. It might be one room, a work center, a drawer, a recipe box or a sewing basket.

Replace items when they wear out.

Train children to be orderly by helping them keep their own room or play area in order.

Return items to place of storage after each use.

Be open-minded and experimental in using suggestions. Look in magazines, building olans and other people's homes.

Be creative and critical in thinking of new ways to organize your home.

Communicate your intensions for improved housekeeping to members of your family. Listen to their suggestions.

Accept the fact that organization for good housekeeping is a continuous process.

Try simplicity and routine for greater accomplishments. Less fuss makes less work.

"The extra mental and physical activity involved in improving the organization of a house can add zest to housekeeping. And, added zest brings joy through better living," concludes Mrs. Jordahl.

Retarded Ass'n. Is United Fund Recipient

One of the recipients of the Pennington County United Fund is the Minnesota Association for Retarded children. Information of the association has been prepared as follows by the Pennington-Red Lake chapter of the state association.

In 1951 several local chapters then in existence met and formed the Minnesota Society for the Mentally Retarded. In 1955 the society was incorporated as the Minnesota Association for Retarded children, at which time Pennington county and other northwest counties joined as a local association. The local association is now known as the Pennington - Red Lake Association for Retarded Children.

Aim and purpose of the local association is the same as that of the state association. In brief, it is to promote the general welfare of all mentally retarded of all ages in the home, in the communities, institutions and in public, private and religious schools, regardless of race or creed.

This association is a non-profit organization and as such must rely upon the public for contributions. A spokesman for the organization stated, "We appreciate being a part of the United Fund and sincerely hope that we may continue to be. We must realize that the needs of the mentally retarded are varied, according to the degree of their handicap."

A portion of the funds received are needed by the state association, to work through legislation to promote necessary facilities, a few of which are day activity centers, sheltered workshops, better and additional staffing in caring for those in institutions. Recently Camp Friendship was purchased so retarded children may enjoy the same camp privileges as other children.

More money is needed in the field of research regarding the unborn. Much has been learned regarding prevention of mental retardation but funds are constantly needed to continue the work. A small percentage is sent to the national association and is used in research.

By being a member of the Minnesota association for retarded children, the local association is helped by it in meeting the needs of the retarded. The local association is constantly kept informed on how to improve their methods of care, treatment and education for the retarded so they may expand to their full abilities.

The association urges individuals in Pennington and Red Lake counties to make a generous contribution to United Fund, thereby caring for those less fortunate.

Safety Council Studies 2-Wheel Vehicle Mishaps

Legal means to solve the rapidly growing problem of accidents involving motorized two-wheel vehicles will be sought at a conference of public officials, traffic experts, dealers, users and safety groups Tuesday, November 22 at the Arden Hills highway and civil defense training center, St. Paul.

Sponsoring the event is the Minnesota Safety council, which said there has been an 800 per cent increase in use of motorized scooters, cycles and other two-wheelers, and an unusual record of accidents. Eighteen fatalities were reported during the first six months of this year, the council said.

Michael J. Galvin, safety council president, will preside at the session, to which invitations have been issued to interested persons in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Among the speakers will be Minnesota Highway Commissioner John R. Jamieson; Robert Provost, executive director, Minnesota Insurance Information center; Safety Director C. M. O'Toole; Captain Richard G. Lueck of the highway patrol; Ray L. Baseman, assistant driver's license director; assistant highway commissioner Mac Evans, and Dr. H. Herman Young of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester.

Plans include discussion of legislative proposals to be submitted to the 1967 state legislature. A second conference likely will be held to firm up proposed measures for legislative consideration in January, Galvin said.

Nip and Tuck

THE CHURCH FOR ALL. ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

How I had dreaded cleaning the attic! But it was all worth it after I found the picture of Nip and Tuck when they were puppies. I sat down there and then in the cold, dusty room and recalled the day when Bob brought them home to Carol. How she laughed and loved them and flung her arms around both our necks in excited gratitude. How much fun we three had, watching the cunning antics of the canine infants.

Nip is gone now, duly mourned and buried under our apple tree, and Tuck, gray and crotchety, limps if he moves too fast. Carol lives in Cincinnati in a happy home of her own, and I carry roses to the cemetery on the hill.

What a wonderful gift is memory. My days are rich with remembrances of the good life Bob and I had. How glad I am that we shared, not only a home, but also a love for God and His Church so that though now I am lonely, yet I am not alone.

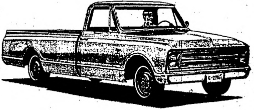
TRY
THE WORLD'S TOUGHEST 2-DOOR



This new Chevy pickup looks so good you could call it a 2-door. (You could also call it the toughest Chevy pickup ever built!)

This Fleetside pickup's got a lot more than good looks going for you.

It's got new construction to bring you more durability, working ease, comfort and safety. Check that new all-steel pickup box, for example. New full double-wall side panels and tailgate keep your load from leaving its mark on Chevy's good looks. And new measures have been taken to help keep out rust and corrosion. Like the one-piece wheelhousings that now protect sheet metal against tire splash.

Inside, the color-keyed cab looks and feels like a pleasant place to work. There are a number of new safety features, too: an energy-absorbing steering wheel and a dual master cylinder brake system, to name two.

And here's another thing the new Chevy pickup's got going for you: it rides better than some cars. Choose from 26 Fleetside and Stepside models now at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Langen To Make Post-Election Tour of District

Congressman and Mrs. Odin Langen have launched a post-election tour of Minnesota's Seventh district that will take them into all 23 counties before returning to Washington for the start of the 90th Congress.

"We feel that the two weeks afforded us before the election were insufficient to really learn the attitudes and needs of the people," Langen said. "This post-election tour will give me a chance to visit with a greater number of people before working on legislation that will affect the lives of all of us."

Congressman Langen said he naturally was "very pleased" with the election results that gave him his greatest margin of victory since first running for Congress eight years ago.

"This tremendous vote of confidence will make my work as Seventh District representative much easier," he said, "and the general strengthening of the two-party system across the nation will ensure more adequate debate and serious consideration of the problems facing the United States. The legislative branch of government has been measurably strengthened by this election. The people of the nation are the true winners by their actions at the polls."

Mr. and Mrs. John Myerchin and children of Belcourt, N. D., arrived here a week ago Friday to visit at the Marvin Gustafson home. Mr. Myerchin returned the following Sunday and Mrs. Myerchin and the children remained here until Thursday when the Gustafsons took them to their home.

Peruvian Student Studies At Lincoln High School

by Willard Gagner
Times Reporter

"During my first few weeks I thought in Spanish and had some difficulty in interpreting what people meant—because they talk so fast," said Cesar Sanchez, Lincoln high school foreign exchange student from Chiclayo, Peru.

After completing 12 years of elementary and high school of which three years were spent in military school, he returned to high school for another year. He is a senior this year at Lincoln high school under the American Field service program. The program is sponsored locally by the Thief River Falls Rotary club. His subjects this year include social studies, history, English, Spanish and typing.

Cesar, who is 18, arrived in Thief River Falls on August 27. He is living at the K. E. Gigstad residence while attending school. Their son Kurt, a senior at Lincoln, is Cesar's "American brother".

After spending a year in the United States as an exchange student, Cesar will return to Peru where he plans to become an administrative accountant. In Peru, Cesar studied Spanish, English, Peruvian history, world history, geometry, physics, chemistry, mathematics, biology and zoology.

Cesar was selected for the AFS exchange on the basis of an examination and an interview. As far as schools go, there is no real difference in the way they are taught, but there are very few coeducational schools in Peru, he said. The average age for beginning school is the same in Peru as it is in the United States.

In Peru Cesar lived with his parents, an older brother, who is 21 and studying to be a lawyer, and his sister, who is 19 and a high school teacher. His father is a representative of an airline company and a soft drink distributor.

When asked if there were any major differences in the United States he stated, "No, but in Peru we do not have winter--only the name. This is the first time I have seen snow. Sometimes I go for a walk in the snow just because it feels so different."

They dress the same in Peru but the food is a little different. Some of the most common food is "ceviche", which is fish served with lemon juice and a hot sauce similar to Mexican tacos, and "cuyes con papa", which is rabbit made with potatoes mixed with eggs and resembling cream.

Cesar's only comment was "I like studying in Thief River Falls and would like to thank the people of Thief River Falls for being so kind to me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of peau de sole in empire fashion. The fitted bodice was styled with a scoop neckline and long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists. A wide band of Alencon lace encircled the A-line skirt and matching lace bordered the detachable chapel length train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was secured by a plateau headpiece consisting of a cluster of fabric petals. As her bridal bouquet, she carried an autumn arrangement of yellow roses and bronze chrysanthemums.

For her attendants, the bride chose her friend, Linda Taylor of Grand Forks, N. D., as maid of honor and Shirley Hunstad of Argyle, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid.

Both were attired in olive green empire fashioned gowns accented with olive green satin trains. Their veils were held in place by matching petal headpieces and each carried a bouquet of bronze and yellow mums.

Nancy Bergns of Moorhead, a niece of the groom, was flower girl. She was attired in an olive green dress similar to the other attendants and carried a miniature bouquet of bronze and yellow mums.

Jimmy Kurowski of Karlstad, a cousin of the bride, carried the rings. Another cousin of the bride, Eugene Zakrzewski of Richfield, attended the groom as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chwialkowski wore a three piece brown ensemble. The mother of the groom was attired in an olive green dress. Both wore identical corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

A reception in the church parlors for 175 guests followed the ceremony.

Sheep Producers, USDA Sign Pact For Promotion

A new four-year agreement between the American Sheep Producers council, Inc., and the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been signed according to word received at the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service (ASCS) office. The agreement follows final tabulation of the recent referendum in which producers approved a new agreement.

The agreement will continue the financing of the council's advertising, promotional and related market development activities on lamb and wool through deductions from wool payments and for the marketing years 1966 through 1969.

Winton Knutson, chairman of the county ASC committee, said today that final results in the september mail referendum differed little from the preliminary results announced early in October. The final tabulation showed that the agreement was favored by producers owning 10,839,714 sheep (79.5 per cent) and by 60,305 (79.9 per cent) of the individual producers voting. To become effective, the agreement had to be approved either by two-thirds of the producers voting or by producers of two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum.

In Minnesota the agreement was favored by producers owning 345,575 sheep (84.9 per cent) and by 4,528 (84.4 per cent of the producers voting in the state.

Under terms of the new agreement, deductions will be made from payments beginning next April for marketings during 1966 at the rates of one and one-half cents a pound on shorn wool and seven and one-half cents a hundred pounds of liveweight of unshorn lambs marketed, compared with deductions of one cent and five cents in the past. Deductions for the following three years may not exceed these new rates.

Newfolden School Education Week Activities Noted

A number of residents of the Newfolden high school area visited the school sometime during American Education Week, November 7 through 11. "This week is designed to enlist public support for the education of the children and it was heartwarming to note that many residents turned out and visited classes sometime during the week", said Supt. John P. Halvorson.

About 50 parents attended the "Open House" on Tuesday evening November 8. Students presented a thumbnail sketch of the entire educational system of the school from the grades through the high school departments and introduced the teachers as they did so. Conflict with the election date and other programs in the area held the crowd down considerably, Supt. Halvorson said.

Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Benke, and Mrs. Edward Nelson, the hot lunch cooks, served coffee and cake after the programs and tour of the building. Mr. Luhning had some high school boys doing physical education exhibitions on the mats and the trampoline.

The Veterans day program on Friday had a full house in the auditorium with all the school pupils and a number of adults attending the program. Student speakers for the program were Byron Westman, Lyle Olson, Kristi Inman, Jeffrey Merell and Joy Hodik. A color guard consisting of Hilton Hjelle, Orville Elseth, Basil Elseth and Harold Anderson, members of Olaf Locken American Legion Post 427, advanced the colors and mixed chorus sung two numbers. The high school band played the "Star Spangled Baner."

Wayne Carlson Is Speaker at 4-H Leaders' Council

Wayne Carlson, assistant state 4-H club leader, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Pennington County Leaders' council Monday evening, November 7. His talk on "Program Planning" discussed ways and means of creating more interest in 4-H meetings.

Clubs were reminded to send items of interest to the council junior leader reporter, Peter Solem.

The council agreed to send dues for the state 4-H federation for the 1965-66 club year and also the 1966-67 at this time. Wilbur Hallstrom, chairman of the building committee, reported on the planned remodeling of the 4-H cafeteria next spring.

December meeting of the leader's council will be in the form of a Christmas party. Each club is responsible for a number on the program.

Enrollment cards should be turned in to the extension office as soon as possible.

Any junior leaders interested in attending the citizenship shortcourse in Washington, D. C. next summer should contact Terry Courneya, county agricultural agent, for application forms.

Project leader training will be available this year in four project areas—clothing, electricity, dairy and swine—on January 12. Project leaders' names should be sent to the office.

The state agronomy automotive and electric conference will be held, December 28-30 in St. Paul. Any junior leader interested should contact the extension office.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. OSCAR MANDERUD
of Goodridge

After serving a big dinner, most homemakers are faced with the problem of what to do with the left-over turkey. What more appropriate time to receive recipes for utilizing these left-overs, than now, with Thanksgiving and Christmas just around the corner. Today we are featuring a recipe contributed by Mrs. Oscar Manderud of Goodridge with left-over turkey as the basic ingredient.

BARBECUED TURKEY

1½ cups cooked and cubed turkey
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
¾ cup catsup
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Method: Combine all ingredients, except turkey, in a heavy skillet. Cover and let simmer about 30 minutes. Add turkey and simmer until turkey is heated. Serve hot on split buns. Yields about six sandwiches.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Manderud live on a 320 acre farm one mile south of Goodridge. They have four children, Jerome, the oldest, is single and is working as an apprentice at Pengilly and Mrs. Donald (Clarice) Auld, lives in Minneapolis with her husband who is employed by the Bell telephone company. They have two children, Jeff, 6; and Scott 4. The Manderud's youngest children are 17-year old twins, Richard and Robert, who are seniors in high school.

In addition to farming, the Manderuds have a flock of about 1,000 turkey hens. During the laying season they sell hatch eggs to a local concern and since eggs must be fresh, they are delivered twice a week.

The Manderuds are members of the First Lutheran church at Goodridge and Mrs. Manderud is also a member of the ladies aid and the Busy Esther circle.

I've had this up in the store for some time and have had many requests for a copy of it. I decided I'd pass it on to you this Thanksgiving season. We really have a lot to be "Thankful" for if we just look around us.

A DAILY CREED

Let me be a little kinder;
Let me be a little blinder,
To the faults of those about me;
Let me praise a little more;
Let me be, when I am weary
Just a little bit more cheery;
Let me serve a little better,
Those that I am striving for.
Let me be a little braver,
When temptation bids me waver;
Let me strive a little harder,
To be all that I should be.
Let me be a little meeker.
With the brother who is weaker;
Let me think more of my neighbors.
And a little less of me.

A Happy Thanksgiving Day to all of you from all of us.

Community Planning Must Serve All People

Staff members of the University of Minnesota's agricultural extension service, meeting in St. Paul recently to discuss resource development, were told that they "cannot simply separate planning for farm people from planning for non-farm people; or planning for agricultural enterprises from non-agricultural enterprises."

Charles E. Kellogg, deputy administrator for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation service, told the group of some 350 county agents, extension specialists and administrators that community planning must serve the needs of all the people in the community.

"In the midst of a growing technology," he said, "much of our expansion has taken place without systematic use of what is known or of what we in agriculture have the skills to learn."

Kellogg told those attending the week-long annual conference to consider all the resources in the rural areas in terms of their potential uses, not only for farming but also for forestry, recreation, non-farm segments of agriculture, housing and other sectors of the economy.

"Only in this way can we help the citizens plan for good living and economic development so that each segment of the local economy prospers, and in doing so, helps the other segments to prosper."

Kellogg defined the term "planning resource use" to include the decisions required for good living and for effective use of investments in land, labor and equipment.

"Such decisions," he said, "are based on forecasts of need, including population and markets, and on the best known synthesis of what has been learned about resources from research and experience.

"This means that soils and other resources must be classified in ways that permit them to be displayed on both general and detailed maps. The alternative potential uses must be clear as far as our knowledge permits, for each land tract."

Kellogg said that the process of community planning has two overlapping phases. The first, general planning, includes working out an appropriate grid or framework for resource use in a community, county or trade area. Such a general plan includes transport requirements, broad suggestions for water control, and outlines of areas for the major uses which include farming, housing, schools, recreation, forestry and industry.

The other phase is operational planning for specific highways, water-control works, housing clusters and the like. This phase should follow the general plan.

Kellogg pointed out, however, that we seldom begin with a "clean slate" since people are not only living in these areas now, but are using the resources and have goals both as individuals and as groups.

He challenged the group to continue their leadership in resource development. "Cooperative extension", he said, "has had long experience in working with individuals and groups and with organizing local people for special programs. No other state institution with responsibility to help meet the problems of resource use within a state has had comparable opportunities, experience and organization."

TRF Bank Debits Up 13 Per Cent Over 1965 Mark

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during October showed an increase of 13 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis.

In dollars, Thief River Falls bank debits volume during October was $12,235,000. In the same month of 1965, the total figure was $10,818,000. During the first ten months of 1966 bank debits amounted to $124,897,000 an increase of eight per cent from 1965.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payments for goods, services and debts. They also include transfers of funds which of themselves have no business significance.

Bank debits mainly include all debits against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of states and political subdivisions. They do not include debits to the accounts of other banks, the United States government and savings accounts.

740 Women Attend Followup Clinic On Breast Cancer

Followup breast cancer dection clinic held Wednesday at Crookston found a "significantly lower" number of abnormalities in the women who were examined originally five years ago, the American Cancer society has disclosed.

Physicians checked 740 women, and detected 29 abnormalities in the second clinic. Eighteen were recommended for biopsy as a diagnostic procedure. The original clinic discovered 51 suspicious cases in 1,158 women examined.

"These women have been examining their own breasts during the five-year interval and had had lumps or even cancers removed," Dr. Hay said. "This accounts for the small number of lesions detected now."

This encouraging development indicates some success in an important objective of the first clinic—that women recognize the need for examining their own breasts, periodically, Dr. Hay said. Breast self-examination by all women 35 and older is emphasized by the society in its continuing fight against breast cancer, the leading cause of death in deaths in women.

At a proctology clinic held November 9, 40 women and 34 men, 45 and older, were examined for possible cancer of the colon and rectum and abnormalities were observed in three of the men.

"None of these patients had any symptoms to indicate he had a problem" said Dr. Howard Frykman, Minneapolis proctologist, chief consultant at the clinic. "The tumors may not be malignant now, but they have the potential if not removed."

He described colon and rectum cancer as the most common cancer among both sexes and added that one purpose of the clinic was to demonstrate the examination technique to local physicians and to encourage them to set up their own cancer detection centers.

An appointment was made by telephone with the family physician of each person who had an abnormality detected so that diagnostic procedures any treatment required could be instituted immediately.

Some disappointment was expressed over the fact that 200 women of the original group failed to come in for repeat examinations of the breast even though they said they would during the registration drive preceding the followup clinic. A number, however, reported to Mrs. Cliff Nimens, Crookston, general chairmen, that they had recent examinations.

Mrs. Nimens said an effort will be made soon to have this group examined by their own doctors and to make the information available to the society.

"We want to make the study complete," Mrs. Nimens said.

Lee Berglund, executive vice president of the Minnesota division, thanked everyone who contributed in any way to making the followup clinic a success.

Pennington, Red Lake, Roseau, Norman, Marshall, Mahnomen, Kittson and Polk counties participated. They were the initial counties involved in what was the first such clinic held anywhere in the nation.

U.S. Grade Label On Turkey Gives Much Information

To be sure of a tender, meaty bird for Thanksgiving, look for the U.S. grade label on the turkey to be purchased. Read the label, too, for such information as the class of turkey, inspection and weight. The label may also give instructions for storing, thawing and cooking.

The words "U.S. Grade A" enclosed in a shield indicate the finest quality available—a turkey that is well fleshed with a full breast and meaty legs and with no defects such as tears, pinfeathers and bruises. Grade A turkeys must also have been individually inspected to determine that they are wholesome and safe for human food. Look for the inspection mark, which is a circle.

Most turkeys available on Minnesota markets are U. S. Grade A, according to Robert W. Berg, extension poultry specialist, and Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota. B and C grades, which will be cheaper, may be less well fleshed and may have some minor defects. They are rarely labeled by grade but will be sold under various brand names instead. Turkeys with parts missing or serious skin tears may be purchased at very reasonable prices on some markets.

Clue to tenderness is in the class or name given the bird. Since tenderness will depend on age of the bird, "young hen" or "young turkey" will indicate a tender-meated bird.

Because of the record crop, turkey should be an excellent buy this year. As a general rule, however, the bigger the bird, the better the buy, the university specialists say. In the first place, the larger turkeys are usually offered at a lower rate per pound than smaller turkeys. In the second place, a bigger bird has more meat in proportion to bone.

The advantage of buying a frozen turkey, according to Miss Mikesh and Berg, is that you can be assured of freshness. Avoid buying frozen turkeys with torn wrappings, excessive discoloration or freezer burn, they recommend.

In deciding how big a turkey to buy, allow a minimum of three-fourths to one pound per serving for turkeys under 12 pounds and for birds weighing 12 pounds or over allow one-half to three-fourths pound per serving. These amounts, however, will not provide leftovers for a second or third meal.

A small family may want to consider a turkey roast—boneless turkey meat prepared in ready-to-cook form, often sold in a foil pan which can be taken from freezer to oven with out thawing.

Tips on Turkey Given By U of M Nutritionist

Key to golden brown turkey that whets everyone's appetite on Thanksgiving Day is roasting it in a slow oven of 325 degrees, according to Verna Mikesh, extension nutritionist at the University of Minnesota. She gives these directions for preparing and roasting the Thanksgiving bird:

Rinse the turkey inside and out in cold water and pat it dry. Stuff it lightly with dressing just before roasting, using about a cup of dressing per pound of bird. Do not pack the dressing tightly because it will expand during cooking. Extra stuffing can be cooked separately for the big bird and for a turkey roast.

Insert the legs into the band of skin if it is intact; otherwise, tie the legs together down to the tail for even roasting. Fold the wings back akimbo or tie them flat, close to the body.

Place the turkey on a rack in a shallow pan, breast side up. Brush the bird with melted fat. If you use a roast meat thermometer, insert it so the bulb is in the center of the inside thigh muscle or the thickest part of the breast meat, but be sure the bulb does not touch bone.

Cover the breast and sides of the turkey with a loose tent of aluminum foil or with a fat-moistened cloth. When the cloth dries out dip it into the drippings or in melted fat and replace it. Remove the foil about 20 minutes before the bird is done so the turkey will brown evenly.

Don't add water and don't cover the turkey. When the turkey is two-thirds done, cut the trussing strings or the bridge of skin that holds the legs down. Roast the turkey until the drumstick can be moved up and down or can be twisted readily out of the joint. The meat on the thickest part of the drumstick should yield to pressure. The thermometer should register between 180 and 185 degrees.

Here is the approximate cooking time for roasting different weights of stuffed turkey at 325 degrees: 6 to 8 pounds, 3 to 3½ hours; 8-12 pounds, 3½-4½ hours; 12-16 pounds, 4½-5½ hours; 16 to 20 pounds, 5½-6½ hours; 20 - 24 pounds, 6½ to 7 hours.

Plan the roasting time so the turkey will be done 20 to 30 minutes before you serve it. This rest period sets the meat and makes carving easier. However, when dinner is set for a definite hour, it's well to start the bird 20 to 40 minutes ahead of schedule in case the turkey may take longer to cook than estimated.

Miss Mikesh gives these answers to questions homemakers frequently ask:

The refrigerator is the ideal place to thaw a turkey, but you will need to allow about three days to thaw a 20-pound bird in the refrigerator. To thaw a bird in several hours, keep it in its plastic bag and place it under cold running water. It is safe to hold a thawed turkey 24 hours in the refrigerator before cooking it.

Partially roasting the turkey the day before will actually not save time. Partial roasting beforehand may produce a drier bird, a warmed-over flavor and be unsafe.

There is a definite food poisoning hazard in stuffing poultry the night before cooking it.

Refrigerate the roasted turkey gravy and dressing immediately after the Thanksgiving dinner. To freeze some of the leftovers, do so as soon as possible after dinner—but don't keep it in the freezer over a month or six weeks. Gravy or broth on the turkey will help hold the flavor when cooked turkey is frozen.

Public Opinion

Dear Editor:

Your Community Fund is completing their fund drive for this year. In this season of thanksgiving I would like to take this opportunity to publicly express the gratitude of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation for the wonderful support your community is giving Cystic Fibrosis through your community fund drive.

Cystic Fibrosis is one of those tragic disorders which causes terrible suffering and possible death for afflicted infants and children. Cystic Fibrosis is a community problem in that it effects about one out of every thousand children born, and causes intolerable burdens on the family. Thankfully, new medical advances in early detection and treatment are literally giving a new breath of life to these unfortunate infants and children.

Without the tireless work and wonderful dedication of your Community Fund board of direction, and the countless volunteers, the Cystic Fibrosis program in Minnesota could not exist as a vital source of help to Cystic Fibrosis children and their families.

Our families who have had to face the terrible suffering and untimely death of their C-F child, and the many families who daily face the agony of caring for their afflicted child hold sincere appreciation for your community concern for their children. We of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation can truly be thankful that your community drive is helping give C-F children a breath of life.

Sincerely,
Charles F. Moeller

Warren Sets Fee Of $4,000 for Liquor License

New city ordinance providing for licensing and regulating the sale and consumption of intoxicating liquor, providing a penalty for violation and repealing inconsistent ordinances was adopted by the Warren city council at its recent meeting.

The new ordinance provides for a license fee of $4,000 per year for the "on sale" license and $10 per year for the "off sale" license. It also makes provision for license fees of $100 for club "on sale" licenses. All licenses will expire on November 30 of each year.

Before the ordinance was adopted, a petition bearing the names of 90 residents was presented to the council protesting the location of "The Chalet" in the present Silnes Motors building at the corner of Second street and Nelson avenue. The petitioners objected to the location as being in the midst of a residential area of the city.

However, the council had already accepted the proposal of Lawrence J. Fournier and J. P. Shoenauer of Red Lake Falls, to purchase the property and establish the liquor dispensary and restaurant and had agreed to issue the proper licenses to the partnership starting on November 30 of this year.

The Library Corner

by Flora Allison

The library has been formally dedicated to you, the public, readers of all ages. In impressive but brief ceremonies held Sunday afternoon, November 6, the library and its contents were dedicated to the dissemination of knowledge and the furthering of culture.

Attendance reached somewhere in the area of 500 persons who expressed delight with the huge expansion of the physical plant and satisfaction with the provisions for the expected growth which it can readily absorb over the years. Exclamations of "beautiful" and "lovely" were the general rule.

For all of this, the city council who worked unceasingly to bring this step about; to Hannis Smith of St. Paul, director of public libraries for Minnesota, who alerted them to the fact that federal funds, to match our own on a dollar-for-dollar basis, were available for our use; to the then head-librarian, Miss Frances Shanahan and her assistant, Miss Bertha Hastad, who is now at the head of operations; and to countless others whose dream this project was, much thanks and credit are due.

We are extremely grateful to have had with us for the occasion and on the program, Hannis Smith, and Miss Emily Mayne, also of St. Paul, and head of the state's extension library division. The library was glowing with beautiful floral arrangements and large potted plants which carried the best wishes of their donors. Many of these floral decorations were of a permanent nature and will enhance the building for years to come.

Judge and Mrs. Hans Chommie so graciously gifted the library staff with corsages. These came as a complete and delightful surprise. The elaborate tablecloth gracing the serving table was loaned to us for the day by Mrs. L. W. Rullen. In a Thanksgiving motif and lavishly decorated with appliques in glowing harvest colors, and with sequins, it provided a lovely setting for the refreshment trays and the silver service.

The cookies and bars, all home-baked by the wonderful cooks among the library board members and friends of the library, were in lovely and delectable variety. To all of the people involved with the program and hospitality and in any other capacity, we of the staff join in expressing our sincere gratitude. You've been wonderful.

In the library entrance a handsome display cabinet, dedicated to the memory of Frances Shanahan and donated by a number of her relatives and friends, was hung on Saturday. It will be used to display many items of interest to library patrons and is a welcome and appreciated remembrance.

Other gifts forthcoming will be a set of books on Americanism from the American Legion's local chapter; a movie projector for library use, by the friends of the library; a listening post for the enjoyment of the excellent records we will have ready soon, is being given us by the Mrs. Jaycees; and an individual study unit by the women's club. These will be gifts of lasting value and usefulness and the groups involved in their purchase are to be commended for their interest and profoundly thanked. We shall tell you more about these gifts as they are received.

In this connection, we want to publicize the membership drive now being put on by the friends of the library. We are certain that everyone is interested in the library, and wishes to be of some assistance in furthering its services. Membership in the friends is the easiest (and we might add the least expensive) membership in any organization going! Now is your chance, Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, to join this group. It is not in any way restricted to any class of people, or any profession. In fact, we strongly urge EVERYONE to be a friend of the library. For only one dollar, you can become a member for two years.

The friends, as we have mentioned before, are planning to present the library with a film projector which will be the exclusive property of the library and will remain here. The membership fee you pay to join will be used toward this worthwhile project. So don't wait to be asked; show your good will and spirit of helpfulness and give moral support to the many wonderful people who are already members. You won't be asked for donations, and there are no meetings to attend. (The only meetings are of the executive board of the Friends.) Let's make it the rule, rather than the exception, to belong to this group. Membership cards are available at the library's charge-out desk. We need YOU!

We are noticing a great upsurge in library usage since we have moved into our new building, and naturally this was expected, and hoped for. What is especially gratifying is the large numbers of parents who bring in their young children and search with them the treasure trove that the shelves contain. Starting the young mind on the trail of knowledge is one of the most satisfying and rewarding functions of parenthood and it is increasingly evident that parents, in ever-growing numbers, are coming to this realization.

You ask how young a child may be to be brought to the library as a borrower of books. As soon as youngsters realize that books are to be enjoyed and not mutilated, and that a library is a quiet place where students should be able to concentrate without distraction and adults to read and relax without being disturbed, that child is ready to be exposed to the library's resources. We are truly happy to see that more and more parents are coming in with their children and that in the visit here they are also increasing their reading of library books and making use of the periodicals on display.

The periodicals section is one of the most popular spots in our new building. Most of the magazines are well-thumbed by the time they are no longer current. And what a nice, relaxing spot with all the comforts of home (and quiet, besides!) in which to keep up with what's happening in the world in this jet age; and to keep up with the worlds of government, health, science, culture, travel, fiction and a vast number of other subjects. Being well-informed is a mighty good idea these days, actually fundamental in a democracy, where the people shape their own destinies and must be alert and active, participants in that form of government if it is to survive.

We'll be getting to the subject of new books next time, and hope you follow our column and let it be of benefit to you. See you at the library!

Warren School District Budget Set at $690,818

A budget of $690,818 of which $400,000 will come from local taxation, was adopted for the Warren school district at a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

The new budget is $33,817 more than that disbursed during the past year, this resulting from the purchase of much of the equipment for the new building additions over and above the bond issue for construction. The budget also provides for $70,150 for payments on bonds and interest during the year.

Because of the high assessed valuation of the district, which totals more than $10 million, anticipated state aids will again fall below the high figures of two years ago, Supt. Melvin Hanson pointed out.

For the 1965-66 school year state aids totaled $169,360 while for the 1966-67 fiscal year aids are expected to total only $149,415. In addition, special state aids will total $38,125, which includes $26,340 in transportation aids, $8,500 for special instruction and $3,285 for vocational education.

National Average Price Supports Set on 3 Crops

National average price-support loan levels for 1967 crops will be 90 cents per bushel for barley, 63 cents per bushel for oats, and $1.02 per bushel for rye, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Compared with national average loan levels for 1966, barley is increased 10 cents per bushel and oats three cents. Rye support is unchanged.

Support levels are based on grade 2 or better for barley, 3 for oats, and 2 or better or 3 on test weight only for rye. All production of the three grains will be eligible in the 1967 feed grain acreage diversion program because supplies along with expected production of this crop will be in reasonable balance with needs.

The loan rate of 90 cents for 1967-crop barley represents an increase of 12½ per cent over 1966, but no extra price-support in the form of a payment will be made on barley in 1967 as was the case under the 1966 feed grain diversion program. However, farm production returns should be greater since increased acreage is available for production, Dahl said. Substitution privileges are also available on these acreages.

Malting Barley Ass'n. Reports On Dickson Tests

Malting Barley Improvement association has announced that plant scale malting and brewing tests on 1965 crop Dickson barley have been completed. Nine carlots amounting to 20,000 bushels, were purchased for these tests from 1965 crop production in North Dakota.

While the Dickson barley purchased was the best available, it did contain a higher per cent of blighted kernels than the average commercial crop. Although no serious processing difficulties were encountered in malting and brewing, some flavor differences were noted in the beers produced. Because of these factors, no decision can be made at this time on the acceptability of Dickson for malting and brewing purposes, the association said.

More extensive plant scale malting and brewing tests will be conducted by industry on 1966 crop Dickson on an individual company basis and the results will be reported by the association. Farmers who grew Dickson in 1966 and wish to dispose of all or part of their crop are requested to submit samples through their regular marketing channels so that industry can accumulate sufficient supplies of suitable quality for further extensive plant scale malting and brewing evaluations.

UNIFORMS for the Thief River Falls state junior college basketball team have been provided as a gift of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Since the fledgling college must maintain extra-curricular programs with an activity fee of only $10 per student per quarter, initiation of an athletic program is a costly procedure and the Rotary club gift is greatly appreciated, according to Dean Victor Charles. Shown with Dean Charles in the front row above are C. L. Charlson, left, club president, and Morris Goddard, right, club secretary. Standing left to right are Greg Farder, Oslo; Coach Al Adams; and Allen Jenson, Erskine. The entire basketball team this year is comprised of freshmen students.

On reporters, and F.O.I.

A salute to freedom of information and National Newspaper Week, Oct. 9-16

You think reporters have an easy time of it? You should live so long.

A newspaper reporter—particularly, a newspaper reporter that likes to ask a lot of questions—is often as welcome on his rounds as an illegitimate child at a family reunion.

What makes his work difficult?

Well, it's the natural impulse we all have to applaud high-sounding principles, yet fight the uncomfortable working out of those principles in actual practice. In the case of the reporter, the principle is openness of public information. This means access to public records, access to public meetings, and the general understanding that information about the people's government will flow freely. Sounds just fine; yet nobody but a working reporter ever sees the dodges, roadblocks, lies, even threats that are thrown in his way, as the principle works out in practice. Few there are who love that spotlight, when a reporter with an investigative bent of mind turns it on, and few communities there are who sincerely mourn his passing.

Roadblocks exist at all levels. But some of the nation's best newspapermen have for long been alarmed about increasing secrecy in Washington, D.C., where mammoth departments with billion-dollar budgets have made it difficult, in many ways, for newsmen to get access to important facts. The sheer volume of news presents a staggering problem. And the use of the "confidential" classification has been used by many departments—even the Department of Agriculture—to prevent scrutiny of its activities.

But this year marks a change. Largely through the work of Rep. John Moss of California, Congress passed S. 1160, the "Freedom of Information Bill." It gives the public means to open doors long closed to public scrutiny. Rep. Moss has been chairman of the House Subcommittee on Foreign Operations and Government Information since the committee's inception in 1955. Of the press, he says: "It plays an essential role in the work of my subcommittee. Only by the press' calling to our attention refusals of information, or barriers against public access to governmental information, have we had the raw material for our investigations."

So take another look at that reporter in the back row, at the council meeting. Better yet, follow him around for an hour or two. You'll probably make a swift re-evaluation of him, his work, and the part he plays—amid conditions not exactly conducive to peaceful sleep or contemplative thought—in telling the readers of his newspaper about important public events.

Class A Teams Win in District 31 Jamboree

The district's Class A teams—Warren, Thief River Falls, Crookston, Climax and East Grand Forks—won the District 31 basketball jamboree held at East Grand Forks on Saturday, scoring an aggregate of 153 points to the sub-district teams 105 points in the five-game tourney.

The sub-district teams gained a measure of prestige when two of the teams, Oslo and Fisher, held their respective opponents, Crookston and East Grand Forks, to tie scores. The Oslo Bobcats played a 25-25 draw with Crookston; and coach Norm Wagner's Fisher Flyers, on Pete Rutherford's rebound basket in the final seconds, played East Grand Forks to a 29-29 tie.

In the opening game of the five 16-minute games that were on the program, coach Howard Emerson's Warren Ponies, with guards Dick Engelstad and Bruce Johnson accounting for 25 points, defeated the Goodridge Huskies, 34-15.

Coach Whitey Olson's Prowlers defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles 26-13. Bob Brodin led the Prowler scorers with the senior guard scoring three field goals in the first period and three field goals and a free throw in the second period for a 13-point effort. Jerry Engen, who played a strong game off the defensive backboard, chipped in with a pair of field goals and a free throw. And senior forward Neil Josephson added two field goals to the Prowler scoring total.

It was a come-from-behind effort for the Oslo Bobcats as they gained a 25-all tie with the Crookston Pirates. Doug Farder of the Bobcats, scoring 11 points, paced coach Orvis Bergman's team in gaining the draw with a favored Crookston club.

The Climax Vikings rolled up the highest team total in the tourney, piling up a 39-21 win over the Plummer Cardinals. Veteran guard Bill Keller, with eight points, led the well-balanced Climax scoring.

And in the program's finale, and which proved to be the best game of the jamboree, the Fisher Flyers, showing strong rallying strength, played the East Grand Forks Green Wave to 29-all tie. Pete Rutherford, center for coach Wagner's Flyers scored 13 points for the game's high point honors. Kim Krostue, East Grand Forks' fine all-round athlete, tallied 12 points for coach Larry Selk's host team.

Thief River Falls will open its season's schedule on Friday, November 25, when the squad travels to Grafton for a game against coach Alan Taylor's Spoilers.

HITTING on a jump shot from just off the free-throw lane is the Prowler's Bob Brodin in the locals' 26-15 win over Red Lake Falls in the district cage jamboree at East Grand Forks on Saturday night. Brodin led the Prowlers with 13 points.

Reports Indicate Hunter Success For Deer Down

Preliminary reports from Minnesota division of game and fish field personnel indicate that hunter success on the opening weekend of the deer season appears to be down slightly from 1965.

This apparently is due to a considerably smaller fawn crop last spring which resulted from the severe weather experienced over much of northern Minnesota this past winter. Such fawn loss cannot be accurately measured during the summer, said game officials, but there have been indications for several months that deer numbers were down.

A special telephone survey conducted on a state-wide basis shows that 968 deer were shot by 3,990 hunters for a success ration of 24 per cent on Saturday, and 779 deer were shot by 4,289 hunters on Sunday for a success ratio of 18 per cent. The overall success for the weekend was about 30 per cent.

Many more deer will be taken during the remainder of the season, but the overall season success likely will be less than the 44 per cent attained the past three years.

Fawns made up only 18 per cent of the total, whereas they usually comprise 25 to 30 per cent. This is a firm indication that a reduction in the fawn crop is responsible for the decreased hunter success this year.

Hunting conditions were close to ideal as snow cover was present throughout the state. Temperatures warmed up considerably following the initial cold spell Saturday morning.

Final results of the 1966 deer season will not be known until early next spring when the data has been compiled from a post card questionnaire survey and the license report cards.

Hunters are urged to send in their report cards whether they bagged their deer or not.

Five Moose Send M. River Hunter On Safety Dash

John Meland, Middle River, narrowly escaped being trampled by five bull moose which were headed straight for him as he hunted deer in the Mud Lake area recently according to an account in the Middle River Record.

He spotted the animals coming five abreast about half a mile away. Noting that they were heading straight for him, he fired his rifle in front of them four times when they were about a block away from him. They didn't change course, however, until he hurriedly made a dash for safety. His movement caused the huge animals to swerve shortly before they would have reached and crossed the road where he had been standing.

Good-natured Ribbing

John Mariucci, coach of the United States Nationals hockey squad and former coach of the University of Minnesota hockey squad, is being subjected to considerable good-natured ribbing. And all because of the naturalized Canadians who are now members of the United States squad.

During his long tenure as Gopher hockey coach, Mariucci was a strong advocate of placing limits on the number of Junior A hockey players who could be 'imported' into the States and become members of American college hockey teams. And as a result of Mariucci's campaign, the NCAA has set up a few 'road-blocks' at the 49th parallel and the number of Canadian hockey players moving down to the States has been limited.

But says Mariucci, "I'm not really anti-Canadian. I'm just pro-American. And may be my yelling has helped both of us."

As coach of the United States team, John has several former Canadians on the roster. Forwards Bill Masterton and Bob Currie, and defenseman John Rendall are all former Winnipeg natives who have become United States citizens. And the Nationals number one goalie, Carl Wetzel, who played professional hockey last season with Oklahoma City, just recently became an American citizen. In fact, it is rumored that it was through intervention of Vice President Hubert Humphrey that the citizenship of Masterton and Wetzel were expedited.

And, too, the general manager of the United States squad, and Mariucci's right hand assistant, is a former Canadian, being Murray Williamson, who played his college hockey at Minnesota.

A Suggestion

The deer hunting season came to a close as of sunset yesterday, and while the reports haven't been compiled, it appears that the big game season must be rated as better than fair. The fact there was tracking snow in this area during the entire season may have been of assistance, and it's a certainty that there were few wounded deer that were lost.

But many hunters have commented on the number of moose that were in evidence. Roger Nygaard, hunting in the Newfolden area, had four bull moose driven past him as he was posting a drive. And other hunters, too, reported that numerous moose were at large.

The state game and fish officials are concerned about the growth of the moose herd around here, but they do not intend to recommend an unlimited open season on moose in order to control the herd. It would be just about an impossibility to manage a hunting season on a license basis. The difficulty would be in arranging for individual licenses or permits. A lottery could be used, but this would be a gambling device, and it wouldn't assure that considerable money would be offered to a holder of permit. Abuses would be rife.

If the moose herd needs to be pared, perhaps it would be in order if the state game and fish officials tendered an invitation to members of the Red Lake band of Indians, or the White Earth band of Indians, to come in and 'harvest' the moose designated by the state game and fish officials.

The moose obtained in this way would be of great benefit to the Indians, and the proper distribution of the meat could be made by the tribal officials. By this manner it would be simple for the wardens to control the 'kill'. And, too, it would be a matter of good relations between the Indians, the reservation Indians, and the residents of this area.

Confidence

The current issue of 'Sports Illustrated' magazine carries a humorous item on the supreme confidence of Paul (Bear) Bryant, the head coach of the Alabama football team.

According to John McKay of USC, the reason Alabama does so well in football is that Bear Bryant has got his players believing there's no way they can lose. "Bryant exudes confidence," says McKay. "We went duck hunting last year when I was down in Alabama for a coaching clinic, and Bear says, 'I'm the greatest shot in the world.' Well, we're sitting in a blind and one lone duck flies overhead. Bryant aims and fires, and the duck keeps right on flying.

"'John,' says Bryant, 'you're witnessing a miracle. There flies a dead duck.'"

There are quite a few hunters in this area who are possessed of Bryant's confidence. And, too, there are quite a few, 'miracle' duck flying away.

State Christmas Seal Group Requests Funds

"You are playing a vital part in the nation's expanding health program when you support the work of the Christmas Seal organization," said Judge Herman Kjos of Thief River Falls as he announced the opening of this year's campaign for funds to fight all respiratory diseases, including tuberculosis. Judge Kjos is president of Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health council.

The Christmas Seal organization, Judge Kjos said, is dedicated to the prevention and control of some of the world's most common and debilitating diseases—tuberculosis, emphysema, asthma, influenza, bronchitis and the common cold.

To finance its health program, the association has mailed out letters describing its work to practically every home in Minnesota. Enclosed are Christmas Seals which for 60 years have been the sole support of the Christmas Seal organization.

Last year, the state Tuberculosis and Health association (Christmas Seal organization) helped give almost 350,000 tuberculin tests to keep tuberculosis under control. It also sent its mobile x-ray unit to different parts of Minnesota to give over 80,000 chest x-rays to check for not only tuberculosis, but other chest abnormalities. This total is in addition to 61,619 free x-rays given in Hennepin county, and 15,293 in Ramsey county.

The association distributed around half a million pieces of health materials and supplied thousands of news stories to the newspapers, radio and television.

It conducted workshops on respiratory diseases, sponsored health projects in the schools and appropriated Christmas Seal funds for research and professional education.

"The future can hold nothing but increased demand for water. It is estimated that by 1980 the demand for water will double over the demand in 1960 and we will be using 2,300 gallons of water a day for every man, woman and child in the United States." —Rep. Clair Callan, Nebraska

Paying a Debt

We frequently disagree with editor Clifford Bouvette of the Kittson County Enterprise at Hallock but we agree with the tone of the following editorial published recently:

DeGaulle of France, apparently has anything but friendly gestures to make toward this nation. DeGaulle never won a war in his life. He has met with defeat everywhere and when his country was twice invaded by foreign adversaries the U.S.A. came to his rescue. Doing this we have mounted our dead upon War's altar in France in an enormous way. In World War I, this nation placed 4,734,991 men under arms. Of that number 116,516 lost their lives. In World War II, a total of 16,112,566 were in arms of which number a total of 405,399 died. Thousands of these men are resting in cemeteries in France.

That isn't half the story. During World War I the United States loaned France a total of $6,224,595,994 which figure represents the principal plus interest last computed up to June 30th, 1962. Of this figure France has repaid $486,075,891, a mere drop in the bucket, and it is safe to say the loan nor even the interest will ever be paid. We do not have the figures concerning the debt owed this country by France and concerning loans made during World War II but it would be considerable more than is listed for World War I.

In spite of the U. S. dead who gave their lives on French soil and the billions the American people were taxed for and which was loaned to France in her hour of trial, we find France's president finding fault with this country and preaching a doctrine of hate, designed to cripple this nation whenever an opportunity presents itself wherein a solid punch can be thrown in our direction.

This much for human cupidity; this, if DeGaulle had his way of showing the gratitude of France in return for the benevolence of this nation. It would seem that France is jealous of U. S. wealth, of our industry, the ambition of our people. When France shared billions of our wealth, we did not create a friend; rather, we generated a feeling of contempt and jealousy. Today our reward for all that we have sacrificed for France is what appears to be hatred. France has forgotten that individuals, like nations, die forever in debt to those who are kind.

A Patch of Sky

Writing in a syndicated column appearing in the Grand Forks Herald, William F. Buckley Jr. presented an eye-opening appraisal of urban renewal. More than 1,500 communities one seeking urban renewal funds—most of them with the "let's get our share" attitude.

Buckley quoted President Johnson as proposing for every American "a clean room and a patch of sky". He also quoted Prof. Martin Anderson, considered to be the leading academic authority on the urban renewal programs after having devoted years of study to UR programs. Anderson's conclusions are, basically, that: (1) The poor are hurt by them; (2) they have done more harm than good; (3) They are unnecessary; and (4) they are based on an indefensible use of the power of eminent domain.

The columnist states the following:

"For instance, in the years between 1950 and 1960, 126,000 dwelling units were torn down under UR. Twenty-eight thousand were constructed, only 3,000 of which were given over as public housing. UR therefore resulted in the building of roughly one dwelling unit for every five destroyed.the units it the units it built, except for the tiny percenbuilt, except for the tiny percentage publicly owned, were made available for rents greatly in excess of the old rents. The result, of course, was the diminished availablility of living space for, precisely, the lower income groups.

"Moreover, in the course of constructing the units, the poor were necessarily driven elsewhere: and elsewhere is, almost by definition, more expensive. Meanwhile, thousands of businesses were abolished which, often, could not re-establish elsewhere. Taxes were lost for five, even ten years, during the long span between condemnation and termination.

"The cost Every community loves to believe it is getting its UR mostly courtesy of the federal government. It doesn't, of course, work that way. New York gets money from Los Angeles; and Los Angeles gets it from Chicago; and Chicago gets it from Detroit; and Detroit gets it from New York —the sky is black with criss-crossing dollars as no less than 1,500 communities line up for the swag. It is a relatively easy matter to demonstrate that each city pretty well ends up paying the entire cost of its own UR.

"During the period 1950 to 1960, when the government was busy creating a net loss of about 100,000 dwelling units, the free enterprise system calmly produced 18.3 million, repeat million, dwelling units. In 1940, at the end of the long depression, the Census Bureau estimated that 49 per cent of American dwelling units were substandard. In 1950, the figure was down to 37 per cent. In 1960, 29 per cent. In 1970, by projection, it will be down to 7.7 per cent. And then the crowning irony: the largest number of substandard dwellings is not in the great cities the President is so fussed up over: but in the countryside—where UR does not apply.

"Among the monstrosities, UR seems to combine the very worst features. It hurts poor people. It hurts the people it was intended to help. It destroys more than it constructs. It employs a vast bureaucracy. And it dissipates yet one more freedom. The President always tends to forget that prisoners have clean rooms and a patch of sky."

Do You Wonder?

From the Waseca Herlad comes this editorial:

A Harris Survey last week said that the American people "have deep and abiding doubts about the official explanation of the assassination of John F. Kennedy put forth in the Warren Commission Report."

We, too, have doubts and suspicions. Most of them arise from the attempts of the far left commentators to place the blame on conservatives.

Now that everyone knows that Lee Harvey Oswald spent considerable time in Russia and married a Russian woman, sought Russian citizenship, then was permitted to leave the country and take a Russian Subject with him, there is more reason for doubt.

While Oswald returned to his native land his ideas about Communism had changed very little. He was very active in the support of Castro through a U. S. organization.

Thus we ask ourselves: Was he permitted to return to the U. S. to serve the cause of Communism? Was he murdered to keep him from talking? Did he really kill Kennedy? If so, was he alone in the deed?

Lou Harris says that by a three to two martin the American people reject the main thrust of the Warren Report that the assassination was the work of one man and tend to believe the killing as alarger plot. We belive that it was a larger plot.

In "The Oswald Affair," author Leo Sauvage, a foreign correspondent to the U. S. from "LeFigaro," says this: "I am not anti-American. I have no political axe to grind. But speaking as a foreigner, and therefore with some extra claim to objectivity, I can only say that from the very first day, the Commission showed thay were not looking for the truth but simply trying to prove what they had already decided—that Lee Harvey Oswald was guilty."

What a Laugh!

Although he may not realize it, Senator Walter Mondale has a great sense of humor. He sends out a weekly report from his office that is almost always good for a laugh or two, although he generally makes his statements in a most serious and sincere manner.

Last week, for example, he was discussing the merits of the 89th Congress. "The first point that should be understood," he said, "is that the programs enacted by this session of Congress are not radical, but are minimum necessary measures long needed by our country."

This certainly is worthy of a nasal snort, if not a hearty chuckle. The 89th Congress went on a spending spree that knew no bounds and was halted not by common sense but by adjournment. It compared to a woman shopping for a hat to match a particular outfit. Not finding the right hat, she bought a different one—and then bought a new outfit and accessories to match the hat.

Ask any Representative or Senator of the majority party why so much money is being spent by the government. Nine times out of ten he will answer, "To fulfill the need for services which the people are demanding." Ask him what people are making the demands and his stock answer deflates like a punctured balloon. The people are not demanding anything—Congress is serving it on a silver platter and throwing in the platter.

Good for another laugh in the Mondale report is this little gem: "Finally, it is important that we understand that by pursuing economic policies—such as tax cuts—which promote national economic growth, we have been able to enact these programs without any financial strain on our economy."

Just for the record, Senator, the taxpayers are feeling the strain. Why Congress has the compulsion to spend all the people can earn is a constant riddle. If these new programs have not strained the economy, it is because the government has been borrowing from the next generation to pay the past generation's debts while living on the labor of the present generation.

Our gold supply is depleted and now we have gone to coins without silver value. It's good to have a humorist with us as we ride the road to ruin.

Tax on Virtue

Perhaps there is merit in the establishment of an abstinence tax. According to Australian Deputy Premier Arthur Rylah, "The abstainers pay far less than other members of the community who pay taxes on alcohol, tobacco and gambling. Abstainers content themselves with TV and football and make practically no contributions apart from income tax to government revenues. This should be put right."

Is it more than fair that those who exercise their freedom NOT to smoke, drink or gamble be taxed equally with those who do? Ponder that for awhile.

Interesting Opinions . . .

"The chief secret of comfort lies in not suffering trifles to vex one, and in prudently cultivating an undergrowth of small pleasures, since very few great ones, alas! are let on long leases." —William Sharp

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Six-year-old Mary awoke about two in the morning. "Tell me a story, Mama," she pleaded. "Hush, darling," said mother, "Daddy will be in soon and tell us both one."

Baby Girl Arrives

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Armstrong of Forest Park, Ill., on the arrival of a baby girl born November 14. She has been named Kimberly Ann. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong.

Sighting of moose, even in groups of 3 and 4, has become almost common this past summer and fall, especially in the vicinity of the Solseng and Dyrdal farms in this township. Still, it gave the Daryl Lewis family quite a thrill Tuesday morning to see two of the awesome creatures come strolling nonchalantly through the pasture behind the barn, and idle away nearly half an hour near the stock-watering tank, which is located only some 200 feet from the house. They seemed to be watching with more amusement or curiosity than fright the commotion as family members left for work and school.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Zimmerman of Camrose, Alberta, Canada visited at the Frank Armstrong home a week ago Thursday enroute to Texas for the winter. They are distant relatives of the Armstrongs.

Ludvig and Alert Ona of Sanders were Monday evening visitors at the I. E. Dyrdal home.

Good Cheer club met Wednesday afternoon at the Anna Johnson home in Thief River Falls, with good attendance. It was decided that the present officers serve for another year who are Mrs. Deforest Green, president; Mrs. Paul Furuseth, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Gordon Olson, vice president. Disbursement to various organizations and individuals for Christmas were agreed upon and it was voted that club members would not exchange gifts this year. Readings were given by Mrs. Sigurd Gribstein and Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Mrs. Deforest Green presented musical selections on her harmonica, and several Bible verses pertaining to giving thanks were read by various members. Pot luck lunch was served. Those whose last name begins from I through Z will serve at the Christmas meeting Wednesday, December 7, beginning at 2 p.m. Please note the change of date. This meeting will be two weeks earlier so as not to conflict with school and other Christmas programs. Members are asked to bring selections for the program. Watch for notice of meeting place.

Kathy Dyrdal of Sanders was three years old Wednesday. She and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Dyrdal, Greg and John and grandmother Dyrdal and the Daryl Lewis family shared cake and ice cream at the Lewis home that evening, the cake being a doll cake and decorated especially for her by Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Mae Magsam observed her 87th birthday anniversary Wednesday. Those who came to help her celebrate the occasion at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, the Frank Armstrongs, during the week were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd VeVea of Thief River Falls on Tuesday evening; on Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lester Magsam, Mr. and Mrs. Menig Magsam, Mr. and Mrs. George Magsam and children, Mrs. Dennis Porter, all of Euclid, Mrs. Duane Olson, Danny and Susan and Mrs. Dake Ayers and Robby and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Armstrong and on Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Paul Magsam, Keith, Una Rae and Joy of Euclid.

Since the dawn of recorded history, men back from battle have been rewarded with tankards of beer. But thirsty U.S. Marines serving at Da Nang in South Vietnam recently found themselves with an ample supply of beer—but no can openers! A thoughtful sergeant posted a fast message to an Oceanside, California beer distributor . . . who saw to it a case of can openers was flown to Da Nang at once.
American Beer Demand
Recent surveys show approximately 52 percent of all American men and women partake of beer, and malt beverages are served in two out of three American homes. To meet this demand, United States Brewers produce the equivalent of approximately 36 billion 12-ounce bottles and cans of malt beverages annually.
Beer Cookery Cues
Renowned chef Mme. Jehane Benoit suggested in a recent issue of "The Canadian" that homemakers in that country stir two cups of beer together with one cup of brown sugar, as a glaze for cooked ham. In a new "Hors d'oeuvre" cookbook published by the New York Times, shrimp boiled in beer is recommended. You'll get dozens of beer cookery cues in my free cookbook! NEARLY ready for market was this flock of 3,000 tom turkeys when Gordon Sflerud of Land O'Lakes weighed one of the birds in the above photo. This flock was part of 12,000 turkeys raised during the past year by Lloyd and Ralph Kagg of Viking. The Kagg brothers were featured as "Farmers of the Month" in the current issue of Land O'Lakes News.

Kagg Bros. Featured In Land O'Lakes News

(Editors Note: The following article appeared in the current issue of Land O'Lakes News and is reprinted here because of its area interest. Photos are curtesy of Land O'Lakes.)

In 1947, Ralph and Lloyd Kagg formed the Kagg Brothers partnership and ventured into the turkey growing business. Their operation is located at Viking—a rural community about 13 miles northwest of Thief River Falls, Minnesota. For 18 of the past 19 years, Kagg Brothers have marketed their birds through Land O'Lakes.

When they first started in the turkey business, Ralph and Lloyd raised 1,000 birds. This past year they raised 12,000.

A 32' x 120' quonset building was erected in 1955 on the same site as their original building. It is equipped with automatic feeders and used as a brooder house.

In 1949 Ralph and Lloyd began maintaining a flock of breeder hens. In 1958 they built a 50' x 200' building for a breeder house and now keep about 1,500 breeder hens each year. Approximately 100,000 eggs are produced annually and sold to the Land O'Lakes hatchery in Thief River Falls.

To obtain their breeder flock, the Kaggs purchase about 3,000 hens from California breeders. At 18 weeks of age, these hens are culled with 1,500 kept as breeders and the remainder marketed. When the hens are in production, eggs are picked several times a day and usually are delivered to the hatchery twice a week.

In the relatively short time the Kagg Brothers have been in the business, they have noted an increase of several pounds in the average weight of turkeys produced. Hens marketed at 20 weeks of age weigh 14 to 15 pounds and toms marketed at 25 weeks average 28 to 29 pounds.

Showing versatility and ambition which is not uncommon among Land O'Lakes farmers, the Kaggs built their own home in 1954—including concrete work and interior finishing.

They are members of the Minnesota Turkey Growers Association and emphatically agree that promotion is absolutely necessary in order to keep the turkey industry growing.

The brothers also expressed pleasure at developments in further processing of turkeys - making them easier and more convenient for the housewife to prepare. Through their Land O'Lakes membership, they are actually leaders in the field of further processing. Additionally, through Land O'Lakes continuing research, they are continually expanding the market, making turkey a year-around dinner treat.

Good managers, good people, good members of Land O'Lakes—that's the story of Kagg Brothers of Viking, Minnesota.

FEATURED in the current issue of the Land O'Lakes News is the turkey operation of Lloyd (left) and Ralph Kagg of Viking. The two brothers have raised turkeys in partnership since 1947, and last year raised 12,000 birds for market.

11th Annual Wool Sewing Event Fri.

Eighty-two entrants from 11 northwestern Minnesota counties will model all-wool garments Friday when the 11th annual Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest is held at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Director of the District 1 contest is Mrs. G. Milford Peterson of Crookston.

Norman county leads the list of entries with 16, followed by Marshall county with 13, Mrs. Peterson told the Times in a special telephone interview this morning. "Entrants in junior, senior and adult divisions will model coats or dresses separately and be judged on both separately this year," she said. "This is a change from the judging of ensembles which has been done in previous years."

Entries include five in the subdeb division for young girls making skirts or jumpers; 41 in the junior division, 24 in the senior division and 12 in the adult division. Counties represented include Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, East and West Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

"We have such lovely fabrics and colors being used in the contest this year that we are sure many people will want to see the style show," Mrs. Peterson said. The program will begin at 1 p.m. in the city auditorium with Mrs. Ruth Rutz, fashion representative of a New York company, demonstrating the use of woven interfacings, linings and underlinings in the newest techniques of clothing

Two Injured in 3-Vehicle Crash

Two persons received injuries, extensive damage was done to two vehicles and minor damage to a third as a result of an accident about 10:40 p.m. Tuesday, according to the Pennington county sheriff's department.

Hospitalized at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls is James Lee Kezar, rt. 2, Thief River Falls. Treated and released was Bonnie Hess, rt. 5, TRF, a passenger in a pickup truck owned by Patrick Edward Wichterman of Plummer. Kezar sustained a fracture of the lower right leg and is listed in good condition.

According to the sheriff's department report the Wichterman pickup was stalled facing east on SAR 3 a short distance west from its intersection with highway 59. A pickup driven by Kezar was parked in front of the Wichterman vehicle, and Kezar was reportedly attempting to hook the trucks together when a car driven by Willo Albert Kauppila, Plummer, hit the Wichterman vehicle from the rear. Wichterman was not in the pickup at the time of the crash.

Impact of the collision caused an estimated $500 damage to the Kauppila car and pushed the Wichterman pickup into the Kezar pickup. Damage was estimated at $200 to the former and $50 to the latter.

Select "Northmen" As Junior College Student Nickname

The nickname "Northmen" was selected by vote of the Thief River Falls state junior college student body, announced the college student council today. Thirteen nicknames were suggested by various students, but the name proposed by a committee of student council members won out over such other suggested names as "Honkers", "Gremlins", "Wolves" and "Voyagers". The emblem will be selected and designed in the next few days.

A lively campaign developed as various signs were posted about the college halls advocating certain names and urging disapproval of others. After the campaign and balloting, the students were generally agreed that "Northmen" as a nickname is appropriate and symbolic for this northwestern area junior college.

Scouter Tells Rotary of Value In Scout Program

Marvin Barber, member of the national staff of the Boy Scouts of America, was guest speaker Monday at the noon meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Barber was in the Lake Agassiz council for two days to assist in the scouting program.

Barber used two approaches in his talk: What do we have a right to expect from our young people and what do our young people have a right to expect from us?

"I believe we have a right to expect our young people to be good citizens, to have respect for our daughters and to maintain the democratic system," he said. "We have the right to ask them to fight our wars; to show respect for their elders and to maintain the status quo—up to a point."

Speaking briefly on the reasons he believed that adults have the right to expect these things, he switched abruptly to what young people have a right to expect from adults.

"They have a right to expect a good education, leadership and direction, religious training, a good environment and a good example," he said. "Scouting is excellent training and preparation for young boys, and helps to show them the way of a good citizen."

Also a guest at the meeting was Bill Oehler, scout executive for the Lake Agassiz council with headquarters in Grand Forks.

Plans Services

State Crippled Children Clinic Planned in City

Thief River Falls will be host for a state Crippled Children services clinic, sponsored by the Thief River Falls Women's club, to be held on December 6 at Northwestern hospital.

Appointment chairman is Mrs Harold Buck, who can be contacted at 235 North Kendall or by calling 681-2652.

Children under 21 with mental retardation, heart lesions, convulsions, cysticfibrosis, club feet, scoliosis and other physical handicaps may be examined. Children whose parents cannot provide the necessary care may return to the clinic. A physician's written referral and summary is requested on each new patient.

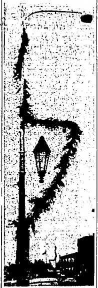
Each child is examined by a pediatrician and orthopedist, and a report of their findings is sent to the family physician. A public health nurse discusses the child's health with the parents, and helps them work out plans to follow the medical recommendations of the physicians. A medical social worker helps the parents with any emotional, social or financial problems that must be solved.

Appointments should be made two weeks before the clinic is sponsored. During 1965, 33 field clinics were held in 29 Minnesota towns, with 2,033 children examined. A considerably higher total is in prospect for 1966, since additional clinics are being scheduled.

Jaycees To Seek Funds for Annual Holiday Project

To collect funds for the annual "Operation Christmas" program for needy youngsters, the Thief River Falls Jaycees will conduct a door-to-door canvass Monday beginning about 6 p.m., according to the project chairmen.

"Operation Christmas" is a project whereby Jaycees assist needy youngsters by providing them with money and accompanying them on a shopping tour to select gifts for members of their families. Public support in previous years has been excellent, the chairmen said, and assistance again this year will be appreciated by both the Jaycees and the youngsters involved.



NEW for the 1966 Christmas season in Thief River Falls will be the downtown lighting program. Expenditure of more than $6,500 has been made for light pole ornamentation, two overhead intersection displays and four entrance signs above main approaches to the city. Lloyd Johnson Named Conservation Farmer

Lloyd Johnson, who farms with his brother Harvey east of St. Hilaire, has been named "Farmer of the Year" by the Pennington County Soil Conservation district. Johnson's farm is located just east of the south end of the airport road south of Thief River Falls—a spot known to natives of the area as the Swan Johnson corner.

The Pennington county SCD cosponsors the contest annually with the Minneapolis Star-Tribune, with the winner to receive a plaque from the Twin Cities newspaper. Board members of the local district made the selection from three finalists previously chosen for possible honors.

Johnson began farming the home farm in 1929 when it contained 320 acres. He added 80 adjoining acres in 1952 and an additional 80 adjoining acres in 1964 for a total current farm size of 480 acres. Of this total, 462 acres are cropland.

Among his conservation practices are about six miles of field drainage ditches, addition of blue spruce to the farmstead windbreak, crop rotation program, fertilization according to soil test, pasture improvement and brush clearing.

Johnson is "sold" on the value of soil sampling and use of fertilizer in accordance with soil test recommendations. He tested all of the 16 fields on his farm two years ago. He also notes that field drainage has improved his cropland, carrying water out of the low areas after heavy rains to prevent drowning of small grains.

His rotation program was started in 1959 a year after he became a cooperator in the Pennington county district. The basis rotation is three years of small grain and three years of legumes. With a 33 acre wheat base on the farm, most of the cropland planted is devoted to oats and barley. About 100 acres of land are in legume production each year.

Lloyd is a member of the community ASC board and the Federal Land bank board. He has also served 12 years on the St. Hilaire board of education, 18 years as supervisor on the township board and nine years as a director of Farmers Cooperative Grain and Seed association in Thief River Falls. When he raised dairy cattle, he was also a member of the creamery board.

At present his livestock includes Herefords and Charolais-Holstein crossbred animals. He expects to continue with the Herefords in the future. Under his pasture improvement program he uses three pastures which are seeded with Timothy, alsike and red clover and alfalfa.

Mrs. Johnson, who has been employed by the J. C. Penney company for the past 11 years, has also been active in community affairs. She took part in PTA and ladies aid work, taught Sunday school and assisted in community activities such as 4-H club work. The Johnsons are members of Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have three children. A daughter, Mrs. Bill (Cherry) Jacobson lives in Minneapolis. Twin sons Larry and Lee also live away from home. Lee works for the soil conservation service at Glenwood and Larry is an

Evadell Espe Exchanges Vows With Paul Tangquist

Miss Evadell Deloris Espe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Espe of Roseau, and Paul Lannoye Tangquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tangquist of Viking, exchanged marriage vows at 7 p.m. Saturday, November 5, at the Moe Lutheran church at Roseau. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony were the pastors of the couple, Rev. Erling Huglen of Roseau and Rev. Fred Granstrom of Viking.

Forming the chancel setting for the candlelight service were spiral candelabra and baskets of white gladioli accented with orange carnations. Bouquets of white carnations graced the altar and lighted candles marked the pews along the center aisle. Serving as acolytes were brothers of the bride, Edgar and Sheldon Espe of Roseau.

Mrs. Erling Huglen of Roseau presided at the organ. She provided a program of nuptial music as the guests were ushered in by Lloyd Rafteseth of Moorhead and Norman Dahl of Borup. She also played the wedding marches, "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring" as the processional and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the recessional.

Providing vocal selections was a trio composed of the bride's brothers, Glenn, Marvin and Duane Espe. Soloist was Leonard Landberg. Selections sung were "O Perfect Love", "Wedding Prayer" and "Eternal Life".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over peau de soie. Fashioned with a fitted bodice, detailed with Mary Stuart lace sleeves, the gown was styled with a floor length sheath skirt with scallops encircling the hemline. Sequins enhanced the scalloped neckline and a bolero train completed the gown. A Swedish crown of seed pearls and crystals held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses accented with tropicanna roses, stephanotis and entwined with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Vernon Robertz of Duluth, a friend of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Kathlyn Mattson of Minneapolis and Mrs. Duane Espe of Roseau, a sister-in-law of the bride.

The attendants wore floor-length gowns of orange peau de soie topped by jackets of orange lace over matching peau de soie. To complete their attire, they wore veiled bow headpieces, white gloves and shoes; and each carried a single long-stemmed white rose.

Miss Tamie Anderson of Viking, a niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore an Empire fashioned, floor-length gown of white peau de soie styled with bodice and sleeves of lace. She carried a basket of tropicanna roses and carnations. Perry Espe was the ringbearer. He was attired in a dark suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Dwight Tangquist of Thief River Falls. Groomsmen were Halward Anderson, brother-in-law of the groom, and Robert Blackwood. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos, complete with cummerbunds and boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a cranberry red two-piece ensemble with coordinating hat, black patent shoes and white gloves. The mother of the groom wore an autumn brown sheath dress trimmed with imitation leopard. To accent her attire she wore a gold colored hat and purse and white gloves. Both mothers wore identical corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

Attending the wedding as special guests were the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Espe of Roseau.

Approximately 275 guests were greeted by the bride and groom at the reception that followed in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Espe served as host and hostess while Miss Elaine Dahl registered the guests and Mrs. Fred Olson and Mrs. David Borgen served the punch. Verner Anderson served as master of ceremonies at the brief program that consisted of vocal selections and congratulatory messages.

Centering the serving table was a round, three-tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by the grandmother of the bride. Topped with white satin wedding bells and white doves, the cake was iced with white, trimmed with orange roses, and featured a bouquet of lily of the valley between the pillared tiers. Mrs. Lloyd Rafteseth and Mrs. Halward Anderson cut and served the cake while Mrs. Edgar Helgemoe and Miss Hilda Larson poured. Waitresses were Cheryle Bjornlie, Mrs. Leo Hovey, Mrs. Selmer Moen, Kay Larson and Rose Osborne. Miss Paulette Larson was in charge of the gift table.

Guests attending were from Chicago, Ill., Warroad, Badger, Middle River, Thief River Falls, Gatzke, Crookston, Hallock, Kennedy, Stephen, Warren, Moorhead, Borup, Dassel, Ada, Minneapolis, Owatonna, Plummer, Duluth, Shevlin, Newfolden, Viking and Farmington.

For traveling on the wedding trip to southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and northeastern Minnesota, the bride was attired in a two piece peach-pink ensemble with black pillbox hat and corresponding accessories. Serving as her personal attendant was Mrs. Glenn Espe of Middle River.

The newly-weds are at home at Roseau where the bride is employed at the Roseau Area hospital. She is a graduate of the Roseau high school and the St. Lukes hospital school of nursing in Duluth. The groom, a graduate of the Newfolden high school is employed by the Lakehead Pipelines, Inc., Viking. Photo- Jerry Eaton Studio, Hallock.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

Until quite recently emphysema was a little-known disease. Vital statistics didn't really reflect the deadliness of the disease because so many of its victims died of heart attacks, pneumonia or other respiratory diseases. They might have survived if they had not also had emphysema.

The number of cases of emphysema—and the number of deaths attributed to the disease—are increasing rapidly, says the Minnesota State Medical association. Doctors blame the increase largely on smoking. Most patients with emphysema are middle-aged men. The great majority of them have been heavy smokers for most of their lives.

Cigarette smoke or some other irritating agent may, over a period of years, injure the lung tissue. The lungs gradually become enlarged and less elastic. Air is trapped in them and they are unable to function properly. Even if the emphysema victim does not succumb to some other disease, his lungs are unable to exchange the carbon dioxide and other poisons in the blood with oxygen from the air. He is quite literally being poisoned, often fatally.

Once the lungs have been damaged, they cannot be repaired, but the progress of the disease may be slowed or even halted if the disease is diagnosed early enough. The first step is to stop smoking or get away from the fumes or irritating dusts which aggravate the symptoms. Exercise is essential. It is a great temptation for the person who is short of breath to rest and avoid any kind of exertion. Lack of exercise cuts down even more on the already limited capacity of the lungs.

Research is being done on the use of drugs to clear up infections, dilate the bronchial tubes and widen the airways. The prognosis for the emphysema victim is good, says the medical association, if he sees his doctor before his lungs are damaged extensively, stop smoking and learn to live within the limitations of his capabilities.

Drink and Drive Youths Become Traffic Problem

Youths who drink and drive have become a major traffic safety problem in Minnesota, according to the Minnesota highway department.

A department study recently found that among young drivers—under the age of 21 who were involved in fatal accidents, one in seven had been drinking. Half of these were 18 and younger and one was only 14 years old.

Although minors cannot legally purchase or consume alcoholic beverages or spirits, studies indicate youths, to an extent where 14 per cent of the youths involved in fatal accidents had been drinking, compared with an over-all incidence of 17 per cent for all ages.

The Minnesota experience is duplicated in other states, the department reported. It cited a study made by the Wisconsin highway department of one-car fatal accidents, in which it was found that of 26 drivers 18 and 19 years old who were killed, 16 had blood alcohol levels of .010 per cent and over, and six tested .015, or obviously intoxicated.

Washington state found that seven per cent of young drivers (aged 16 through 19) who were involved in 8,600 accidents had been drinking, and one per cent were drunk. That's 600 drinking drivers and 86 drunk drives.

Accidents, Thefts And Shoplifting On Police Report

Two accidents, apprehension of a shoplifter and the theft of articles from several garages were noted in the Thief River Falls police report for the past week.

On Wednesday the theft of overshoes, two boxes of tools and an electric drill from a garage was reported by Ray Jude. Two bicycles were stolen from the Laverne Eckert garage in the same area, and one other garage was reported to have been entered but items recovered in another location. The case is under investigation.

At 8:10 p.m. Thursday a car driven north on Kendall avenue by Stephen Perreault, rt. 1, Red Lake Falls, attempted to stop for a stop sign at First street and slid into a parked car owned by Agnes Bjerken, rt. 1, Thief River Falls. Damage was estimated at $125 to the Bjerken car with no estimate available for the Perreault vehicle.

Also on Thursday a 22-year-old woman was apprehended in local store for shoplifting and turned over to police for investigation. Charges are pending.

On Saturday at about 10 p.m. a car driven by Gretchen Stroebel, city, had stopped in the 400 block of Maple av. S. to discharge a passenger. A car driven by James Schob, city, traveling south on Maple and meeting the Stroebel vehicle, pulled to the right to avoid striking the latter car. The Schob car slid into a car owned by Lowell Hamre, New Brighton, and pushed it into another parked car owned by Tunberg Motor company. Damage was estimated at $165 to the Schob car, $180 to the Hamre car and $45 to the Tunberg Motors vehicle. The accident is under investigation.

Livestock Show In Chicago Has Mammoth Exhibits

Stockmen, dairymen and farm youths from 41 states and Canada will exhibit multiple thousands of the continent's finest farm animals at the 1966 International Livestock exposition, November 25 to December 3 in Chicago, Ill.

Show officials report increased entries over last year in nearly all of the 36 breeds of beef and dairy that will be featured. Among the six dairy breeds, Holsteins lead in number. Dairy cattle entries total 1,189 head, breeding beef cattle 1,142 and steers of all beef breeds 1,036.

Prize purebred farm animals, most of them to winners at state and county fairs earlier in the year, will be sent to the exposition from such distances as the New England states and the West coast and from the Gulf states to Montana, the Dakotas and Minnesota. The Canadian entry comes from 21 prominent dairy and livestock farms of Ontario.

The 15th International quarter horse show, scheduled November 17 to 20, has broken all past records for quarter horse shows wherever held, with 780 head entered by owners from 2 states; and many top stables will be exhibiting in the International horse show, November 25 to December 3.

Thorp To Offer Scholarships to School Seniors

Second annual scholarship competition which will provide $1,000 awards for each of two final winners to use at the Minnesota college or university of their choice, has been announced by Thorp Loan and Thrift company.

The firm also will present $25 U.S. savings bonds awards to winners in each of the areas in Minnesota where Thorp has offices.

All of the state's high school seniors are eligible to participate in the essay competition and can write on either of two topics: "Should the United States have universal military training?" or "Why I like my state".

Deadline for return of essays is Jan. 30, 1967, when a committee of educators will begin selection of the district winners and from them 10 finalists. The two top winners will be picked from the latter group on the basis of their essays, plus academic standing and achievements.

Study Shows TRF Near Norm In 65-66 Teacher Turnover

Rate of teacher turnover in Minnesota public schools is holding steady at a median of 12.6 per cent. Median turnover for men teachers in all school districts is 10.2 per cent and for women, 13.1.

For elementary teachers, the median turnover for all districts is 10.2 per cent; for secondary teachers, 12.4. These are among the statistical facts revealed by the Minnesota Education association (MEA) in a booklet entitled "Teacher Tunover In Minnesota Public Schools".

Turnover in the Thief River Falls schools for 1965-66 was 12.9 per cent—just three-tenths of a per cent above the state average, according to the MEA report. Percentage of turnover at area schools included 30 per cent at Argyle, 6.7 per cent at Badger, eight per cent at Bemidji, 13.1 per cent at Crookston, 40.9 per cent at Goodridge, 20.2 per cent at East Grand Forks, 10.5 per cent at Middle River, 19.0 per cent at Newfolden, 13.0 per cent at Oklee, 22.2 per cent at Plummer, 25.8 per cent at Stephen, 27.8 per cent at Strandquist, 5.9 per cent at Warren and 4.3 per cent at Roseau.

Thief River Falls showed an enrollment of 2,902 with 71 men and 76 women teachers, including 54 in the elementary schools and 93 in the secondary schools. Teachers leaving totaled 19, including seven men and 12 women with five from the elementary and 14 from the secondary schools. Median salary of teachers was listed at $6,875.

MEA surveyed all Minnesota graded elementary and secondary school districts, receiving responses from 465 of the 479—a 97.1 per cent return. Statistics are based on information from the 1965-66 school year.

Reason for the study was given by Robert S. Reed, MEA research director, as follows: "A problem of vital concern to Minnesota school officials, interested citizenry and educational leaders is the necessity of having qualified teachers in the classroom to prepare our youth for the complex life they face in this modern age and, once in the classroom, retain their services. A portion of this concern falls in the area of teacher turnover.

"It was not the purpose of this study to go into the reasons for teacher turnover. This is an area which hopefully can be studied in the future."

The term "turnover" generally has to do with teachers changing jobs and the number employed to fill the vacancies.

The general trend of teacher turnover, the study shows, tended to be just the opposite for men and women, elementary and secondary, for the factors analyzed.

Although the study "by no means covers all the factors that affect the turnover of teachers," says Reed, it does contain "information about salary schedules, maximum scheduled salaries, size of school district, housing facilities and written personnel policies."

In general, the study shows, each of these factors has some effect on turnover, with effects varying in various categories of teachers. "It cannot be determined, however," Reed explains, "if what applies to one community will apply to another under the same conditions, where turnover is concerned."

A few communities showed large turnover, Reed adds, which might not be at all typical—although larger school districts still tend to hold their teachers better than do the smaller ones. And some schools have small turnover, again not necessarily typical.

"In general," Reed continues, "the past 10 years have revealed a continual decrease in the percentage of turnover in the state of Minnesota."

The study shows that economic conditions seem to have the greatest effect on teacher turnover, with men and secondary teachers being the most affected. Most-often-given reason in last year's study for teachers leaving the profession was marriage or return to homemaking.

The one factor that this year seems to have the least amount of effect on teacher turnover is the existence of written personnel policies in a school district.

"It is the intent that the information in this study will be helpful to parents, school administrators and members of local boards of education in coping with the problems of teacher turnover," Reed concludes. "Though it must be realized that teacher turnover will always exist, every effort should be made to eliminate any unnecessary turnover, as this will tend to have a weakening influence on the quality of education received by youth in the Minnesota public schools."

Q—I receive a monthly benefit check from the VA which is sent to me at General Delivery. I have been informed that if I fail to pick up my check within the 10-day time limit and it is returned two months in a row, my payments will be suspended. Is this so?

A—Yes. Payments are suspended on the basis that the whereabouts of the payee is unknown.

Q—I am 66 years old and have a $10,000 National Service Life insurance, five-year level premium term policy in force. I have a disability which caused me to be unemployable for six months after I was 65. Am I eligible for waiver of premiums consideration on this policy?

A—No. In order to be considered for waiver of premiums, your disability must have started before age 65.

Q—I plan to take a correspondence course under the new GI bill. Do I have to pay for my text-books?

A—The allowance paid on a correspondence course may include tuition charges and the charge for textbooks, supplies and equipment when such items are required of all students enrolled in the course.

Q—I did not receive a monthly certification for the month of September. When will I receive it?

A—You will not receive a card for the month of September if you are enrolled in a course leading to a standard college degree.

Q—The new GI home loan interest rate is six per cent. But I understand there is some kind of funding fee on top of that. What is it?

A—There is a funding fee on a Veterans administration guaranteed, insured or direct loan that amounts to one-half of one per cent. It is paid on the amount of the loan. It is paid only once, not every month. Veterans with World War II or Korean eligibility do not pay this funding fee.

Q—I am in college under the GI bill. I heard that I do not have to send in a certificate of attendance to get my first allowance check. What about the second, third, fourth, etc.?

A—The certificate of enrollment returned to VA by the college is sufficient for the mailing of the first check. Subsequent checks will be sent after you send in your monthly certificate of attendance.

Q—I receive regular treatment and medicine from the Veterans administration for my service-connected disability. I plan to travel overseas for about six months. Is there any way I can get medical care or medicine if I need them on my trip?

A—Yes. The Veterans administration provides such care and medicine for service-connected disabled veterans everywhere possible. Just contact the nearest U.S. state department, embassy, consulate or legation.

Q—Last January my GI insurance premium was waived because of a disability. Yet the other day I received a dividend check. Should I return it?

A—No. Keep it. It is yours. A wavier of premiums on a GI participating policy is not a bar to dividends.

Q—I am a member of the National Guard and have served three years in this capacity, including a 15-day active duty period each year. Does this service qualify me for educational assistance under the new GI bill?

A—National Guard drills and 15-day tours of training duty do not qualify a person for the new GI bill. Eligibility requires at least 181 days active military service (as opposed to training), or if service were less than this period of time it must have been terminated by reason of service-incurred disability. The veteran must have also served on or after Feb. 1, 1955.

Q—Would a doctor participating in the VA career resident program as a full-time physician of the department of medicine and surgery be eligible for schooling under the new GI bill?

A—No. Those participating in the residency and internship program under 38 USC 4114 (b) would be entitled.

Q—I am a serviceman now on active duty. I previously served more than 180 days, part of this period after Jan. 31, 1955 and honorably discharged. I plan to continue my education at a nearby college and my duty schedule will not permit me to carry an academic-load of 10 semester hours. What is the rate of educational allowance payable to me by the VA. I have a wife and one child.

A—You will be entitled to the same ½ time rate of $115 per month which is payable to a discharged veteran with two dependents (VAR 14136(B)).

Q—What part of my tuition and cost of books and supplies does the VA pay under the educational provisions of the new GI bill?

A—None. If you have been discharged from service and are attending school full-time under the new GI bill, the VA pays you $100 a month if you have no dependents; $125, with one dependent; and $150, with two or more dependents. The rate is proportionate for ¾ or ½ time. You pay for your own tuition, books and supplies.

The minutes of the meeting of October 4th were read and approved as read.

A 4 per cent maintenance levy was levied against property served by County Ditch No. 77 upon motion by Anderson seconded by Lindberg and carried.

Pat Culkins of the local ASCS Committees appeared and discussed problems relating to the development of seeding practices particularly in the Alfalfa seeding practices.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, The Pennington County Board recognizes that this rural community must be cognizant of the needs for improvement of both the economy and the betterment and preservation of the land; that this Board fully realizes the need for improved fertility, protection against erosion and flooding, extension of lands for wildlife habitat and the continuing need for providing facilities to enable the person living on the land to lift himself to a higher economic plane, and

WHEREAS, A co-operative movement has established an alfalfa hay pelleting plant locally that has secured orders for domestic use of alfalfa hay pellets and export orders for alfalfa hay pellets that will provide an excellent income if the raw material is available.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Pennington County Board urge the County A.S.C.S. Committee to make every effort to design, obtain and put into effective action, a special practice that will enable and encourage the farmer to grow more of a higher quality alfalfa and thereby receive the benefits of a new cash crop that is not in surplus production and at the same time receive the fertility benefits that an alfalfa crop provides.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried.

Commissioner Olson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, A resolution was adopted August 3, 1965, indicating a desire of the Board of Commissioners of Pennington County to terminate participation in the operation of the Sunnyrest Sanatorium, and

WHEREAS, Efforts have been made to revise the operation and functions of the Sanatorium with no satisfactory or acceptable solution.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the termination date previously adopted be rescinded and the Board resolve that the County of Pennington shall participate in necessary maintenance costs of the Sunnyrest Sanatorium until July 1, 1967, and at that time terminate and withdraw finally from further participation in the Sunnyrest Sanatorium.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and declared carried.

The Auditor presented the estimated figure of $58,902.87 as submitted by the County school Administrator as the amount needed for the County School Tax Fund for the tax year payable in 1967 and to be spread on the tax records against property in school districts that do not have a high school. The Board approved the proposed levy upon motion by Lindberg seconded by Olson and declared carried.

The Auditor presented the estimated figure of $1,878.54 as submitted by the County School Administrator as the amount needed for School Transportation for the tax year payable in 1967 and to be spread on the tax records against property in school districts that do not have a high school. The Board approved the proposed levy upon motion by Anderson seconded by Lindberg and declared carried.

Moved by Olson seconded by Hanson that Pennington County agree to associate itself with the Minnesota Good Roads, Inc., group and the Auditor was authorized and instructed to transmit $50.00 from the Road & Bridge Fund to the organization as its membership fee. Carried.

Pursuant to certificate of completion as submitted by Engineer Seidel the Contract with Marvin Prestebak for construction of CSAH No. 15 along with reshaping of County Ditch No. 68, be accepted as complete in the total amount of $28,344.56 and final payment in the amount of $3,027.83 be paid. Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Fair Enough

Said John Mariucci, coach of the United States Nationals hockey squad, following their 4-3 loss to the Canadian Nationals at Winnipeg on Sunday night: "The best Canadian international team I've ever seen. They don't come at you one at a time. Just in waves. Red waves."

A crowd of over 7,000 was in the spacious Winnipeg arena on Sunday evening, and they saw the Canadians, by scoring a goal in the final minute of play, edge out the Americans, 4-3. The two squads are to play a return game in the Wakota arena in South St. Paul on Thursday night, and you can wager that the rink will be crammed to capacity.

Added Mariucci, "We're still a month away. We are adding new boys all the time and until they fall into place, we won't be overpowering anyone. We didn't have cohesion, on offense or defense, but it will come. Coming this close, and knowing we can improve has to help us. And it will help the gate, too."

And said Bill Juzda, the old blue-line professor of paralysis: "The Americans, I thought, were reasonably strong positionally. As such they were quick to capitalize on the Canadians' errors behind the blue-line for their goals. Yes, I go along with everyone else, this edition of our Nats is at least 25 per cent stronger than last year. In a word, I'd say it's maturity. This experience has strengthened their positional game."

Vern's Big Series

Vern Quam of the Thief River Jobbing team really scrambled the Family Bowl pins on Friday night, marking up a 683-pin series. This total is a season's high mark, and in the process Vern rolled a 267-pin game, also a season's high single game score.

The Thief River Jobbing bowled against the Gamble - Robinson squad in a City league match on Friday night. Vern had a 214 score in his first game, a 202 in his second game, and came up with his 267-pin score in his third game. But in spite of Vern's record-breaking totals, the Jobbing could just break even with the Gamble-Robinson crew, with each squad picking up two points. The Jobbing won the first game of the three-game series, 872-796; but the Gamble-Robinsons won the second and third games, 791-788 and 883-874. The Jobbing salvaged a point on the total pins aggregate.

Vern had only one open frame in his three-game series, and this was a split in the opening frame of his 267-pin game. Vern spared in the second frame, and then racked up nine consecutive strikes, and had eight pins on his final roll to score his 267. In his 214-pin game he had seven spares and a pair of doubles. And in his 202-pin game, Vern had five spares and five strikes, including a triple.

Oh, yes, on Thursday evening, in a Commercial league match, the league-leading Thief River Realty, and boasting of their 837-pin average, dropped four points. A couple more series like that and captain Mel Scholin will be asking for waivers on several of his bowlers. It was like a tonic for the other teams in the league to have the Realty drop a series.

Miscellany

The 1966-67 curling season got under way this past weekend with a bonspiel in Grand Forks. The Grand Forks rink skipped by Ralph Peterson won the first event honors, defeating the Lou Zastre rink of Fargo in the finals. The Dr. Joe Zbacnik rink of Fargo, the 1966 United States champion, was defeated in the semifinals, losing to Zastre. Zbacnik has reorganized his rink for this season's competition, and in the 'spiel at Grand Forks he had Winnipeg's Barry Fry at third and Warren Winston, also from Winnipeg, at second. Fry is rated as one of Winnipeg's top curlers.

One of the co-captains of coach Bob Johnson's Wisconsin University hockey squad is Gary Johnson of Roseau. The former Roseau Rams player is goalie for the Badgers. The other co-captain is Don Addison, a former Winnipeg Braves junior hockey player.

Women Curlers Make Plans for Coming Season

Joann Johnson was elected president of the women's division of the Thief River Falls curling club at a recent meeting of the board of directors. Plans are now being made for the fast-approaching season.

Other officers include Vernice Nelson, secretary-treasurer; and Grace Jorde, reporter. Members of the board in addition to the officers are Naomi Monroe and Alice Liden. Mrs. Liden fills the directorship vacated by the resignation of Sharon Jorde.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Monroe met with the directors of the men's curling club recently, and it was decided that the club purchase a heating unit for the ice area of the curling building. This would permit curling on nights when the temperature outside is far below zero. Tuesday night was also established as ladies night at the curling building.

A format for a return post card was drawn up and the cards will be sent out this week. Women receiving them are asked to fill them out and return them as soon as possible, whether or not they will curl this season.

A general meeting of women curlers will be held Tuesday, December 6, at the curling club. All old and new curlers are asked to attend since several important decisions are to be made, officers said.

Last week a number of board members met at the club to survey the condition of the building, do some general cleaning and consider means and methods for further improvements.

Ninth Reserve District Economy Continues Rise

Economy of the Ninth federal reserve district in recent weeks has continued to move ahead in generally upward patterns, the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis has reported in its monthly economic review.

Employment has advanced at substantial rates, and the industrial sector of the economy has grown—particularly mining.

The construction sector has continued to follow its established pattern of recent months—namely a downturn—but its over-all impact on the district economy has been small.

During September the number of new housing units authorized by building permits within the district was about 50 per cent below that of the year earlier. The decline brought the total number of housing units authorized for the year to a level almost 20 per cent below that of 1965.

At early fall nonresidential and nonbuilding construction activity remained steady: the large number of workers displaced from residential construction work were absorbed into these other types of work.

Total employment in the district accelerated somewhat during September—in part due to an increase (on a seasonally adjusted basis) in the number of workers on farms. Wage and salary employment over the first nine months of the year was up about four per cent.

At the end of the third quarter the industrial sector of the district's economy registered a low-key upward movement, the bank said. The index of industrial use of electric power, after a slight dip in August, was up—the push coming from consumption of electricity for the manufacture of durable goods. The index of production worker manhours was down slightly.

By mid-fall, total credit at district banks had declined slightly—behavior sharply in contrast to the usual fall pattern. Credit usually builds up strongly in the fall, partly because of a heavy demand for loans and also because of sizable increases in investment portfolios. In September and early October, however, outstanding loans declined while holdings of securities rose only moderately.

Former Resident Wins in Contest

Swift and Company, Chicago, Ill., announced today that James R. Welch of the Twin City Sales office in St. Paul, won top honors in a year long sales campaign for the United States. He and his wife Dorothy will take an all-expense paid trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The Welchs are former residents of Thief River Falls and graduated from Lincoln high school in 1947.

While in Puerto Rico, they will play golf at the Berwind country club and attend the modern El Commandante track for thoroughbred horse races. Welch is also hoping for a record catch of sailfish and marlin at the Club Nautico in the waters of the Caribbean.

New Citizens Are Honored Thursday By Legion Aux.

Two names were ommitted in Monday's Times from the list of area residents who were scheduled to become citizens of the United States of America at naturalization proceedings in district court Helmuth Metzfer of Crookston, orginally from Germany, and Paul James Bedard of Thief River Falls, orginally from Canada.

Others who became citizens include Marie Lucille Albina Cadieux (Sister Marine Blandine), Crookston; Mrs. Anita Joop, Borup; William and Mary Evelyn Schultz, Red Lake Falls; Jacqueline Claire Stadstad, East Grand Forks; Mrs. Caroline Annie Bedard and Charles Nicholas Joseph Bedard, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Thelma Kristine Kittleson, Roseau. All are citizens of Canada except Mrs. Joop, who is a native of Germany.

Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion and auxiliary presented the ladies with flag pins set with rhinestones and the men with flag lapel pins. All of the new citizens received an American flag.

Following the proceedings, a lunch was served for the new citizens by the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. Robert Reeve, unit president, presented the flag and pins.

Local Officers Attend Legion Welfare Meeting

American Legion auxiliary Ninth District president, Mrs. M. R. Levorson, Ecklund-Holmstrom post child welfare chairman Francis Womack, attended a Legion and auxiliary child welfare conference in Dilworth Friday.

Theme of the conference was "Character Weaving in Your Community" Ninth District Legion child welfare chairman, Phil Kjaglein, Fergus Falls, was in charge of the program.

Director of the mental health center, Fergus Falls, Ray Anderson, spoke on "Child Welfare and the Mental Health Center". He stresses the importance of contacting a center while the child is young. Very often great tragedy and grief can be avoided by early diagnosis of both the child and the parents.

"Most of the trouble with the young people of today could have been avoided with the proper guidance," he said. Too many parents hesitate to seek help even when they know that it is necessary. Mental health is no different than physical health". He urged that if there is a problem, people should seek professional help.

Mrs. Phil Kjaglein, a teacher in the Fergus Falls special classes, talked on the "Education of Emotionally Disturbed Child." Her class is composed of mostly brain damaged children and they are first taught politeness and how to live with others outside the home.

A similar conference is planned for the northern part of the district sometime in the spring.

District Commander Joe Kloeckner, Dilworth, and District President Mrs. Levorson told of the various child welfare programs carried on in the district by the legion auxiliary.

Question and answer session followed the program.

Drinking Driver Will Be Watched Through Holidays

The drinking driver is going to get serious attention from now through the New Year holidays. These are the dates set for the third phase of the Governor's Crusade for Safety.

In addition to highway signs, truck signs, billboards and the distribution of educational materials, Highway Commissioner John Jamieson has ordered out a special group of patrol saturation squads to keep an eye out for the drunken driver.

Highway Patrol Chief John Harbinson says that the special squads will not be in operation just for this purpose, but will make driver license checks, vehicle safety checks and watch closely for other violations.

The squads will be operated on Friday and Saturday nights, and will patrol specific areas in all parts of the state, he said.

In the outlying areas, the specific locations of these squads is difficult to schedule in advance because of limited patrol manpower and the uncertainty of good weather conditions during this period.

However, specific areas of operation in and around the Twin Cities will be made known in advance each week, and results of the statewide weekend's activities will be made available to the news media every Sunday.

New Book Gives Many Stories of Minnesota

Minnesota is known as "the land of 10,000 lakes" but the latest official count reveals the state has 15,291 lakes of 10 acres or more.

In fact, Minnesota has so many lakes that it apparently has run out of names for them, for there are 91 Long lakes, 76 Mud lakes, 43 Rice lakes and 40 Twin lakes. One is even called This Man lake, another. That Man lake and a third is called Other Man lake.

This is just one of hundreds of offbeat stories about Minnesota included in a new history book just issued by a Chicago-based publisher of books for young people. The book is part of the publisher's "Enchantment of America" series of 52 books being written especially for children as a state-by-state history of the United States, Washington, D.C., and island possessions.

Another unique historical story included in "Minnesota From Its Glorious Past to the Present" notes that the technology of preserving frozen meat was derived from Minnesota's Chippewa Indians.

Author Allan Carpenter recounts that "buffalo meat was considered a delicacy by the Chippewas, and after the choice cuts were eaten, parts not immediately needed were preserved. They were pulled into fine pieces, boiled and placed in a bag of buffalo skin which lined a hole in the ground. The meat was pounded as tightly as possible into the bag and hot buffalo fat was then poured into the sack, sealing the meat tightly to preserve it from the air. Then the sacks were closed and the meat could be preserved for years."

To compile Minnesota's history, Carpenter had the assistance of Governor Karl F. Rolvaag; Donald N. Nelson, editor of the Minnesota Journal of Education; the state's department of business development; Minnesota Historical society; Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce; St. Paul Area Chamber of Commerce; and many state historians.

Among some of the facts about Minnesota included in the book are:

The country's motorized bus system first began at Hibbing in 1914, when Andrew G. Anderson bought an open touring car to carry passengers to a mine outside the city. As the demand for his services grew, he became associated with Eric Wickman with whom he worked out plans for a 12-passenger coach. By 1918, their company operated a whole fleet of buses throughout the northern part of the state, and on the basis of this experience Wickman formed the company which in time grew into the mammoth Greyhound Bus co.

Minnesota medicine is world famous. The first surgical tools used by the Doctors Mayo were made by a local blacksmith, and Dr. Charles N. Hewitt, who studied under Pasteur, was the discoverer of the cure for rabies. Dr. Justus Ohage was the first American surgeon to remove a gall bladder successfully, and Dr. C. Walton Lillehie was the pioneer of open-heart surgery.

Minneapolis has a larger population of Scandinavian descent than any other city in the world outside of Stockholm.

St. Paul is the nation's largest publisher of law books.

Minnesota was the first state to respond with an offer of troops when President Lincoln called for them at the start of the Civil War. During the first battle of Bull Run, the First Regiment of Minnesota had more losses than any other northern regiment.

In the Cuyuna range, Minnesota possesses the nation's greatest source of manganese. The state also has the country's greatest deposits of peat.

Only in Minnesota do two of the country's great river systems have their source, and only in Minnesota do the waters flow to the seas of the north, east and south. The river systems are the Nelson, St. Lawrence and the Mississippi.

Fertilizer Short Course Scheduled In Minneapolis

Sixteenth annual Soils and Fertilizer Short course will be held November 29 and 30 at the Leamington hotel, Minneapolis.

Sherwood O. Berg, dean of the University of Minnesota's institute of agriculture; Werner L. Nelson, midwest director of the American Potash Institute at West Lafayette, Ind., and Russel Schwandt, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, will be among the featured speakers.

More than 30 representatives of universities, industry and government will speak at the program.

Topics include fertilizer demand and distribution, micro-nutrient deficiencies, plant analyses, how fertilizers affect animal feed, insecticides and herbicides, grain surpluses and the world food situation, fertilizer materials and placement.

Registration will be in the lobby of the hotel from 8:30-10 a.m. November 29. Fee for the course is $4. All registrants will receive copies of talks and data presented by speakers. This year's short course also includes a ladies' program with special tours, a luncheon and style show.

The university's departments of soil science and agricultural short courses, and the agricultural extension service are sponsoring the short course in cooperation with the Minnesota department of Agriculture and the Minnesota Plant Food association. The latter group's annual meeting will be held during the event.

State Facts on "Agribusiness" Shown in Reprot

Appreciation of the importance of agriculture in the Midwest is shown by the common terms, "Nation's Bread Basket", "Corn Belt", "America's Dairyland" and others.

Such casual expressions imply great productivity—and this is substantiated by facts and figures included in the new "Midwest Agribusiness" report distributed by the Minnesota department of agriculture.

"Agribusiness" is a term referring to agriculture and the related or dependent industries—the whole interdependent structure of farm production, processing and manufacturing, distribution and consumption, according to Russel G. Schwandt, commissioner of the Minnesota department of agriculture and secretary-treasurer of the Midwest Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

Schwandt says the new publication covers nearly all aspects of agribusiness and its economic importance in Minnesota and 11 other midwestern states.

The other states included in the report include Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Ohio, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Published by the Midwest association, the report's full title is "Midwest Agribusiness—Its Impact on the Nation's Economy and International Trade." Limited copies are available from the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 530 State Office Building, St. Paul 55101.

State Christmas Tree Is Erected On Capitol Lawn

Minnesota's official Christmas tree has been cut in the woods north of Duluth and will be erected on the lawn of the Capitol today the conservation department has announced. The tree is 62 feet tall and will be decorated with 2,500 white lights for the holiday season.

The 90-year-old white spruce was a seedling in 1876, the year the Minnesota state forestry association was organized by a group of far-sighted private citizens to convince the public of the need for a program of forest use and protection.

The group began an active public information program 20 years prior to the establishment of the first state agency to be assigned the task of protecting and managing Minnesota forest lands.

This year's Christmas tree was located on state-owned land in the Cloquet valley state forest by district forester J. C. Ryan and was cut down on November 7 by local forestry personnel.

The state highway patrol and the St. Paul police department supplied a traffic escort to the Capitol shortly after noon today.

"We, the member of Girl Scouts of the United States of America, united by a belief in God and by acceptance of the Girl Scout Promise and Laws. . .do dedicate ourselves to the purpose of inspiring girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens."

For every Girl scout this means An ethical code to guide her daily life; an opportunity to practice self-government through the patrol system and Brownie ring; a preparation for service through Brownie B's, Junior signs and badges, Cadette challenges and badges, the eight indispensables of the Senior scout program; ongoing relationship with an adult other than parents or teacher; a chance to develop vocational skills and interests; and development as an individual as a member of the group.

During the past year 5,259 girls and 1,056 adults were served from the council office. Thief River Falls has 301 girls enrolled in the program in 20 different troops. Money received from the United Fund was spent as follows:

50 per cent for direct services, which includes service to neighborhoods, training, camp and program expense; 23 per cent for office services, which include telephone, correspondence, order processing, registration and bookkeeping; and 27 per cent for administrative services, which includes work with board and committees, rent, insurance and other fixed operating costs.

Thief River Falls has camp M.O.E., which is maintained by the council, and Mrs. Don D. Olson is one of the five council delegates to the National convention in Detroit, Mich.

Lighting the Way

Evidence of a community effort will be revealed Friday when the new downtown holiday lighting will be officially lighted. The project has been completed with a great deal of planning and at no little expense. We are sure the public will like what it sees when the streets are illuminated Friday night.

When we speak of the project as a community effort, we mean exactly what we say. Money for the program came from business and professional people who share a pride in the city and a determination to make their city beautiful during the holiday season. The committee in charge—Jim Frey, Walt Larson, Rudy Mehlhoff and Clarence Waldera—is to be congratulated for its work, and the public-spirited citizenry is to be thanked for its support.

We have heard much about the planning and consideration which went into the program this year, and have watched with interest as various parts of the work were completed by city crews. (Hats off to the city council, by the way, for its vote of confidence and authorization of city assistance through personnel) Now we wait with anticipation to see the full project in its lighted splendor.

Coupled with the work of neighborhood groups and individuals, the downtown project should cause the city to literally glow with color this season. Thief River Falls need take a back seat to no other Red River Valley community for its festive appearance.

It's hard to believe, but another Christmas season is upon us. A community project is lighting the way to a happy holiday season.

Would You Believe "Hero"?

Orville Freeman, who was ousted as Minnesota's governor before getting kicked up the ladder to the post of U.S. secretary of agriculture, has been called a lot of things by a lot of different people. Most of them have had at least some degree of accuracy. But would you believe "hero"?

Some gentleman who we never heard of before sent us an editorial which describes the secretary of agriculture in just that way. Our contributor, who lives in the state of Washington, clipped the editorial from the November 16 issue of a newspaper, published we know not where.

Entitled "The Unsung Hero", the editorial laments the fact that Freeman has been" blasted for everything from inflation to the decline in dairy farms". Then it proudly points to the "record".

"The American Housewife is able to buy a wide variety of foods—most of them at reasonable prices. At the same time, the income of the farmer has been increased," the editorial states.

"Farm income for 1966 is projected at $16.1 billion net on a gross of $49.2 billion," the editorial continues. "The figures are 28 per cent and 24 per cent respectively higher than the 1961 totals. Housewives reading this are sure to scream that rising farm income has forced up supermarket prices and raised the cost of living. Once again, look at the record.

"Americans now spend 18.2 per cent of disposable income for food each year. In 1961, they spent 19.8 per cent; in 1947, about 26 per cent," the editorial states.

"Considering the massive dimensions of the farm program, Freeman has been faced with a tremendous job," the editorial continues. "He has had to satisfy the farmer, the consumer, and the nation's economic interests. Truly a masterful juggling job.

"Weighing the difficulty of the task assigned to him, and then measuring the accomplishments of the past six years, we think the secretary has done an outstanding job. He deserves a vote of confidence from the Congress, and a big 'thank you' from the rest of us," the editorial concludes.

Who is this friend that Freeman has found among the nation's editors? He is Bill Olcheski, editor of the "Federal Times", which proclaims on its masthead to have the "largest ABC circulation serving the federal government worker." Freeman's endorsement by this paper is equivalent to the endorsement of Juicy Fruit gum by the Wrigley company. It's not good business to knock your own product.

Manipulation of statistics is the political version of the old shell game. Freeman's "juggling job" to "satisfy the farmer, the consumer and the nation's economic interests" has hurt the farmer, alienated the consumer and nearly wrecked the agricultural economy. If the "record" is so great, why did the secretary himself urge Congressmen to "slip, slide and duck" the farm issue prior to the election?

In football or baseball, a player is referred to as either a hero or a goat. In Freeman's case, would you believe "hero"?

It's a Puzzle

Maybe all the double-talk in the Great Society has us a little confused, but we would like to have someone explain something to us in logic that we can understand.

First of all, people try to tell us that a sales tax is regressive. It takes too much from people who can least afford to have it taken from them, so the story goes. This is a generality, of course, since no one has any particular type of sales tax to discuss, nor are the possible credits or exemptions mentioned. Let us just assume that a sales tax is bad because the poor pay more than they should.

Second, people try to tell us that medicare is good. It is good although the person with money is entitled to the same care and credits as the pauper, although he or she could easily afford to pay for medical care without federal assistance. The poor man, therefore, through his increasing social security payments, must help subsidize the medical care which the rich man receives.

Somehow, in the logic of the Great Society, this can all be explained and the difference should be as plain as U.S. policy in the Viet Nam war. To us, however, it's a puzzle. Can anyone help?

Big Brother Computer

Robert Shaw, manager of the Minnesota Newspaper association, is a writer in his own right. His editorial in the recent edition of the "Minnesota Press" contains a message which the general public should hear as well as the journalistic profession. The editorial follows:

Word now comes from Washington, D. C. that "Legislation is being prepared" for a federal data center which would store information of use to various departments of the federal government.

Presumably this data center would store information about individual American citizens. The rationale in so doing is to prevent needless duplication among governmental agencies now involved in collecting and using such information.

Of course, it would be efficient if, instead of each agency having its own computer, there could be a single massive computer which would include all information about individual citizens—information taken from military records, tax records, and census records, all sorts of records. It would indeed be efficient if any official—from the President on down to any village mayor—were able to dial a man's Social Security number and lo!. . .out from the marvelous monster would instantly come information about the desired individual: His fingerprints, his taxpaying history (from which could be easily figured how much money he is "worth"), all vital statistics about him, his ancestors, his record of illnesses and hospitalization.

This would all, so the experts tell us, be contained on a quarter-inch of electronic tape.

But what would prevent another quarter-inch of tape being devoted to each individual which could contain a man's politics, his political attitudes, his religion and what he said about the party in power last Tuesday at a cocktail party?

It is a rule of thumb with blackmailers that everyone, somewhere in his life history, has information about which he is embarrassed and would probably pay not to have revealed. The existence of such a "Big Brother" electronic system as is now being proposed would make it possible for government to get squarely into the business of pressuring its own citizens through the use of private information about them.

What would Bobby Baker, or other free-swinging wheelers and dealers, do with such a dandy plaything?

What assurance do citizens have that such a system would be used for good purposes?

Whose hands would do the dialing, and for what purposes would this information be used?

When the Allies marched into Berlin in 1945 they captured the card files of the Nazi party, for the Germans were very methodical in keeping full records of all their party members. This made de-Nazification much simpler. Hitler had only the use of card files. But if he had the use of a system such as is now being proposed—the prototype of which actually exists in the Internal Revenue Service's computer system—he could easily have expanded his total surveillance of German citizens from Nazi party members to all other 80 million non-party Germans.

There should be absolutely no reason to believe that the same uses of such a system could not take place in the United States. There is good reason to believe the Internal Revenue Service, which still allows the general public to believe that information given it is "confidential," is freely swapping this information around to other governmental agencies.

One of the chief problems of our time is to square the rights of the individual with the increasing demands of our mechanistic society, and here is one area where all those who believe in the rights of the individual should pay some specific attention.—RMS

Hi-Ho Silver!

Reminiscent of the days when galleons from the New World arrived in Europe laden with rare treasure, the luxury liner Raffaelo recently docked in Naples with 1,248 silver ingots. The silver will be minted into 500-lire (80-cent) coins, and this will relieve a shortage of the coins which has been causing Italians a measure of inconvenience. The silver came from the United States (where else?) where the natives are using ersatz quarters and doing without half-dollars because, they've been told, there is a great shortage of silver. —Source Unknown

Work, Obedience Lose Priority in Modern Society

Principles of work and obedience are losing their priority among the youth in modern democratic industrial societies, according to Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education and human development at the University of Chicago.

Speaking at the week-long annual conference of the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service on resource development, Havighurst pointed out that the American society, with its affluence, rapid rate of technological change and high degree of geographical and social mobility, gives a setting for adolescence which encourages independence rather than obedience to authority.

"Our society provides a pervasive sense of change in economic, social and political institutions," he said, "and permits and encourages a wide variety of sexual behavior."

Havighurst also believes that our present-day society tends to enhance play roles at the expense of work roles.

He explains that the boy or girl who grows up to be a successful adult in this situation generally does the following. He accepts and uses the school and often the university as a place where he can prepare effectively for the adult roles he wants to perform.

He has learned from early family training to work independently and with effort to do his best on any task which appeals to him as important, and he applies this achievement motivation to his school work.

He identifies with his parents of the same sex and follows the lead of this parent in performing certain adult roles. He may also identify with and model his behavior after young adults who are his teachers or group leaders.

He participates in one or more adult-led youth organizations such as scouts, youth groups, 4H and so on. These groups provide adult leaders who set an example of the values of the society and teach these values both explicitly and implicitly.

And finally, he participates in a cohort of the adolescent peer group. This participating may consist partly of his participation in adult-led youth organizations. However it is likely to outlast his interest in such youth organizations.

Persons Nearing 65 Should Apply For Medicare

A person nearing age 65 should apply for medicare in one of the three months before the month in which he is 65, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

This is necessary if the applicant wants his medical insurance to take effect with the month in which he is 65. Retirement is not necessary to qualify. Those working full time should apply before age 65.

Each applicant should bring with him proof of his age, such as a birth or baptismal certificate.

Minnesota Man To Head National Co. Agent Ass'n.

G. J. "Dick" Kunau, Goodhue county agricultural agent, was elected president of the National Association of County Agricultural agents at the organization's annual convention held in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Kunau has served as county agent in Goodhue county since 1936. He joined the university staff a year earlier and served as assistant county agent in Faribault county.

Honors he has received over the years include the U. S. Department of Agriculture superior service award and the National Association of County Agricultural agents distinguished service award. He was named Goodhue county "Citizen of the Year" in 1963, and was the first Minnesota county agent to be promoted to full professor in the University.

Kunau has a long history of service to the state and national county agent associations. He has been a member of the Minnesota organization since 1935, during which time he served as vice president and president. In the national group, he has served on the farm finance committee, annual meeting committee and the 4-H youth committee. He has served as treasurer and vice president of the group, as well as director and vice director of the North Central region.

He has also served on numerous district and state committees for the university. He was chairman of the state 4-H advisory committee for three years and in 1964 was named to the university president's special committee to study extension activities.

Poverty Funds Used to Raise Pheasant Crop

Office of Economic opportunity has announced a grant of $79,396 for the anti-Poverty program in Ottertail and Wadena counties. The grant provides $40,843 for administration of the program $9,933 for organized activities in non-profit nursing homes, and $28,620 for "Operation Ringneck."

"Operation Ringneck" will employ 100 low-income farm families in raising pheasants to restore the depleted population of these game birds. In addition to the direct assistance to the families involved in raising the birds, the entire community will benefit through the increase of hunters coming into the area during the pheasant season, the OEO office said.

Theodore A. Jones, director of the Great Lakes region of the Office of Economic opportunity, stated that the anti-poverty program would be administered by the Ottertail - Wadena Community Action council. Beneficiaries of the program will be 6,315 low-income families, 411 residents of non-profit nursing homes and 100 low-income farm families. One hundred twenty-one residents of the areas to be served will be directly employed in the program.

Birth Defects Center To Open At University

On January 1 the Minnesota March of Dimes Birth Defects center—first in the Upper Midwest area—will open on the campus of the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, according to George M. Scott, state chairman of the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"Children from all sections of the state will be eligible for referral to this wonderful new facility being provided right here within our borders," Scott said. "The opening of the center will stand as a permanent milestone in Minnesota's fight to free its children from the threat of birth defects."

Headquartered in the University of Minnesota hospital, the new diagnostic, treatment and evaluation facility is being financed by an initial grant of $36,000 from the National Foundation-March of Dimes. First referrals of children suffering from birth defects will be deferred until March 1, thus allowing two months to get the center organized and into operation.

In stressing the need for the center, Scott said that of the 70,795 live births in Minnesota last year, an estimated 5,000 children were born with a "significant" birth defect, resulting in 1,406 deaths of newborn or very young children. A comparison of these figures to the 4,130 cases of polio reported during that epidemic's worst year in the state, he noted, "gives a rough idea of the enormity of the birth defects problem."

Launch Campaign Against Thefts Of Automobiles

Minnesota State Automobile association has joined with AAA national headquarters and other AAA clubs throughout the nation in a four-point intensified campaign against auto thievery. Planning for the campaign is being undertaken now, with a target date for the nationwide program set for early 1967.

Erling Berg, Duluth, Minnesota, president, said the need for such a stepped-up program is underscored by the fact that 486,600 cars were stolen in 1965—more than 1,300 each day.

"Since 1960, auto thefts have increased 51 per cent," Berg reported. "It is the third most frequently committee felony throughout the nation, being exceeded only by burglary and grand larceny. More than 50 per cent of all car thefts were committed by persons under 18 years of age, while more than 40 per cent of all cars stolen had been left unattended with the key in the ignition or the ignition unlocked."

The AAA's anti-theft program calls for:

Enactment or improvement of motor vehicle title and registration laws;

Federal legislation to prohibit the sale in interstate commerce of motor vehicle master keys except to authorized persons;

Improved design to make cars more theft-proof including such features as better door-locks, ignition protection, hood-latch and the like; and

Continuing education efforts, to be carried on by AAA jointly with other interested organizations, aimed at convincing motorists of the importance of locking their cars.

Federal Income Tax Questions Answered by IRS

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q—We have just sold our house at a profit. Is that taxable when we put the money into a larger home?

A—Generally, if you purchase and occupy another home within a year at a price equal to or above what you received for your old home then you will not be currently taxed on the profit made on the sale.

If, within the appropriate time period, you buy a new home at a lower price than you sold the old one for, all or part of the gain is taxed currently.

A complete discussion may be found in IRS Document 5017, "Selling Your Home," available by dropping a post card to our office.

Q—I'm getting married in December. Will I be able to file a joint return for the entire year?

A—Yes. Marital status is determined as of the last day of the tax year. If you are married by that date then you are considered married for the entire year.

Q—How long do you have to own stock or some other asset to qualify for a long term capital gain?

A—More than six months.

Q—How about the cost of a hunting license. Is that deductible?

A—No, it is not.

Q—I've heard that a check made out to cash or to yourself is not sufficient to establish a deductible expense. Is that right?

A—Generally speaking, that is correct. To substantiate a deductible expense your records must indicate, among other things, the purpose of the expense, and to whom paid, as well as the amount.

A check made out to cash or to yourself gives no indication by itself of the nature of the expense. This kind of check must be supported by other records, such as receipts, to be useful in proving any deductions you claim.

A check made out to a specific organization or person, like a charity or a doctor for example, may be sufficient to establish that a deductible expenditure has been made.

Q—Are employment agency fees deductible?

A—Yes, if you itemize deductions and you pay them for getting employment.

Q—What must I do to be able to claim a deduction for setting up an office in my home?

A—To establish this deduction you should be able to establish that you are required to provide your own space and facilities as a condition of your employment; you regularly use part of your home for that purpose; the area of your home that is so used; the extent of the use and the pro-rata portion of the home expenses attributable to such use.

Drugs May Impair Driving Ability, Director States

Medication and motoring don't always mix safely, warns C. M. O'Toole, safety director of the Minnesota highway department.

"This applies to medicines prescribed by physicians and to non-prescription items commonly used in self-medication," he said. "Anybody who is under treatment should get his physician's advice as to the possible effects of the medicine upon his driving efficiency."

Citing a report in the current issue of the Journal of American Insurance, O'Toole listed the following commonly used medicines which drivers should be wary of: barbiturates and other sedatives, amphetamines and other "mood elevation" drugs, tranquilizers, antihistamines, antibiotics, aspirins and other salicylates in large doses, narcotics, anti-ulcer medicines and cortisone-type drugs.

He also warned that mixing medicines and mixing them with alcohol often produce unpredictable results. "Even small doses of carbon monoxide can inter-act dangerously with some medicines; so if you drive after medication be sure your car is well ventilated," he said.

Harold E. Hanson On Vietnam Duty

Marine gunnery Sergeant Harold E. Hanson, son of Mrs. Emma S. Stromberg of Thief River Falls, is serving with the First Marine Aircraft wing, at the Marine Corps Air station, ChuLai, Vietnam.

Aircraft of VMFA-542 make various flights against enemy personnel and installations, and provide close air support for United States and Republic of Vietnam ground forces engaged in combat operations.

Scenic Area Board Suggests Areas For Sign Control

Minnesota Scenic Area board has recommended that the commissioner of highways establish 737 miles of scenic highways in the state. The highways recommended by the board include 190 miles of Interstate highways and 547 miles of trunk highways. Included are areas east of Baudette south of Bemidji and several areas between Bemidji and Detroit Lakes in northwestern Minnesota.

The Scenic Area board was created by the 1965 Legislative session and consists of the director of the Minnesota Historical society and the commissioners of conservation, business development and highways. The board was given the authority by the legislature to recommend scenic areas along the interstate and trunk highway system providing the areas are outside of the corporate limits of cities, villages or boroughs and not within areas zoned commercial or industrial.

After the establishment of scenic highways, the commissioner of highways will issue no new permits for advertising devices along these routes. Immediately after Jan. 1, 1967, the highway department will proceed as fast as possible to implement action to phase out the existing signs.

The highway department is awaiting receipt of guidelines being prepared by the secretary of commerce, under authority of the beautification act of 1965, pertaining to control of advertising devices. Revision of current state rules, regulations and statutes may be necessary in order to take full advantage of federal beautification funds.

Scenic highway orders have been filed in the county auditor's office on those areas approved by the scenic area board. The scenic highways were recommended because they traverse through or near national, state or local parks, historic sites or monuments, recreation areas, or other areas considered worthy of scenic preservation for the benefit of the traveling public. Commissioner Jamieson noted that the designation of these areas as scenic is a positive step towards preserving the natural and aesthetic beauty along many of our state highways.

There are many areas along the scenic routes which are outstanding in natural beauty. The highway department proposes to perpetuate these scenic areas along the highway right-of-way and retain as much of the natural beauty as possible. The evaluation of many other scenic routes in the state is currently in progress, and it is planned to designate them at an early date. The acquisition of the scenic areas along the highways will conform to federal rules and regulations in order to qualify for federal funds, Commissioner Jamieson reported.

Knowing that traveling in the family car is the nation's number one outdoor activity, Jamieson said, the scenic board has in mind the establishment of scenic routes for the public to enjoy the natural beauty of Minnesota.

IRS Announces No Filing Change For 1966 Returns

Minnesota taxpayers should file their 1966 federal returns in St. Paul, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal revenue.

On November 2, the President signed into law a bill which authorizes the revenue service to require taxpayers to file returns directly with regional service centers.

"This program of filing returns with service centers will be put into effect over a period of years," Lethert said. "When this direct filing of returns at our Kansas City Service center is phased in, based upon current timetables, by 1969, considerable savings will be realized from elimination of double handling and shipping costs."

Lethert emphasized that direct filing will not change services taxpayers will receive from district and local revenue offices. Forms will be secured, information provided and tax conferences will be held in Minnesota revenue offices as they now are, he stated.

When A Man Gives Thanks...

When a man gives thanks he is recognizing how small a part he himself has contributed to this world's abundance.

When a man gives thanks he is expressing his affection for and his dependence on those who constantly share the experiences of his life.

When a man gives thanks he is laying aside his discontentments to rejoice in the more numerous and more meaningful satisfactions that have marked each passing day.

When a man gives thanks he is escaping from the webs of pride, greed and self-addition that could otherwise imprison his soul.

When a man gives thanks he is meeting God on God's own ground. For God is God! And we are His children.

When a man gives thanks he is discovering his greater need. For all that God has provided is but the threshold to all that God promises.

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Miracle at work

Reading the paper.

What's miraculous about that?

Well, that depends on what you mean by "miracle." It has to do with words.

Words put you into close touch with people you never have seen, nor ever will. Words bring you the ideas of the best-informed, the people at the center of things, those who have observed events with their own eyes.

Words bring you the most careful thoughts of Shakespeare, Milton, Jefferson, Goethe, men long since dead but whose thoughts—through words—live forever.

Words form records which, when exposed to the process we call "reading" re-create in our minds great events. Words form the growing record of human experience. Civilizations that know how to record words have been civilizations on the move. Before the alphabet, mankind had no memory.

The young couple in the picture are not reading Shakespeare or Goethe. Chances are, the woman is taking a stroll through her community's shopping center. The man, in his imagination, is reliving the most exciting moments of last night's baseball game.

Reading is a modern miracle, and newspapers—which collect, condense, focus, re-create events from the birth of a baby to the ponderous affairs of state—are, and always have been, very much in the miracle business.
